Taking the suits altogether the importers claim the goods in question to be hat trimmings and to be dutiable at 20 per cent. advalorem under the clause of the act of March 3, 1883.

The government claims that they are dutiable at fitty per cent. advalorem under the clause of all goods, wares and manufacturers of silk, or of which silk is fire component material of chief value. The question arose by reason of the omis sion in the act of March 3d, 1883, of the word "vegetable" from that materia clause in the former act, and was firs rought before the court in this jurisdic tion on April 6, 1886, in the case of Tangleldt vs Hartrautt, in which cotton bbous were articles before the court. It was decided by Judge McKennon that it the jury believed that the chief use to which the ribbons were put was to trimming hats, bouncts and boods, then it was subject to 20 per cent, duty. The ury found in favor of the plaintiff, and judge McKennan's ruling was affirmed by the suprenergourt. Under this decision, $6,000,000 were relaided to the plaintiff. Afterwards, in New York juris diction, a similar question was decided in the case of Eucliadia vs. the collector, i
