ADVERTISING when intelligently conducted, is a very valuable aid in drawing customers, and when one considers that it was said by Robert Bonner, "My success is owing to liberality in advertising," he may well agree with the great showman, P. T. Barnum, that "the road to fortune is through printer's ink." American Stationer.

THE SUN.

Some people agree with The Sun's opinions about men and things, and some people don't; but everybody likes to get hold of the newspaper which is never dull and never afraid to speak its mind. Democrats know that for twenty years The Sun has fought in the front line for Democratic principles, never wavering or weakening in its loyalty to the true interests of the people. It serves with fearless intelligence and disinterested vigor. At times opinions have differed as to the best means of accomplishing the common purpose; it is not The Sun's fault if it has seen further into the mill-

THE ILLUSTRATED AMERICAN

In its new form retains all the characteristic features of the old size, with an increased number of Pages and Illustrations. The Illustrated American is acknowledged to be the handsomest Weekly News Magazine in the world. Advantage is taken by the management of every opportunity to secure the latest and most reliable information of topics of general and international interest in this country and Europe. Correspondents, Artists and Photographers are constantly at work in all parts of the world gathering items of interest for the readers. The Illustrated American is clean, absolutely unsectarian, free from political dimensions and heavy debates. It is eminently a news magazine for the family. Club men and sportsmen will find Athletics and Games, Yachting and Boat Races, Ladies will find "Clubs and Topics of Interest to Women," Army and Navy Officers will find Items and Photographs of Army and Navy News. Antiquarians will enjoy "Historic America." Everybody will enjoy the Serial Story by Edgar Zwick, begun in No. 25.

To a certain extent general advertising creates a want. It announces new things and familiarizes the public with old ones. General advertising is of as great value to the advertiser in keeping an established article before the public as in introducing a new one. The most successful business men realize this, and they never let the public forget their existence. The oft-repeated assertion that advertisements are not read is proved to be a lie of the most senseless kind by the advertiser's record of results. —Journalist.

The Daily Citizen. Is always alive to the interests of Asheville and its people. Is the most popular advertising medium in North Carolina. Is read by a greater number of people than any other secular paper in the State. Is always filled with the choicest reading matter of the day. Boarding houses fill their rooms by advertising in the Citizen. News, and all the news, makes the Citizen a general favorite. No retail merchant ever made a great success without advertising. Try the Citizen. An advertisement in the Citizen pays the advertiser an hundred-fold.

From the New York Post. I heard a United States marshal tell a good story the other day. He had been ordered to go after an Indian who was selling whisky to his dusky friends. After he captured the warrior he gave him a long lecture on the depravity of his conduct. After listening stolidly the half breed said: "Ain't dere no way I can get helped outen this?" "No one can help you now but heaven," his captor answered. The prisoner shook his head sadly, in a hopeless manner, as he muttered: "Well—heaven, be good deal like Uncle Sata—no one ever see him."

Out of His Cage Again. From the Wilson Mirror. We heretofore introduced our readers to the courtly and knightly Montague, and to his efficient assistant, the affable and popular Sam Westbrook. It is now our pleasure to speak of the genial qualities and captivating graces of Sam Beaufort, who is a fit associate for the above elegant gentlemen, and who stands behind the desk with a smile as full of blandishment as the seductive witchery of a maiden when she bites the mousetraps of her lover nenth the glamour of moonbeams.

Take Care of the Brain. From the Ladies' Home Journal. The brain stands most abuse of any organ in the body. Its best tonic and stimulant is success. The worst and most depressing thing to it is failure. The most injurious effects come by using stimulants in early life. Young people should never use liquors, tea or coffee. The latter two may not exactly do harm, but they are conducive of no good. They act mostly on the brain and injure its growth very materially. Abundance of sleep is necessary. Eight hours is no more than enough. Sleep is the time of relatively lowered expenditure and increased repair.

The go Cents Were Needed. From the New York Sun. "Can you give me 30 cents, kind sir?" asked a beggar. "I wish to buy a ham sandwich." "But you can get a ham sandwich for a nickel." "Yes; the quarter is to fee the waiter with."
