HENRY GEORGE'S THEORY.

THE DISCUSSION AT THE LYCEUM LAST NIGHT.

Locke Craig, Esq., Makes The Opening Address—Prof. Claxton and Others Talk—Officers of the Lyceum Elected.

The regular weekly meeting of the Lyceum was held last night in its hall over Nier's. As it was the night for the election of officers, that was the first business transacted. The following were elected:

President—John W. Starves.
First vice-president—Locke Craig.
Second vice-president—W. E. Clegg.
Secretary—Mrs. M. T. Fitch.
Treasurer—Mrs. Emma Clegg.

The installation of officers will take place next Tuesday night.

Col. L. M. Hatch said he had seen some agitation in the newspapers (it was The Citizen) about the formation of a woman's literary club in Asheville. Col. Hatch couldn't see why another literary club should be formed here—why there should be a club for almost every individual in the city—and made a motion that a committee be appointed to confer with the ladies and invite them to join the Lyceum instead of organizing a separate club. The motion carried, and Messrs. Tilman R. Gaines, L. M. Hatch and H. W. Fitch were appointed.

REDUCTION.

SUGAR STOCK DROPPED.

A Decision by Judge Barnard Does the Business.

New York, July 1.—Judge Barnard, sitting in the supreme court, has granted an injunction restraining the payment of a dividend on the stock of the sugar refinery company. When this announcement was made on Wall street, it created a furor in the market. Sugar stock which had sold as high as 83, dropped to 81, and then sold up again to 82 1/2.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S TOUR

A BRILLIANT RECEPTION AT AMSTERDAM TO-DAY.

An Imposing Fleet For the Emperor of Germany to Ponder on the Strength of a Discredited Programme.

LONDON, July 1.—An elaborate and apparently official programme of the Emperor of Germany for his visit to England was published yesterday, and seems to have been somewhat premature, or else the programme was prepared without consulting his imperial majesty and this may have angered the young ruler of Germany. In any case, the newspapers of this city say today that they are authorized to announce that the programme is incorrect. But the real reason for today's announcement is that the emperor has a peremptory telegram to some person in high authority here, probably the German ambassador, objecting to having all his movements arranged for him and requesting that certain meetings should be left free for his own disposition.

AMSTERDAM, July 1.—The flotilla escorting the Emperor of Germany and his suite arrived here today, escorted by the Dutch squadron under Vice Admiral De Josselin De Jong. This squadron consists of cruisers Koninklijke Maatschappij, 3,400 tons; Van Galen, 1,400 tons; Johan Willem Friso, 3,400 tons; steel protected cruiser Samura, of Dutch Colonial navy; three armored rams and several armored monitors. The German emperor who was escorted by the imperial yacht Hohenzollern upon landing at the dock here, was received by Queen Wilhelmina Helena, Paulina Mary, who is only 11 years of age and by the young regent Emma, princess of Waldeck and Pyrmont, who was surrounded by a brilliant gathering of cabinet ministers and army officers and municipal and other authorities. Among the ministers present were secretary of state for Foreign Affairs, Jan Kuyper, Baron Macarty, minister of colonies, Col. Bergens, minister of war, and Admiral Dierckx, minister of marine. After the most imposing ceremony of the reception the imperial guests of Holland were escorted to the palace, where they will be entertained during their stay in this city.

At the moment the Emperor William which reveals the amiable side of his character. The Emperor recently took herons to the Salmrander hills on a picnic unknown to her imperial consort. Hearing of it, she ordered her departure the Kaiser took horse and followed the party. When he overtook them he found them enjoying themselves surrounded by hundreds of children, who had looked to the woods. The emperor dismounted from his horse and joined them in their amusements. He arranged the games himself, assisted in running and jumping, and allowed the princes to mix freely with the other children.

FARMERS' LEAGUE.

What the Vermonters Think They Now Want.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., July 1.—The Vermont Farmers' League has adopted this platform:

"First—We are unqualifiedly opposed to class legislation.

"Second—We favor an equal and just system of taxation based upon all real and personal property alike, and we demand of congress a law to provide a graded income tax.

"Third—We demand strict economy in expenses of state government, with salaries of officials to correspond with the financial condition of taxpayers.

"Fourth—We favor a sound and sufficient currency.

"Fifth—We demand a free vote and fair count for every voter, and the adoption of the Australian system of voting for the whole state.

"Sixth—We favor a universal compulsory common school education, after a reasonable period, as a condition of suffrage.

"Seventh—We demand a rigid limitation of all monopolies, especially such as speculate in farm and food products.

"Eighth—We demand just and equitable freight and passenger rates on all railroads.

"Ninth—We favor the prohibition of intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

"Tenth—We favor the restriction of alien ownership of lands and immigration of criminals and paupers."

LOOKS CONDUCTED.

That's the Matter With Baltimore County's Treasury.

BALTIMORE, July 1.—Baltimore county is struggling with a mathematical problem. Six months ago several accountants were engaged to examine the books in the county treasurer's office. It was said at the time that they were in a mixed condition, and the experts now report that rumor told the truth, and that the information thus furnished they present a bill for $2,500.

That is not all. The accountants in their report say that they have not completed their work in its entirety, and ask for more time for the continuation of the payment of $10 per day each until they may have finished satisfactorily to themselves. Now the taxpayers are asking the commissioners to explain what benefits the county will derive from this outlay, and the commissioners in conversation are figuring on it.

For a long time it has been believed that business in the treasurer's office was loosely conducted.

Don't go home cross on account of headache. Brayeroline will cure it.

IN A CAMP OF MOURNING.

BURIAL OF STRIKERS KILLED BY NEGROES.

The Military Necessary at the Funerals—More Serious Trouble is Feared—The Original Cause of the Strike.

FRANKLIN, Wash., July 1.—Yesterday was a day of quietness and mourning in the camp of the strikers. The funerals of four men killed in Sunday's riot occupied nearly the entire day, services being held here in the morning and the interment being at Black Diamond, four miles distant in the afternoon.

Everywhere the miners in the camp marched in the procession, an escort of military being furnished to protect them while passing through Black camp. A patrol was also put on the flats to protect the homes of the white miners during their absence as the negroes had threatened to seize the first opportunity of "cleaning out" the homes of the strikers. Four hundred of them stood behind the lines of soldiers while the bodies were being placed on the flat cars for transportation to Black Diamond, but not a word was spoken on either side.

Reports from New Castle, Black Diamond and Gilman lead the authorities to fear more trouble before long. There are now nearly two hundred negroes at New Castle, the number taken there Sunday having been quietly augmented since.

The strikers have done nothing yet, but are expected to be making secret preparations for some decisive move.

A special train is being kept at Franklin ready to move the troops to New Castle, thirty miles away, at a moment's notice. At Black Diamond where the miners first struck, six weeks ago, it was not because of any dissatisfaction with the Black Diamond Coal company, but because of sympathy with the miners who had been driven out by the negroes taken into Franklin by the Oregon Improvement company, and it was supposed the men would return to work on a soon after the strike was over. A week ago the miners agreed to return to work upon the old terms, but yesterday they notified the superintendent that if they returned the miners' union must have the employing and discharging of all the men. This the superintendent refused to accede to and immediately posted a notice that any white man who should want work might secure it whether he belonged to the union or not.

Black Diamond is only a short distance from Franklin, and the camps will probably join forces in fighting the two corporations.

At Gilman the home guards composed of miners are drilling daily. The Seattle coal and grain company has been sending up a few non-union miners daily, but they have been met at the train by a large body of armed men. A large force of guards and deputy sheriffs are at Gilman for the purpose of protecting all who wish to work, but out of a hundred men sent only eight or ten have dared to strike, and they have a strong guard protecting them day and night.

It is thought the company will take in several hundred men tomorrow, protected by a company now assembled in the armory at Seattle and that the military guard will be maintained until the strikers give up the conflict. A large number of rifles had been shipped to Gilman from Tacoma. It is thought that within the next forty-eight hours every coal mining camp in this country will be manned by non-union miners working under the protection of the national guard. It is feared that a serious trouble will be the result at all of these places, as there are over one thousand strikers who will see in the introduction of negro and non-union labor the disappearance of their last hope of employment in the mines of King county.

Two Refusals by the Pope.

ROME, July 1.—The Pope has written to Cardinal Gibbons declaring that he will never concede the demands made by Herr Cahensy on behalf of the Saint Raphael societies for the protection of Catholic emigrants in so far as the appointment of national bishops is concerned. The pope has also refused the petition of the Poles in the United States for the appointment of a Polish bishop.

De Lesseps III.

PARIS, July 1.—The health of M. De Lesseps has been greatly affected by the criminal proceedings instituted against the officers and directors of the Panama canal company by the French government. M. De Lesseps' family is extremely anxious as to the outcome of the attack of nervous depression from which the veteran engineer is suffering.

Revolution Squelched.

BURENAS AYLES, July 1.—The revolution which broke out in Catamarca, as announced Thursday last, when the provincial government was overthrown and a provisional government established, has been suppressed and the regular provincial government has been re-established in power.

LIFE IN NORTH CAROLINA.

The Teacher's Assembly at Morehead passed a resolution adopting "The War for Southern Independence" as its permanent name for the struggle of 1861-5 between the States.

Miss Kate Williams sold her painting Saturday for the next little sum of $75,000—friends and members of the Y. M. C. A. being in the majority. The picture will grace a favorable position in their hall. Miss Williams left Saturday night for New York, where it is hoped she will meet with like success.—Saturday correspondence Charlotte Chronicle.

Three miles west of Durham, in sight of the North Carolina Railroad, in an unpretentious cabin, where Johnston met Sherman more than a quarter of a century ago, an arrangement with him the details of his surrender to him. The historic cabin is now owned by B. L. Duke, of Durham, who contemplates having it taken to the Chicago World's Fair for exhibition.

An old and experienced gentleman said today that Winston and Charlotte were two of the most prosperous cities in the South. Both alive with the spirit of enterprise and now going ahead with careful and rapid strides. The same gentleman spoke very complimentary of Asheville, but said that in point of business interest either of the towns would far excel her.—Winston correspondence Charlotte Chronicle.

Like a Good Conundrum

is life, because everybody must give it up! But you needn't be in a hurry about it! Life is worth the living! To prolong it, is worth your untiring effort! Don't give up without calling to your rescue that grand old family medicine, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Many a worn-out, exhausted body has it made over good as new! It strengthens, builds up, invigorates, assisting nature, and not violating it. Cures liver disease, indigestion, and all blood taints and humors. Sure and lasting benefit guaranteed, or money refunded. All drug stores.

A LOST ENGLISHMAN.

He Arrived Last Tuesday With $10,000.

New York, June 30.—Among the twenty-three cabin passengers who landed from the steamship Tower Hill when she arrived at her dock in Brooklyn on Tuesday last was Charles Warner, a young English chemist from Devonshire.

He intended to embark in business with his brother Thomas, who is engaged in the manufacture of an antiseptic fluid at 10 East Fifteenth street, under the name of T. P. Clayton & Co. Thomas called on Inspector Byrnes on Wednesday last and asked his assistance in finding Charles, who, he said, had not been seen since he left the Tower Hill. He had with him $10,000 in cash, which he expected to take with T. P. Clayton & Co. Thomas has been here ten weeks, and has made money out of his business. He says he fears that Charles may have been murdered for his money by some one to whom he injudiciously imparted that he had it. A letter had been written to Charles telling him the address, his brother's place of business and his residence, 322 West Seventeenth street.

A general alarm was sent out for the missing man last night. He is 24 years old, about 5 1/2 feet in height, and has large blue eyes, dark hair, and light mustache. He is well dressed. At the ship Purser Barham said Mr. Warner had friends within a few days after leaving London with a man named Rowland. Rowland was tall, light haired, had a thin mustache and wore eyeglasses.

He said he was a surveyor and twenty-four years old, but he looked older. The two were constantly together on the ship, and it was agreed that on arrival they should take lodgings together. No one else on the ship supposed that either had very much money. On going ashore Warner went to the Sandersons, agents for the ship, and asked if any letter awaited him. He was surprised to find none, and said his brother was to have written there telling him where to go on arrival. Then he returned to the ship to see if any letter had come there, but none had come.

Later his brother came to the ship and said the letter was awaiting Warner at another place, of which Warner had not notified. He was told that Hendrickson, an expression of 217 Atlantic avenue, had carried away Charles Warner's luggage.

The last seen of the missing man by any of the crew was on Thursday night when a number of them were in Anchor Hill's place in Farnam street. Warner and Rowland came in there together, and Warner treated them all. Warner drank very moderately while on the ship. It is supposed that the money Warner had with him was on Bank of England notes.—Baltimore Sun.

ANOTHER AIRSHIP.

It Races $500, But Not Itself Very Much.

COLUMBUS, July 1.—Monday afternoon Prof. Campbell had advertised that he and his great airship, "The Wonder of the Scientific World," would leave the baseball grounds and sail away to Toledo, which point he expected to reach before 6 o'clock, the distance being 124 miles. He said the balloon would travel seventy miles an hour. A crowd gathered at the grounds. An admission fee of twenty-five cents was charged. The professor must have realized about $500 from the gate receipts.

The great airship was inflated, but for a long time refused to rise over ten or twelve feet. Campbell in a little car beneath working his paddles. The crowd yelled, "Fate, take us your own way back," and, for a little while it looked as though Campbell would be mobbed. The police, however, kept the crowd back, and when the balloon took in a little more gas it floated away with the professor for about one mile east of the city, when it came down and Campbell reached the earth safely. The professor announces his determination to try it again.

THE STATEVILLE "BANTER."

It Appears to Have Reached Conclusion.

NEW HAVEN, July 1.—Manager Sinclair of New York, opened a dime museum at 92 Church street, and advertised on lamp posters that the greatest novelties of the world were to be seen inside, including a "tailed Saragor," discovered by Stanley in Africa, and an exposure of spiritualism. About 500 persons invested their dimes and went in. They found the famous "tailed Saragor" to be simply a wooden image. The indignation of the crowd knew no bounds, and an attempt was made to mob Manager Sinclair. He fled down the street. While part of the crowd pursued him, the rest started to clean up the show. A detachment of police rescued the fleeing manager and restored order at the museum.
