A Democratic Club.

No more effective work can be done for the democracy and W. T. Crawford than by an aggressive democratic club. Each member becomes committed to securing votes and influence for the cause and the man he represents. Club work means organized work and without that success is by no means so certain. The young democrats of the Ninth district have a candidate who, being of the young democracy itself, especially appeals to their sympathies and should receive their hearty support. That Mr. Crawford serves, first because he is a democrat, and second because he is a man who will honor to his party in congress. It should be remembered, too, that he will never have to leave or criticize his party, as Mr. Ewart has, to properly represent his constituency.

By all means let us have a club of five democrats. A convention is called for the 24th of this month at Raleigh and it is expected that 100 clubs will be represented. It will be thought very strange if the Ninth district, a district that is to be reformed this fall, has no delegates present.

The CITIZEN notices the name of Frank Cove as one of the executive committee of the North Carolina state association of democratic clubs. Somewhat of his energy just at this moment might mean a great deal for the democracy in November.

In a circular which J. S. Carr, president of the association of democratic clubs, has issued to the state association of democratic clubs, and the democratic clubs of North Carolina, he says of the convention at Raleigh:

"We request that our party organization, in every county, lead as their chief in making this occasion one of mighty demonstration. Successful national representation is expected to lead us to their presence. Ex-President Cleveland has been invited and no stone will be left unturned to have him speak to the young democracy of North Carolina. Senators Vance and Robinson will certainly attend, and every democratic congressman and nominee for congress from North Carolina is expected."

"We urge the formation of clubs in every county, city, village and township in the state, and that their membership should embrace every voter of their respective sections, who expects to support our democratic nominees, in time to send delegates to this convention."

"They keep on coming and are very welcome. G. W. Jackson, Jr., of Long Ridge, N. C., says that while he has for 20 years voted squarely the republican ticket and been constant in season and out, in endeavoring to promote its success—"the history of the present administration, in the manner it has betrayed its trusts and violated its promises to the people, its utter disregard of the wants and needs of the mass of our people, in refusing to amend the present ruinous tariff for their relief, and its wholesale slaughter of the surplus in reckless pension legislation, has determined me to cast my lot hereafter with the true political friends of my country and its toiling poor—the democratic party."

The New York Sun has its spots as well as his even brighter contemporary which shines for us all hot the time. Alice E. Ives tells the world in the September Forum how hard it is for wives to get spending money from their husbands, and the Sun refers to her as "Mrs." As a matter of fact Miss Ives is unmarried and has no practical experience with the subject she writes of. It is all the more to her credit therefore that the article is in the main an accurate diagnosis of an all too common complaint. Man at best is a selfish being.

So much of the subscription as is ready paved shows what a great improvement the work is to be when completed. It will be possible then to have the court house surroundings clean and otherwise attractive. Part of the necessities of such a state of things, however, is several hundred feet of new or very much repaired sidewalk. Traveling on foot is actually done in several parts of this city at the risk of one's limbs.

A New York paper has an account of a composition by Jay Gould written when he was 13. His later compositions are briefer, more to the point and more popular. They read: "The bank of—will pay the bearer—dollars."

LATEST NEWS FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

The colored fair at New Berne was a success.

At no time since the present season opened has there been fewer than 500 people present at Blowing Rock.

For the first time in her history Raleigh has a barber shop conducted by white men. It has just been opened on Fayetteville street.

An order from Louisiana has been received by a La Grange merchant, from a driver who left that town last spring, for twenty dozen eggs and three dozen boxes of lye.

A High Point special says: "Hayward Adams, freeman on local freight train, while leaning out of the engine, was struck on the head by a switch, which fractured his skull. His condition is critical."

H. L. Duke bought a large block of land yesterday on the northern limits of town. The price is said to be $22,000. It is understood that Mr. Duke contemplates some extensive operations in real estate.—Durham Globe.

J. V. Lee, a student at Wake Forest in Cleveland county, was handling a pistol carelessly Thursday night, when it accidentally fired, the ball taking effect in his foot. The wound was not serious, but the student went home.

The contractor on the mill road from Stallers to Horse Cove, has been instructed to change the course so as to run by Little Hill, Highlands, omitting Horse Cove altogether. Mail from Asheville will now arrive at noon instead of at night—a gain of several hours.

The county of Watauga is said to contain more latent wealth than any territory of equal size in the union. These mountains are filled with iron, copper, gold, asbestos and mica, and covered with poplar, cherry and walnut trees. A few miles from Boone, the county seat, is the Elk copper mines which was developed some years ago by Baltimore capitalists. It is said that a round half million dollars was spent in the development of the property and then the company was compelled to shut down for the lack of shipping facilities.

On Thursday night the town of Dillsboro, a flourishing place in the northwest part of this state, was raided by white caps and almost entirely destroyed. Some of the houses were completely demolished and the stables and barns were torn to pieces. The interiors of houses were mutilated and their furniture was broken up. The cause of the vandalism is as yet unknown.—Raleigh Chronicle. A very curious bit of news, which is not in the north-western part of the State, and how were "houses completely demolished." The dispatch has the odor of a "fake."

Many years ago Jefferson, Ashe county, was the center of learning and culture of Western North Carolina, the Athens of the mountains. The people were just as cultured and refined now as they were then, but the famous institutions of learning have ceased to exist. Jefferson is a great mail distributing point, as less than a dozen star routes radiate in many different directions, but she needs a railroad. Two great systems, the Norfolk and Western and Richmond and Danville, are surveying routes through the county and there is no doubt of one or both building at an early day.

An industrial school for Chinese, to which the name Oriental Academy is given, has been opened at Kelly's in Bladen county. Several pupils are present, and more will arrive next week. Several of the pupils come from Canton, China. The school is on a large farm, and is designed by Chamberlains of Raleigh on English education and who are prevented by race prejudice or lack of funds from entering American schools. There is no charge for instruction, board, or books, as the students will work in the shops and meet the expenses. The school is under the supervision of the Chinese women who are aided by missionaries. Rev. Walter P. King is principal, with Professor Van Plou Lee, a young Chinese man, who is a graduate of Yale, as assistant. Rev. Mr. King is a French Canadian, but married a North Carolina lady, whose home is at Kelly's.

PLANT AND BOWNS OF FARMING.

The Morning Register says: Julius, the 13-year-old son of A. J. Hawks, Esq., of New Salem township, has a cotton patch this year containing one acre. From this acre he picked 110 pounds of cotton in August. He expects to get a bale from the patch.—Mr. John Shute, near town, has a lot of cotton and cotton bolls, but he has one field of twenty-five acres which, we think, undoubtedly the finest cotton in Union county. The rows are five feet apart and the limbs lap so thickly across the rows as to obscure the ground. The stalks are bunched with bolls, and good judges estimate that this field will yield at least two thousand pounds of cotton to the acre.

Cotton is generally opening well, and picking is progressing rapidly. The tobacco crop seems to be a very good one; the week was very favorable for making good cure, and farmers have been unusually successful. Land is being prepared for winter oats and wheat, and some have already commenced to sow. A few reports indicate some damage to cotton from rust and shedding. See the official report issued from Raleigh.

The largest potatoes seen this season were on exhibition at the New Berne Democrat office one day this week. Four weighed 1 1/2 pounds and one weighed five pounds. They were raised on the Graham farm, on Roanoke river, by Maj. J. B. Neal.

There is some disappointment among the farmers of the eastern section of the state in the price of cotton. Some say that with the present fine crop of corn and fair crop of cotton there will not be as much spare money as was anticipated.

Mrs. R. E. Davis sent the Kinston Free Press a very fine lemon and two bananas grown by her in Lenoir county. The lemon weighs 1 1/2 pounds, and Mrs. Davis has 100 like it on the tree from which it was taken.

J. T. Cheatham, a prominent farmer residing a few miles from Oxford, had built in the summer a brick, tin covered curing barn. It is divided into four compartments, separated by brick fire walls.—Oxford Daily.

One farmer from Westfield township informed us last Friday that the storm of week before last destroyed almost his entire crop of tobacco. He places his loss at over $500.—Yadkin Valley News.

A few years ago, the figs near Raleigh were nearly all killed by the bitter weather. They have renewed themselves.

The fruit crop this year has been almost a failure here as all over the county.—Goldboro Dispatch.

Farmers should take notice that the United States senate has placed binding twine on the free list.

Mr. T. J. Lee, of Pender county, reports the finest crops in his section he has seen in fifteen years.

INTERESTING PERSONS.

HON. LEVERETT SALTONSTALL, a leading Boston democrat, is critically ill.

MRS. CLARA LOUISE KELLOGG-STRAKOSCH is building a summer house near Hartford, Conn.

MISS MARY LEE, Gen. R. E. Lee's youngest daughter, is said to never forget a name or a face.

LADY MCKINTOSH is about to start as a house decorator and finisher in London. She is said to be a good business woman.

JANE DITTENBERG, of Kingston, Jamaica, is an orphan and has $1,000,000. She has refused thirty-seven offers of marriage.

HARRY N. CARY, of the New York Herald, has gone to the city to assume the managing editorship of the Chicago Times.

MISS HELEN GOULD, Jay Gould's daughter, is an accomplished botanist. She has the rarest private collection of orchids in the country.

QUEEN VICTORIA detests sentries, and all the guarding at Osborne and at Balmoral, and as much as possible at Windsor, is done by policemen.

MR. PHILIP HORATIO, of Chicago, has been empowered to visit all the countries of the globe for the purpose of soliciting exhibits to the world's fair.

In his study Lord Randolph Churchill has on the mantelpiece a fine portrait of his dearest enemy—Mr. Gladstone. Lady Randolph told a friend that he put it there out of "pure kindness."

Mrs. MARY DAVISON, of Junction City, Kan., is one of the most successful silk culturists in America. She was self taught to a great degree, but she has written an excellent practical manual for the assistance of other growers.

DR. GEORGE F. ROBY has just celebrated the scientific anniversary of his birth in Chicago. He is the author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys," written on the morning after President Lincoln's second call for troops, and also of about a hundred other famous songs.

Negroes Keep the Republican Party Alive.

From the National Democrat.

A vast majority of white men in the United States belong to the democratic party and that ticket. Of the 5,439,607 votes received by Harrison in 1880 not less than 1,250,000 were cast by negroes, north and south. At the present time Mr. Cleveland would have had a popular majority of 1,367,438 over Harrison. It is easy to see, therefore, the kind of figure the republican party would cut in national politics if the decision were left to the white people of the country.

THE fact is that the republican party never would have had a President after 1872 except for the vote of northern negroes. The negro has saved the party in every struggle he voted by reason of his vote in the north on states, which had never, before 1856, voted the negroes the right of suffrage.

Vance and the National Banks.

From the Mecklenburg Times, organ of the Mecklenburg alliance.

An attempt to place Senator Vance out of record with his party as to the monopolistic nature of the national banking system must inevitably prove a failure. It is record is too well known. Ten years ago he voted with his party in congress against the bill rechartering these banks. Time and again he has introduced bills in the senate proposing to remove the tax from state bank circulation so as to take the monopoly away from national banks and, by allowing state banks to issue circulating notes, provide the people with a more abundant and a more elastic currency. The man who occupies Senator Vance's position in this respect will sink rock bottom right at the surface.

PUBLIC NOTICE

It hereby given that the large and valuable tract of land known as the River Bank Farm, lying about four and one half miles from Asheville on the French Broad River, adjoining the lands of Mr. Pack, formerly the Tennant of Antler Hall tract and the large estate of Mr. George Vanderbilt, will be sold at public auction on the first of October next.

As soon as the survey has been completed and the title is clear, it can be had by any of the office of Fox, Robinson, Martin & Jones, 7 Legal Bldg., where terms and particulars of sale will be made known.

No lot in this county offers greater attractions to purchasers, occupying the convex crest of the French Broad valley, sweeping around the Strawberry Hill near the Hungulow, and containing half valley and level land, street in front and glass in variety sufficient to satisfy all tastes.

There are about 250 acres in this splendid tract of land, and the lots will be set apart in a manner best calculated to afford the finest building sites in the county.

Further particulars will be given to the public as soon as the maps are ready for distribution.
