TERRIBLE GAS EXPLOSION OVER ONE HUNDRED MINERS

Harrowing Scenes at the Mouth of the Mine Where the Tragedy Occurred-Recalls the Dunbar Tragedy.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Jan. 28.-An exploson of fire damp occurred yesterday in the shaft of the H. C. Frick Coke Co. The after-damp which followed the explosion suffocated nearly every workman who was not killed out-right.

A few men realizing the awful situa tion, fell to the ground, thereby prevent ing the gas from striking them. The per sons not killed are in such a critical condition that they are momentarily expected to die The fire which broke out after the explosion was soon extinguished by immense fans which were put in open ition. The gas was then driven from the pit, and the work of recovering the bodies commenced.

One hundred and seven bodies have been taken from the ill-fated mine, no one of Frick & Co., at Mammoth. Up to 10 o'clock this morning it is estimated there remain at least seventeen more victims of the explosion still in the pit but it is thought all will be out in a few hours. Nobody slept at Mammoth last night In every home in the little mining hamlet there was mourning, yet there was no demonstration. Little one story houses, scantily furnished, were illuminated with tallow candles. Mother, wife, sis-ter, or sweetheart, sobbed in silence. They only knew that a mysterious ac-cident has befallen their kindred and friends. They cannot see the dead. They have little care for their living.

Their grief is deep and keen.

After the explosion yesterday the news of the awful fate of the scores of miners at work in the shafts spread rapidly among the mines and miners' homes. The cour-iers carried the dreadful news hither and thither and families dashed from the com-forts of a home into the depths of grie and despair.

Within an incredibly short time the entrance to the shaft was surrounded with the eager, anxious crowd of men. women and children, some of whom could with great difficulty, only, be kept at a safe distance. As bodies of victims, mangled by the terrible force of the explosion or burned almost out of human semblance, were brought from the yawning depths the crowd of watchers pushed forward to the pit for a glimpse of recognition. The hearts of wives and sisters stood still in fear that their loved ones were among the dead.
The more disinterested ones qualled before the scene. Tears coursed down bronzed and bearded cheeks and were dashed away by brawny hands that had swung the picks for many years.

The rescuing party proceeded with their grim task and the crowd of watchers silently looked on. It was one of those scenes which, once witnessed, remains forever impressed upon the memory of the spectator.

This catastrophe, while involving more than five times the loss of life occasioned by the Dunbar disaster, differs in many respects from the lattet. At Dunbar the explosion set fire to the mine and the shaft for days and weeks was a roaring furnace, adding horrors to the great fatality. In yester day's occurrence this was not the case and by the perfect working of the fan pure air was forced into the mine and the work of rescuing was permitted to begin at once.

Fifty coffins arrived from Pittsburg this morning and another half hundred will reach to-night. An additional order for twenty-five more was sent this morning. The cause of the explosion has not yet been determined. The coroner is on the grounds and a thorough investigation will be made. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral. The victims will be buried by the company Many of the unfortunates are Hungari

The South's Showing. Washington, Jan. 25.-There were enolled in the public schools of the United States at the latest general enumeration, 13,291,259 pupils. This is a great showing; but the most suggestive fact about t is that in no fewer than six states and Northern states at that, there was an absolute decrease in the number of pupils enrolled, in spite of increases in popul ion. In the state of New York, while the average growth of the population of school age was 30,000, the gain in en-rollment was 544, so that there was a bare escape from adding a seventh to the number of states which show an actual decrease of the number of enrolled pupils Not less remarkable and suggestive is the compensation for this decline in the growth of public school education at the south. There we find that the ratio of pupils to population, which was 6.3 in 1870, had become 16.4 in 1880, and had

THE BEHRING SEA CASE. BEFORE THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Decision Reached Yet, of Course-Arguments Made by the Attorney-General and by Caldron Carlisle for Great Britain,

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 .- The Behring sea case came up in the supreme court yesterday pursuant to an order made by the chief justice. The United States was epresented by Attorney-general Miller and Solicitor-general Taft, and the government of Great Britain by Joseph H. Choate, of New York, and Calderon Carlisie. Vice-President Morton, Representative Greenhalge. The matter came before the court in the shape of an application for leave to issue from the supreme court to the disannul proceedings in that court against the schooner W. P. Sayword which was libelled and forfeited to the United States vessels occupied the roadstead at Porto for violation of the laws of this country Coquimbo four days ago. War vessels forbidding the taking of fur seals in the

At 1 o'clock the case was taken up, and Calderon Carlisle opened for Great Britain. He said it was his duty at the outset, especially because it had been made a subject of comment in the brief of the United States area, to the action of the United States, even to the extent of asserting that this proceeding was not a bona fide effort to have the court decide upon the matter of the private right, to state the reason for announcing that the petition was filed by Thomas Henry Cooper and with the suggestion of the Canadian government. His colleague and himself considered that, in view of the fact that the Canadian owner of the vessel had appealed to his own local government for aid in the prosecution of his private right, and in view of the fact that the were both retained by that government to aid in the assertion of those private rights, good faith to the court required that they should not coneeal, but dis-close in the plainest terms the actual facts in the matter. The attitude of the United States justified their course with out question. They did not think for one moment that if all the princes and potentates of the earth came heis to sugpotentates of the earth came necessor suggest or petition that it could weigh one teather's weight in their disposition of the question of private rights.
