INGALLS MAKES A SPEECH.

HE EXPLAINS AN IRREVERENT REMARK.

He Also Makes Another One—An Impure Suggestion—The Will of the People Not Expressed in Presidential Elections.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—In the senate to-day, according to the arrangement made yesterday, the senate proceeded to consideration of the financial bill.

Immediately after reading the journal Mr. Ingalls took the floor and said that there were two portentous evils which menaced the safety, if they did not endanger the existence, of the republic. The first was an ignorant, debased, degraded, spiritless, suffrage, a suffrage contaminated by the suffrage of decayed nations, a suffrage intimidated and suppressed in the south; a suffrage impure and corrupt, apathetic and indifferent in the great cities of the north, so that it was doubtful in his mind whether for half a century there had been a presidential election in this country that expressed the deliberate and intelligent judgment of the whole body of the American people.

Mr. Ingalls then referred to a newspaper interview had with him several months ago in which he had said that the golden rule and the decalogue had no place in the American campaign. It seemed superfluous to explain that that utterance he was not inculcating a doctrine, but describing a condition. His statement was a statement of fact, not an announcement of the faith. But many revered editors, many ingenious orators, many prominent politicians, had taken the utterance as a personal advocacy of impurity in politics. He did not complain. It was, as the world went legitimate political warfare, but it was an illustration of the truth that the golden rule and decalogue ought to have a place in political campaigns.

"If thy enemy smite thee on one cheek, turn the other," was good precept to follow, said Mr. Ingalls. But he would observe that, until that precept was more generally observed than it had been or was likely to be, if his political enemy smote him on one cheek, instead of turning the other he would smite him under the butt end of his left ear if he could. (Laughter.) If that be political immorality, he must be included among the unregenerate.

The election bill was intended to deal with one part of the great evil to which he had alluded, but it was an imperfect, partial and incomplete remedy. Violence was bad but fraud was no better, and it was more dangerous, because it was more insidious. Burke had said, in one of his immortal utterances which enliven the house of commons, but which would be read as long as the English tongue could endure, that when the laws of Great Britain were not strong enough to protect the youngest Hindoo on the banks of the Ganges, a nobleman was not safe in his castle on the banks of the Thames. That lofty sentiment was pregnant with admonition to us. There could be no safety and no stable and permanent place in this country and under this government until it was just as safe for a black republican to vote in Mississippi, as it was for a white democrat to vote in Kansas.

The second evil to which Mr. Ingalls alluded was the tyranny of the combined, concentrated, centralized, conscienceless and incorporated capital, and the people were considering that great problem now. The conscience of the nation was shocked at the injustice of modern society.

TWO LEGISLATURES.
Compromise in Montana—West Virginia Denounces the Force Bill.

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 14.—The republican house of representatives has adopted the following plan as a basis of a compromise for settling the existing difficulties in the legislature: That twenty-five republicans and twenty-five democrats, whose election is undisputed meet as a house of representatives; that the details of organization to be arranged by a committee of an equal number of each party, such arrangement to be approved and signed by all claimants to seats from Silver Bow county and that in the organization offices be distributed equally between the two parties.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 14.—The West Virginia legislature convened at noon to-day. It consists of sixty democrats and thirty-one republicans. The democratic caucus was held last night and J. M. McCreery, of Raleigh county, named for president.

A resolution was adopted by the house caucus denouncing the federal election bill.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

A bill to amend the constitution has been introduced in the senate.

In voting on the resolution of instructions to Senators Ransom and Vance State Senator Bellamy said: "I vote against the resolution, as it does not absolutely bind the senators to any particular measure."

The resolution (in the house) in regard to the investigation of the public school system in order that it may be seen whether money can be saved in a reduction of salaries or by a reduction of the number of officials, was adopted.

A bill to make the acknowledgment of deeds lawful in any county of the state, and to legalize the acknowledgment, an registration of all deeds heretofore made and registered, whether such acknowledgment was taken in the county where the land lies or not, has passed its second and third readings in the senate.

The resolution (in the house) requesting information of the attorney general as to why the bonds given by the Richmond and Danville railroad company for construction of the Western North Carolina railroad should not be held by the state, asks whether any money has been paid the state for the work. Adopted.

Among the bills introduced are the following: To facilitate the cancellation of mortgages and deeds of trust; to prohibit the sale of liquor in Macon county; to create a railway commission; to impose a $500 license tax on dealers in deadly weapons; to allow wine and cider to be sold in Tyrrell county; to relieve mortgaged property from taxation to the amount of such mortgage, and to provide for prompt payment of all money collected by law.

NOT POLITICS.

Mr. Deaver Says His Backers are Mr. Blanton's Friends.

W. H. Deaver, whose suit against the city has caused so much talk, was shown this morning the printed report of Asheville's receipts and expenditures, issued July 1, 1890, and covering a period of one year.

"I know," said Mr. Deaver, "everything is itemized there. We do not charge crookedness in the city government, but carelessness. Money has been spent almost lavishly without any apparent investigation as to the good that would result to the city by such expenditure. The report says, for instance, that $30,000 were spent up to July 1, for street improvement. Now, where has it been used? The streets are very little better now than they were two years ago. The city has, it is true, put in perhaps a half mile of curbing, and that is about all that can be noticed."

"All we expect to do is to restrain the city from borrowing money and in this way put a stop to the indiscriminate expenditure of the taxpayers' money. All we have to fear is that the present session of the legislature may legalize this borrowing by the aldermen by an amendment to the charter. In that event we can do nothing. The mayor is now in Raleigh, and he may perhaps be looking into that matter now."

As to the political aspect of the case, Mr. Deaver said that the gentlemen associated with him in bringing the suit were personal friends of Mayor Blanton and had voted for him at the time of his election.

"There is nothing political in it," concluded Mr. Deaver, "and we only want to stop the apparent waste of the people's money."

TIMBER OPTIONS.

Asheville Parties May Take Them—Spring Creek Railway.

HOT SPRINGS, N. C., Jan. 14.—In an interview to-day the Hon. Beverly W. Hill, mayor of this place, said that Asheville parties would visit Hot Springs during the week to negotiating for options on timber along the proposed route of the Spring Creek railway. There are about 100,000 acres of excellent oak, pine and poplar timber in the region adjacent to the railway route and if the present owners of this timber property manifest a disposition to encourage the capitalists, the railway will specifically be built.

Mayor Hill said further, that President Johnson of the Greenville and Paint Rock railway had talked with him during the last week concerning the advisability of making the terminus of the new road at Hot Springs instead of at Paint Rock, approaching the Springs through the Laurel country. President Johnson, in consequence of this proposed change in the route of his road has instructed his Asheville agents to apply to the legislature for an amendment of the company's charter which will allow of the changes being made.

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE.

Said to be Promised $60,000 a Month For Their Support.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Nearly 500 station agents and railway telegraph operators on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway will quit work to-day or to-night, throughout Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska. Grand Chief Thurston, of the International Order of Railway Telegraphers, is in charge to direct and enforce the strike. He claims the strikers will direct and enforce the strike. He claims the strikers will be backed by the entire order in the United States and morally aided by the other labor federations.

The trouble is the result of the recent change in the wages of agents and operators. It is said by the officials of the company that the change is an attempt to equalize the wages paid in the cities and smaller towns along the road. A committee had a three days' conference with General Manager Earling which ended yesterday with a refusal on the part of the company to concede the demands of the men.

Chief Thurston asserts that $60,000 a month has been pledged to the men until they have won or lost the fight.

Baltimore Prices.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 14.—Flour quiet. Wheat—southern, firm; Fultz 95c; 1.03; Longberry 98c; 1.03; western firm. No. 2 winter red, spot and January, 97 1/2c; 99 1/2c; Corn, southern, firm; white 60c; 61c; yellow 61c; 62c; western steady.

Farmers are Democrats.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 14.—In the lower house of the legislature a resolution was passed endorsing free coinage of silver. The republicans refrained from voting and the farmers voted with the democrats.

STATE NEWS.

—Twenty children are cared for at the colored orphan asylum of Oxford.

—If the will of Mrs. Mary Morehead Smith is carried out the State university will get a sum variously estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000.

—Greensboro Record—Dr. R. K. Gregory, of this city, has sold a one-half interest in all his European patents for his anti-septic fluids, etc., to Capt. B. J. Fisher.

—Col. R. F. Webb, who lived through two wars, was born in Maryland, April 13, 1825, and came to North Carolina before he was twenty-one years of age, is dead at Durham.

—Oxford Ledger: New life is being infused into the mining interest of Raker City in the northern part of the county. Immense quantities of copper and iron ore have been discovered and a 40-ton water-jacket will be erected at once.

—The case of Baltzer & Tacks, of New York, against the state of North Carolina will be appealed to the supreme court of the United States. In this case the New York firm sued this state for $140,000 for iron furnished in 1868-70 to what was then the Chatham railway company.

—Before United States Commissioner L. M. Totten at Hickory, in Catawba county, Mr. W. L. Wakefield, a Lenoir attorney, Dr. J. W. Stewart, his client in Caldwell county superior court; and W. M. Andrews, of Caldwell county, were bound over to the federal court on the charge of conspiracy to impeach Mr. S. Wortman, postmaster at Graig, Caldwell county, in the discharge of the conduct of the postoffice at that point.

JUST A LITTLE RATTLED.

WHAT AN ALLIANCE LEGISLATURE LOOKS LIKE.

Intelligent and Responsible but Not Very Well up in Parliamentary Ways—Bill Hais at a Discount.

TOPEKA, Jan. 14.—Promptly at 12 o'clock the organization of the legislature began. Every available space for spectators was crowded.

In the senate adjournment till 7 o'clock in the evening was taken.

In the house the appearance of the granger legislators was a surprise to all. They are a most responsible set of men with much intelligence expressed in their faces. Ninety per cent. of them wear turn-down collars. Three-fourths of the senators wear silk hats, but the closest search would not discover one in the house.

J. B. Coons, of Miami county, was elected temporary chairman. Temporary organization was in accordance with the alliance caucus. The chairman labored under great embarrassment and was "rattled" at every motion. He said, "we are from the rural districts, gentlemen, and may make a few mistakes at first, but we will come out all right by and by." The candidates agreed upon in the farmers' alliance caucus were elected without opposition.

ASHEVILLE SHOULD GET IT.

Capl. Natl. Atkinson Talks About Bingham's School.

EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—I was a little surprised on yesterday afternoon to notice an article in your paper copied from the Charlotte Chronicle relative to the Bingham School soon to be established at this place, and that the same was permitted to go without comment or explanation.

You will pardon me for explaining that Asheville does not propose to give Major Bingham a site or anything on which to build his school without just and proper compensation for all he receives in this regard. The proposition from Major Bingham is that he will pay in the education of our boys who are seeking a higher or classical education at his usual rates, dollar for dollar, for everything paid on the bonds we propose to issue to aid in his building until he is able to assume and pay off the bonds himself. So that, we in fact and in truth, give nothing to Major Bingham for the many and great advantages we will receive because of the location of his most excellent school in our midst.

The proposition means, for these advantages, (and I wish I had time and space to enumerate them to the people of this city) we simply loan the city's credit, may the interest on the bonds and receive payment from Major Bingham in a direction and kind more valuable than in dollars to carry out this most laudable and praiseworthy scheme. Charlotte and Durham may not feel themselves able to do such a thing, but I am glad that there is one live, wide-awake place in the state that can—Asheville, the great metropolis of the Southern mountains.

NATT ATKINSON.

To Take Up Delsarte.

Miss Curtis, of New York, delivered a lecture on the Delsarte and Checkley systems of physical culture, in the lecture room of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. An audience of perhaps 100 ladies and gentlemen was present. Miss Curtis gave an exhibition of club swinging as taught by the Checkley system. Classes are to be organized and taught in Asheville by Miss Curtis. A teachers' class, primarily for teachers, but any person can join, will be taught in the Orange street school three evenings a week. A drawing room class and private classes will also be organized. The course of instruction consists of ten lessons.

"The Boomer."

The Oshkosh, Wis., Democrat says: "Christopher Snap, 'The Boomer' as interpreted by Dan Packard, is a piece of character comedy as legitimate and as fascinating as the Captain Cuttle of W. J. Florence, or the Rip Van Winkle of Joe Jefferson. There is a place, and that a high one, for such true comedians as Dan Packard, 'The Boomer.'"

Dan Packard and "The Boomer" will be at the Grand Thursday and Friday nights.

A $150,000 Light House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The house commerce committee has authorized a favorable report on the bill for the establishment of a light station at Cape Fear, N. C., at a cost of $150,000.

Will Continue the Strike.

EDINBURG, Jan. 13.—At a meeting of the railroad strikers in this city, it was resolved to continue the strike.
