IMMIGRATION CONVENTION MR. JOHN T. PATRICK TALKS ABOUT IT.

Origin of the Interstate Association - Advertising the Entire South-It is Doing Good Work.

Mr J. T. Patrick, of Raleigh, the executive agent of the southern inter-states immigration association which holds its convention here in December, was here last night. He arrived on the 4:22 o'clock train from Raleigh and was met at the depot by members of the local committee with whom he held a conference. He returned to Raleigh last night.

Mr. Patrick was seen by the Tim Cirizes last night and talked very freely concerning the association. 'The origin of the association" he said, "was in the efforts of individual southern States, to induce immigration from the north and west as well as from the old world, to occupy their lands, and to develop their resources. What is now a strong organization, began in individual efforts through the immigration depart ments of the several southern states.

"The interstate immigration bureau was formed at Montgomery, Ala, it December 1888. The delegates to this meeting were appointed by the governors of the southern states, the county commissioners, mayors of cities, cham-bers of commerce and boards of trade and as far as possible were clothed with power to not for the bodies which they

The active part of the southern interstate immigration association consists of an executive committee, one man from each state, chosen by the conven-tion on recommendation of the delegates from the state. The chief of this com-mittee is Col. F. B. Chilton, of Austin.

Since its organization the bureau has perfected a systematic plan of co-opera-tion which was endorsed by a committee appointed by the several states has year, and through the commissioners of organand through the commissioners of organization, the plan is being put into practical operation. A handsome exhibit of southern products has been collected and exhibited in the southern states and in Canada, New York, Maine, Indiana-Michigan and Pennsylvania. This committee is thoroughly advertising the southern resources in various other ways.

"Instructions were also given by the onvention at Montgomery to the executive committee to arrange some plan whereby the exporting and importing that naturally belongs to southern ports should be directed to their proper chan-nels, to encourage our native people to develop the natural resources of their respective sections. Merchants who now pay reight from Boston, New York, Phil-adelphia or Baltimore, by rail or steamer. or the south, will, when the importing is lame to the south on cities, be saved thi-reight. Their co-operation will be neces-freight. Their co-operation will be freezesory and they must pickle their patronage to the importers. This will save thousands or dollars to the south.

"so far but one state has been fully organized, the state of Florida. The governor and beard of immigration of that state were most favorably impressed with the plan and not only indersed it in the highest terms but on the part of the state commissioned Mr. Von Beasen the state, commissioned Mr. You Deuson, the ment to accompany commissioner of or gueration to all points throughout the state and resist in organization of the

Not a single town visited has refused

The organization is similar to boards of trade or chambers of commerce, and when those organizations exist the com mission presents the work to them and they have poined without a single instance to the contrary. The cost is regulated acording to the number of inhabitants of city. A charter fee of $25 is charged.

"The money is used principally for the divertising fund to direct the attention of the north and foreign countries to the South. Only enough is retained to keep up the expenses of the central organiza-tion. It will take two years to thorngilly organize the entire south so the copic may begin to realize the benefit shich will certainly come if an organization is perfected. Of course the usefulness parts of the south will be secured organizations the have been perfected have gone to work in real carnest and are doing much good.

The general manager authorized me to issue a circular letter to the mayors of the southern cities calling attention to the convention of 1800 and asking them to make propositions, and I did so. The last propositions for holding the convention were received from Charleston, S. Charlotte, N. C., and Asheville,-the 26th of October, Asheville make to the 26th of October, Asheville making the best hid, Charlotte next, and Charles-

I was directed by Mr. Chilton at that time to call the convention at the place making the best bid, as the time was The people of Asheville are justly en-ed to it and I have no fear that they will do credit to the south, to the State and to the city DECISION RESERVED.

Final Adjournment of the Federal Court.

Argument in the case of W. B. Lockett & Co., against the Warm Springs company in the federal court was finished yesterday afternoon, Judge Dick reserves his decision. The suit for ejectment of J. E. Brown against Jos. Duckett and others, was taken up on a transcript from the Transplania superior court but Jadge Dick held that the suit was out of his jurisdiction and it was remanded to the court from which it came. V. S. Lusk, C. A. Moore and P. A. Cuminus appeared for the plain. P. A. Cummings appeared for the plain-tiffs and Jones & Shuford and Mr. Nor-wood, of Waynesville, for the defendants. Court adjourned for the session at 12 o'clock and the officers left for their homes

n the two o'clock train. J. R. Pritchard, of Elk Park, Mitchell county, was appointed as a commis-sioner of the federal court in and for the western district. He is authorized to take acknowledgements, affidavits and bail in United States cases.

ville, since he ceased to be the pastor of this church. His return at this time is this church. His return at this time is upon invitation to supply the pulpit during the absence of Rev. Mr. Bryan who is in Richmond. He will doubtless note many changes in the church and in the community since he left, four years ago, but he will find the friendships of past years still fresh and strong and the changes that have taken place improvements and signs of progress.

A POX IN ASHEVILLE.

He is Captured While Sight-Seing on Patton Avenue.

Some members of the police force saw a large red tox on l'atton avenue early this morning. They gave chase to the animal and he was caught in the entrance to the basement under Redwood's store Later the fox was taken out the Rich-and Hill road to a point near the city limits and liberated. About three-fourths of an hour after the fox was loosed a of an nour after the lox was loosed a party of mounted horsenen, among whom were C. D. Blanton, J. Blanton, W. P. Blanton, A. G. Hallyburton, J. Lange, W. R. Gudger, W. W. Barnard, Ins. Alexander, H. H. White, J. M. Edwards and James Palmer, the last three members of the police force, with a number of fox hounds started after him.

His fleet running outdid that of the jounds and after a chase of several miles, joing as far down as Gen. R. B. Vance's farm on the French Broad, the dogs were called off and the hunt abandoned.
