THE DAILY CITIZEN. Is on sale at the following places in Asheville: CITIZEN OFFICE, BATTERY PARK NEWS STAND, GLEN ROCK NEWS STAND, MODER, CIGAR STORE, Patton Ave.

MONDAY, MARCH 9, 1891.

It is not large business, arresting members of the Salvation army, but Captain Sawyer and his followers are not wholly blameless. His preaching and singing draw a crowd that obstructs the streets he should be perfectly willing to go elsewhere. The most of his best work cannot be done on a public square given up frequently to rat-baiting and in view of sidewalks continually obstructed against the ordinances of the city. The Captain should, rather, get out into the byways leaving the public square to other law breakers. To say that he is "called" to speak at a particular spot is nonsense. He is "called" to conform to the laws of the community in which he is, so long as they do not conflict with his views of what is moral according to the dictates of his conscience.

"North Carolina will be at the World's Fair with a novel display. The plans have been approved. The exhibit will be an artificial hill of iron, covered with terraced soil, and it will show the progress of North Carolina from the time of its first settlement."

ON LOOKING over the foregoing second time we observe that a serious mistake has been made. The original item is from the New York Herald and where the words North Carolina are should be the word Mexico. That is to say, for off, half-civilized Mexico bids fair to outshine North Carolina with her $25,000,000 appropriation at the World's Fair. Is that what our alliance legislature was elected for—that and the state printing contract?

The republican party was re-elected at the polls last November. Then it went into congress and with the votes of many members whom the people had announced it had no use for, created a deficit in the treasury. Consequently there will probably be an increase of taxation. These facts ought to be enough to keep the republican party out of power for a generation; they ought also to change our present illogical way of allowing re-elected legislators to legislate. The people having elected a man he ought not to be compelled to stand around and see his defeated rival making laws.

North Carolina's Colored Population.

From the Charleston News and Courier. The white population of North Carolina has gained materially on the colored population in the last ten years, but a further comparison of figures will show that the colored population of the state has sustained itself remarkably well nevertheless. In 1860 the number of the colored population was 57.4 per cent. of the number of the white population. In 1880 the proportion had fallen only to 54 per cent.—which shows a loss of but 3.4 per cent. in thirty years.

He Thinks He Knows.

From the Durham Globe. The weather will be all right the fourth of next July. This is authentic.

STATE NEWS.

—Alamance could not stand $300 for the state chemist's analysis of a dead negro's stomach, and the coroner's jury concluded that he was bitten by a mad dog.

—Cherokee Scout: A man who claims to know says the big lead deal about to be closed on Valley River involves the vast sum of $900,000. The bulk of the property is in Cherokee county.

—It is estimated that the sixteen ministers in Cleveland county receive for their salaries a total of $8,400. This includes $2,650 total paid in Shelby by the churches. The glorious gospel in Cleveland county costs less than this one distiller receives from drinkmakers in this same county!—Shelby Aurora.

—The failure of the three C's R. R. is a great calamity to the people of this county. Not to the public at large, but to the individuals whom it owes. They will never get a cent. It is estimated that the company owes over $50,000 in this county alone. Other counties, both in North and South Carolina are similarly served.—Rutherfordton correspondence Durham Globe.

—On Mr. E. A. Yates' farm two miles from Cary, gold has been found. Prof. Mann, of High Point, an expert in mineralogy, made a thorough examination and analysis and reported that it was gold embedded in pyrites and was worth $70,000 a hundred feet. The rock in which it is embedded goes across his farm and is several hundred feet. The cost of getting it out will be $10,000 or $15,000 a hundred feet. Mr. Yates proposes to sell the mine.—Raleigh Chronicle.

—We learned what we had never heard before—that Jackson county can boast a natural stone bridge spanning the Tuckasee river where its width is about sixty feet. The width of the bridge is thirty-two feet, and it hangs so low to the water that when the river is very much swollen the water runs over the top of it. It is composed of one solid rock, both ends of which are firmly and immovably planted in the cliffs on either side.—Tuckasee Democrat.

—The Uwharrie river section of Montgomery county is fast coming to the front as a gold producer. In a strip of country extending not more than ten miles in length and two miles in width, with the Uwharrie river running through the centre, not less than $50,000 has been taken out in the last fifteen months, by the natives, with only the crudest kind of washing machinery, such as the hand rocker and pan. The latest and largest find was made last week on the Martha Hall place, on Bunnell Mountain being an 11 pound nugget, found by Mr. Nelson Russell. A great many fine nuggets have been found in the creeks and hollows.—Salisbury Watchman.

Julia E. Johnson, Stafford's P. O., S. C., writes: "I had suffered thirteen years with eczema and was at times confined to my bed. The itching was terrible. My son-in-law got me one half dozen bottles of Botanic Blood Balm, which entirely cured me, and I ask you to publish this for the benefit of others suffering in like manner."

THE PRESENT CRISIS.

EDITOR THE CITIZEN—The great issue in the coming municipal campaign is whether or not we shall vote $640,000 for street improvements, etc. Of course it is essential in order to carry this, that we have a ticket for mayor and aldermen that are capable of handling this amount to an advantage, and a ticket that the people can trust.

If we have such a ticket the proposition of street paving will carry; otherwise, in my opinion, it will not. I will here say that every democrat in the city of Asheville is individually responsible for the men we have on our ticket. If a man absents himself from the primaries and allows the "ringsters" to put in their men, then every such man is just as responsible as the men who compose the ring. Let every democrat come to the primaries and do his whole duty toward giving us a good ticket.

The question of paving is not simply paving or mud, but is also Asheville or no Asheville. I am proud of Asheville's fame as a health resort, but if our streets are not put in a condition so that visitors can take out-door exercise, Asheville as a health resort is no more.

Allow me to quote from the Dietetic Society, of February, 1891: "Climatic influences are to-day regarded as the most effective weapon in the treatment of tuberculosis, especially of the lungs. And the chief reason given for this therapeutic preeminence of climate is that the patient is enabled to live in the open air without detriment to his general or local condition. Here, then, is the kernel of a rational therapy of phthisis—an abundant supply of fresh air."

When contending climates have exhausted their arguments, the cardinal principle of treatment will stand out in bold relief and it will appear that it is not this or that particular climate, which is most conducive to recovery, but the condition which affords to the patient the best opportunity for out-door life, in the air that is free from dust and other deleterious matters.

There is no doubt in my mind, and I may add in the minds of the medical profession of this city, that had we the advantage of good streets so that our invalids could have the benefit of out-door exercise, we would have a larger percentage of cures of consumption than they have in Germany, which is 37 per cent. of all cases. But how is it this winter? Visitors cannot take out-door exercise with any degree of comfort on foot, in a carriage or on horseback.

I asked a literary man once by this winter if he were doing a good business. His reply was that he had not let a horse out of his stable that day on account of the terrible condition of our streets, although he had numerous applications. And every citizen of Asheville knows that the dust is as bad in summer, comparatively, as the mud is in winter. And the dust is worse for a consumptive than the mud, because the constant inhalations of dust and the poisonous materials that are constantly mixed with it, prove a source of great irritation to the lungs and bronchial tubes, and aggravate, rather than allay, the cough.

We have the benefit of Prof. Koch's temple, which may be used now in private as well as in hospital practice. We have physicians of known skill and ability. We have the grandest climate for consumptives and kindred troubles, known to scientific men of the world. We have commodious and well conducted self-sanitariums. For long we will have plenty of hotel accommodations, and had we only the advantage of streets free from mud, dust and filth Asheville is a health resort would be unequalled in the world. But unless something is done for our streets we can not expect our city to hold her own with other cities that look after these things.

There is not a business or profession in Asheville but what has been either directly or indirectly injured by the condition of our streets this winter. And not only that, but to my certain knowledge there are numbers of families, who ordinarily have plenty to live upon, but depend upon their labor for a support, who are now really in want. Why? Because we have had so much cold weather they could do no work? No, because there has been no work to do? No, but because our streets have been in such a condition that material could not be gotten to the place. Looked Mr. Harry Lee if he was selling any brick now? He replied "I have plenty of orders, but can't deliver on account of the bad streets." Can these men (even if it should increase their taxes a little) in the face of what they and their families have suffered, and others who would have suffered had they not had something laid by, vote against the proposition to pave our streets? Can the professional man, the real estate dealer, the real estate owner, the merchant, the lawyer, man, all of whom expect to reap a direct benefit from the visitor and invalid, vote against the proposition to pave our streets? No; not one of these classes mentioned (which include most of Asheville's population) can afford to vote against the proposition provided we have men on our municipal ticket for mayor and aldermen that we can afford to trust with the affairs of this city, which I hope will include the handling of $640,000 in street improvements, etc. Democrats, let every one of us see to it that we have such men on our ticket. Truly, L. B. McBRAYER, M. D. March 6, 1891.

A Disgraceful Distinction.

From the Raleigh Capital. Our contemporary, the Progressive Farmer, can indisputably claim the merit of being the first newspaper edited by a white man in North Carolina to impugn the motives and call into question the sincerity of Senator Vance. [The foregoing was printed in THE CITIZEN lately, erroneously credited to the Progressive Farmer, hence it is here reprinted.]

FALK'S MUSIC HOUSE.

35 N. Main Street, ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Five and a half years ago I started in the music business. The people of Asheville and Western North Carolina have been kind to me and I wish to make grateful acknowledgment of it. I started by taking an agency. I became soon satisfied that the people are entitled to better instruments and better treatment than I would get acting as agent in that way. Hence I started out independent to give the very best instruments for the money they had paid previously for their instruments.
