Asheville the capital of a state! Had you ever thought of that?

Did it ever occur to you that Asheville the peerless, the "Queen City of the West," in the Land of the Sky, might some day become the seat of government for the western portion of North Caro-

Well, that's what's the matter! Geo. S. Powell, who returned yesterday from Raleigh, where he went to meet with merchants from every part of the state, who ask the repeal of the merchants' purchase tax law, has given THE CITIZEN the substance of some remarks made by a gentleman prominent in the state, which go to show that other sec-tions of the state recognize the proud position attained by this glorious city and surrounding country. Mr. Powell says he can give the name of the gentle-man if prossers.

man, if necessary.
"We were on the train," said Mi Powell, "on our return from Raleigh, and were discussing the vastly different legislation needed by Western and Eastern North Carolina.

'The gentleman referred to took an active part in the discussion. He gave it as his opinion that, in view of the fact that the legislation demanded by the east and that needed by the west must, n many instances, be almost diametri cally opposite, on account of the diffe ence of condition, industries, etc., th time must eventually come when a d vision of the state will be inevitable.

"The two sections, he said, were so vastly different that it is impossi-ble to procure legislation that will suit both portions of the state." Just here Mr. Powell leaned back in his chair and a happy, contented look came over his face. He continued:

"Then the gentleman got down to business. He said that the state should be cut in two somewhere near the line of the Richmond and Danville railroad, where it crosses the state from Virginia to South Carolina, and from the counties lying west of that line should be formed a new state, a section with interests al most identical, and made up of forty of fitty of the best counties of the state of North Carolina.

Then the capital should be located a sheville. She will be the largest city i the state soon, and when the new state is formed will undoubtedly be the largest city, and her location would at once designate her the capital city.
"The time would soon come, he thought
