ROADS AND BURGLARS. With Some Incidental Remarks

Bill Nve's letter.

while I speak of the wagon road of North Carolina. The system has been a passible a good deal of the year. The Asheville and Hendersonville road, for instance, is kept now in the same repair that the road is from Zanzibar to Lake Victoria Nyanza. It was formerly a toll road, and thought the tolls were used owners of the road, the bill was always made out for those who desired to ride over the route. I speak thus plainly of those roads boping that it may result in great good to those who live thereon.

There are places on this road where mountain springs soak up through the roadbed, and have done so for centuries, while the roadmaster has been waiting ilies have only eleven or Lwelve children left out of a possible twenty, owing to the condition of the roads. This reckless outlay of children, it seems to me, if nothing else, should teach us to improve

Asheville has made an appropriation recently of $625,000, most all of which will go for the improvement of her streets. This is better than a like amount laid out in fence-board advertising. LIFE IN NORTH CAROLINA.

-William Fansler and Charles C. Ruthfield have been arrested at Winston upon the charge of being implicated in the double murder of John Smith and Mary Goins in North Winston.

-Notices are being sent to each of the 1,589 soldier pensioners to attend the en-campment at Wrightsville, July 29-Aucust 4. It is roughly estimated that half the number will attend.

-Fayetteville Observer: Mr. E. F. Moore, late president of the defunct Peo-ple's National bank, was arrested and tried here Tuesday, charged with getting money under false pretenses, and was bound over to the Superior Court in a $200 bond.

—The trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical college have decided to ex-pend $5,000 for boilers, engines and ma-chinery, all of which are needed. The dormitories will be of brick, two in number, each 40x45 feet, two stories high, with accommodations for forty students.

The Southern Railway Construction Company, of Chattanooga, which has the contract for building the Carolina, Greenville and Northern, expects to begin the grading this month. The surveys have been completed between Hot Springs N. C., and Estillville, Va., a distance of eighty-three miles.

—A new experiment is being tried at the penitentiary, the working of long term and life convicts outside the prison walls on the railway to Caraleigh. This road is in sight of the prison. There has been no sort of trouble with the convicts, who have worked rapidly and willingly. They will get the road graded before August 1. August 1. Like a Good Conundrum
