OUR STOCK OF GROCERIES
IS LIKE A RUNNING STREAM.
Hundreds Take From It,
Yet it is never diminished.

This of course, is because there is a never failing spring of supply that feeds the stream. Sluggish streams stagnate, so do sluggish groceries. They become musty, sour and stale and unfit for use. The movement here is quick; new things coming and going. We use modern methods and buy what we can sell before getting stale and pride ourselves in having a fresh stock to select from at all times.

BLOODY SCENE AT THE JAIL

UNRULY CONVICT ATTACKS OVERSEER WHITE.

The Overseer, in Self Defense, Shoots the Prisoner in the Left Side—Several Persons are Bruised in the Melee.

There was a bloody scene at the county jail on Eagle street this morning.

And as a result one man lies at death's door, while two others are suffering from severe bruises.

About 7 o'clock this morning people in the vicinity of the jail were startled by two reports of a pistol following each other in rapid succession.

This told of trouble at the county bastile, and rumors of every imaginable sort were soon afloat, to the effect that the prisoners had assaulted and overpowered the jailor and were escaping, that several had been killed and that the residents near were in terror.

The news spread rapidly and when THE CITIZEN arrived at the jail large crowds were surrounding the enclosure, discussing the trouble.

Entering the yard and going in the jail building proper, THE CITIZEN found a half dozen officers in the corridor surrounding the cell, while sitting on top of the cell was a negro man, armed with a murderous looking club, and defying the officers.

At this time Deputy Sheriff Morgan and officer Sams, of the police force, arrived, and going near the negro, commanded him to surrender.

The negro then dropped his club, and allowed himself to be hauled down.

How it Occurred.

The cause which led up to this scene was as follows:

This morning about 7 o'clock, H. H. White, overseer of the convicts in the county chain gang, went to the jail for the purpose of getting the men ready to go to their work, northwest of the city, near the French Broad.

Mr. White had had considerable trouble with one of the convicts, Wilson Murthee, a negro, in getting him to work. Murthee, had, Mr. White says, been insolent and shirking for several days, and he had finally told him on yesterday that he would punish him by whipping this morning before they went to their work.

With this end in view Mr. White and Jailer Jamison entered the corridor this morning at the hour named, and, unlocking the door of the big double cell in the center of the jail where the prisoners are kept, brought Murthee into the corridor.

Mr. White demanded of Murthee that he remove his coat and vest and submit to the chastisement. The prisoner made as if he would obey, but kept retreating until out of Mr. White's reach, all the time unbuttoning his vest.

A Terrible Fight.

Suddenly, with a curse, he ran his hand into his pocket and jerking out an open pocket knife sprang upon Mr. White. He made several passes at the overseer, cutting him once on the head, just above the left ear, and hitting him a stunning blow in the eye.

Then, seeing that the negro, now half-crazy with rage, was intent upon killing him, Mr. White pulled out the pistol he was carrying and shot at Murthee, aiming at his leg.

The ball did not strike the negro, but only passed through the clothing. Even this did not stop the negro, and he sprang at Mr. White again, and the officer fired the second time, the ball entering the negro's body on the left side, about midway between the shoulder and hip.

All this had happened in much less time than it takes to relate it. Jailor Jamison ran to Mr. White's assistance.

Instead of submitting after receiving the wound, the negro began a fiercer fight than ever. He caught up a plank which was lying in the corridor, and struck everything that came in his reach.

Mr. White received a heavy blow across the left hand, and Jailor Jamison was given a terrible blow in the left side, breaking one rib and almost disabling him. He was also struck on the leg.

At Bay.

Finally, however, Murthee dropped the plank and climbed to the top of the cell by the iron lattice work of the outer cell. He had secured a ten-foot pole which had been used in the building by Jailor Jamison's family in hanging out clothes.

Then from his perch above the heads of the officers, Murthee cursed and defied them to take him.

Several city police arrived about this time, but as they could not bring the negro down without shooting him, he was left alone until the arrival of Deputy Sheriff Morgan, who, deputizing the other officers, brought Murthee down as stated above.

During the melee consternation reigned in the jail. The county prisoners stood huddled together in the cell within a few feet and saw the terrible fight in which their fellow prisoner was engaged, while the thoroughly infuriated negro's curses could be plainly heard outside the jail yard.

After quiet had been restored the prisoners were taken out, searched, and sent to work. Murthee was taken into the cell and placed on a mattress, and Dr. Weaver, county physician, sent for.

Dr. Weaver made an examination of the wounded man, but did not probe the wound, concluding to wait until the reaction set in. A further examination will be made late this afternoon or tonight. Dr. Weaver is of the opinion that the man will die, though his strong constitution may enable him to recover.

Says He Found the Knife.

Sheriff Reynolds went down to the jail as soon as he heard of the occurrence, and talked with Murthee. The negro, groaning in agony all the while, told the sheriff that he had found the knife, which is an ordinary double-bladed one, with one three-inch blade, in the yard of the jail on Monday, and had had it secreted ever since that time.

Murthee is a short, very muscular negro, and has been regarded as the most dangerous man in the chain gang. He was sentenced at the last term of the criminal court, to four years at hard labor on the county roads, for stealing from Vanderbilt's store at Biltmore. He is an ex-convict, and came from the eastern part of the state. He is about 30 years old.

Jailer Jamison's hurt in the side is a serious one, and he can scarcely walk. Mr. White, besides the cut in the head, received a blow on the left hand which is very painful, and also several blows in the eye and on the nose. None of his injuries are considered serious, however.

Mr. White was Right.

Some doubts have been expressed as to Overseer White's authority to chastise the prisoners in his charge.

In this connection it may be stated that by the authority of the road law passed by the last session of the legislature, the prisoners sentenced to work in the chain gang are governed precisely as are the convicts in the state penitentiary. The rules laid out and observed in the "pen" give overseers the power to administer punishment to refractory prisoners. This will set to rest any doubt about Mr. White's authority, as Murthee has been unusually unruly and insolent for several days past.

Rather Die than Submit.

Sheriff Reynolds went down to the jail again this afternoon and talked to Murthee. In reply to the sheriff's question why he made the assault Murthee said he "would rather die than be whipped."

PARNELL BEATEN AGAIN.

CARLOW WENT THREE TO ONE AGAINST HIM.

This Was His Stronghold, And He Now Has Nothing Left to Fall Back On, as He Himself Said.

DUBLIN, July 8.—The result of the election held yesterday at Carlow for a successor in parliament to the late O'Gorman Mohan has resulted in a crushing defeat for the Parnellite candidate in the district which Parnell admitted was his stronghold and where, he said, if he was defeated he would admit that he had nothing left to fall back upon in political life.

The result of the election as announced today was as follows: Hammond, McCarthyite candidate 3,755; Kettle, Parnellite 1,539; majority against Kettle 2,216.

Carlow is the smallest county in Ireland and contains a population of 45,000 people and an electorate of about 7,000, of whom 1,000 are conservatives. Andrew Kettle, the defeated Parnellite candidate, is a farmer of Dublin county who has already been twice defeated at the polls. Hammond, the victorious McCartyite candidate, is a popular merchant of Carlow who, for twelve years past has held the position of chairman of the town commissioners.

THE SERVIA'S PASSENGERS.

Some of Them Take Other Steamers and Try It Again.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Prince George, of Greece, and his party on their return to this city last night after their unsuccessful attempt to get to Europe on the Cunard line steamer Servia, secured passage on the Inman line steamer City of New York and sailed on her at 7 o'clock this morning. There were in all thirty of the Servia's passengers on board the City of New York, and five who had sailed on the Servia made a second start this morning on the White Star line Britania.

The Servia was brought up to her pier from her anchorage off Robbin's reef and the passengers who still remained on board landed shortly before 10 o'clock. The majority of them immediately hastened to the Cunard company's office, which was thronged with the passengers who had landed last night. The officers of the company informed the passengers that if they wished they could remain here or be forwarded to Boston, in either case at the company's expense, and sail on the first steamer leaving these ports. If they chose the money paid for their tickets on the Servia would be refunded and they could then sail by any other line. A very large number of Americans who sailed on the Servia for the summer trip to Europe have abandoned their purpose and will return home.

MATTER OF $450,000.

A Big Suit Against Knoxville Decided for the City.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 8.—In the chancery court the chancellor decided adversely the suit of Mrs. Margaret Shields against the Riverside Improvement company.

This suit has attracted much interest locally as some $450,000 worth of property in West Knoxville was involved. Mrs. Shields, thirty-seven years ago, when a married woman and under 21 years of age joined her husband in conveying the property. She sought to repudiate that conveyance, relying on the statute to protect female minors who were married. The chancellor overruled every point of the plaintiff and held that the statute of 1852 of peaceable possession was a bar to her recovery. The case will go to the supreme court.

THE ITATA.

Her Officers to be Released—The Case Against the Vessel Only.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 8.—United States marshal Guard says he will seize the Itata today. The officers of the Itata offer to pay the $500 penalty for sailing without clearance papers and it is reported here that orders have been received from Washington to accept it and discharge Officers Mansen and Tijida.

The United States district attorney is now preparing papers upon three charges—first, clearing without proper papers; second, kidnapping a deputy United States marshal; third, violating the neutrality law. He will take possession of the Itata immediately upon her release by the custom officers. He says the action is against the vessel not against the men. Officers Mansen and Tijida went to Los Angeles yesterday to consult with their attorney.

Drew Will be Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Bank Examiner W. P. Drew, of Philadelphia, has not come out of the recent investigation unscathed. His resignation has been requested by Comptroller Lacy, and, although the request was made on July 2, no answer has yet been received, much to the surprise of the Treasury officials. If Mr. Drew does not send in his resignation his dismissal from the service will necessarily follow.

Montana Won.

MORRIS PARK, N. Y., July 8.—The fact that the Lorrillard stakes, worth $17,580 to winner, was to be decided here yesterday, would, it was thought, attract a large crowd, but only 5,000 persons saw Marcus Daly's colt, Montana, by Ban Fox Queen, gallop away with the rich prize from Strathmeath, Passara, and five other 3-year-olds.

Suspicious of Each Other.

SEATTLE, Wash. July 8.—An attempt to bring about a voluntary disarmament at the mines has proved a failure. Each party suspects that the other is not acting in good faith, and as a consequence very few arms are being surrendered. Work is proceeding at Gilman, New Castle and Franklin, but nothing is doing at Black Diamond.

AN ANTE-BELLUM FOURTH

RALEIGH'S CELEBRATION RESEMBLED IT.

Politics Become More Sensible—A Great Crowd and No Accidents—The Oration—The Races—Fine Display of Fireworks.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 6.—The national anniversary, as it was celebrated here on Saturday, resumed some of its old ante-bellum characteristics, and enkindled again, if less brightly than before, some of the old flame of patriotism. For a long time the southern people have been willing to let the occasion fall into "innocuous desuetude." It was mockery to celebrate the achievement of liberties apparently lost, or insultingly transfered to the former servile race, who celebrated their change of condition with jubilant insolence, not yet quite toned down to well balanced moderation.

But of late affairs have changed for the better. Politics have become more sensible, sentiment more just, national feeling more evenly diffused, a common interest more generally recognized, mutual confidence more strongly re-established, and the prevalent sentiment is a proud and secure one that the American people have one country and a common flag.

I cannot say that there was much exultation manifested here in the recognition of those latter facts. The blows received by the south were too heavy and too recent to be forgotten at once. Nevertheless they are healing; and the patriot might have looked on with pleasure at the striking manifestations of revived love of country in the profuse display of the national flag, in the crowds of the new generation to whom the past is only a history, whose experience is unalloyed with bitter memories and whose present and whose future is all brightness.

Everybody Out.

The procession was not as splendid as was expected, because the military and the farmers drum corps were absent. The Durham band, a fairly good one, headed the line. The carriages with the clergy, orator, readers, judges of the supreme court, the press, and certain honored guests among whom I was numbered, came next, and the whole was closed with the fine fire companies with their equipments. Of this department Raleigh is very justly proud. The day was a very beautiful one, cool and cloudless, and everybody who could get out crowded the streets and swelled the crowd.

A place was prepared for the orator at the west front of the capitol a temporary platform being extended from the portico. The large audience were scattered under the shade of the trees, and kept cool, if not comfortable; for every one had a stand except the few invited to the platform. Here, at the time fixed, the exercises commenced, after prayer by Dr. Carter, with the reading by Mr. Charles J. Merrimon, son of Hon. A. S. Merrimon, of the Mecklenburg declaration, prefaced by a well conceived introduction. Then Capt. Denson, with an eloquent introduction read the immortal Declaration of Independence in a voice so full and manner so impressive as to give that hackneyed document new claims to reverence and admiration. The orator of the day was Capt. Thomas W. Mason, now one of the railroad commissioners. He spoke without notes, with fluent utterance, animated gesture and with impressive force. His speech was woven round the central sentiment of patriotism, eloquently handled and finely illustrated. It is too fine as well as too long a speech to be treated of in a brief letter. It is well reported in the Raleigh papers, and extracts from it may be republished with profit to the county.

The Races.

All day long trains were running out to the Fair grounds to witness the races advertised. I went out at 2 p. m. and found a gay gathering of three or four thousand people, watching the occasional trials of speed in harness and under the saddle, but which were too far between to engage my interest. Some thirty or forty entries were made. I cannot say that the affair was a failure; it certainly was not in the eyes of those most interested; but I confess to indifference from the absence of continuity and also of enthusiasm.

The Greatest Attraction.

The switch back railroad with double track, and swift flying cars, seemed to be more attractive than anything on the grounds. Their starting point is elevated about fifteen feet above the ground, and after abrupt descent, they rise in the centre to about the same heighth, then again descend, and again rise to their goal. The whole run is about 150 yards and is made with swiftness, and must be very exciting to those who make it.

The day was closed with a display of fire works on the front of the capitol square looking down Fayetteville street. These things are always well done here, and the whole population was out as spectators. Not only were balconies and sidewalks filled, but the streets themselves were packed. No vehicles were allowed on the streets, and from side to side the open spaces were piled with chairs or benches or dry goods boxes. It was a promiscuous jam of all ages, sexes, conditions and colors; and probably there were six or eight thousand spectators in the immediate vicinity of the capitol.

A Surpassing Display.

The display of fireworks was splendid, surpassing anything I ever saw. One of the most beautiful was the national roman candle, throwing up a great shower of silver stars which, as they ascend, throw out stars of every color of the rainbow. The "national candle" throw out stars red, white and blue so rapidly and brilliantly that the air seemed filled with the national colors. "The Devil among the tailors" and the "Dragon's tests" are similar in their effects, throwing up fountains of exploding electric stars, which high up in the air, take the form of forty dragons spiritual attacking and chasing each other, crossing and re-crossing in showers of angry sparks. One of the most beautiful objects of all was the willow tree rockets, which ascended the height of several hundred feet and then burst, and unfolded into curving, slowly descending streams of golden cords which gracefully intertwined and with gentle waving and gradually expanding lines, retained their splendor until they almost touched the ground.

During the whole day not a mishap occurred.

Personal.

This morning the remains of young Seaton Gales reached here for interment. He was the son of Seaton Gales, former editor of the old Raleigh Register, and a leading Odd Fellow. Young Gales was living in Peoria, Illinois, and gave promise of a very useful life. He was drowned while bathing in the river near near Peoria on Thursday last.

Mr. C. M. Busbee is thought to show a slight improvement in his condition.

DEMOCRATS OUSTED.

A Supreme Court Decision Lands Them on the Sidewalk.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 8.—As a result of the decision of the Supreme court Friday last in ousting the recently elected democratic town council of Lincoln on the tissue ballot issue the republicans stormed the town house yesterday afternoon, forced the doors and elected their officers. The town clerk Smith refused to give up the records pending the production of the certificate of election of his successor and awaiting the arrival of some one to break open the vault.

HERE ARE TOO BIG FIRES.

ONE IN NEW YORK; THE OTHER IN QUEBEC.

The New York Fire is In a Car Barn Building—A Convent Burning and Will Be a Total Loss.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Fire broke out about 12 o'clock today in the Sixth avenue car stables at Sixth avenue and 43rd street. Three alarms were sent out, but the fire gained headway so rapidly that a fourth alarm was sent out for furthur assistance.

ST HILAIRE, Que., July 8.—The convent of La Providence, commonly known as that of sister Gadbors, situated on the Richeliau river below Beloil, is on fire and will probably be a total loss.

DEATH CAME AT ONCE.

The Killing at Sing Sing Was a "Success."

SING SING, July 8.—The approximate time of the turning on of current in the killing of the murderers here yesterday was: Slocum, 4:40; Smiler, 5:10; Wood, 5:30; Jugiro, 6:05.

The prisoners had received some information beforehand that the executions were to take place in the morning and they were prepared for them. They went to the execution chair bravely and met their fate without resisting the keepers when they were bound down in the chair.

The electrodes were not applied as in the Kemmler case to the top of the skull and base of the spine; but were bound to the foreheads of the condemned men and the calves of their legs. The current was turned on in each case for twenty seconds and the voltage was about 1,500 and 1,700. In each case were apparent evidences of revival, as in the Kemmler case, and in each of these four cases the current was turned on the second time. In spite of the fact that the sponges were kept constantly wet, all of the executed men were burned by the current, and especially about the calves of the legs. The medical men present agree that death came on the first contact, and that the seeming revival was merely reflex muscular action.

None of the witnesses were overcome by fright, and all of them who have spoken have made the statement that the electrodes were successful and that death in all cases was instantaneous and painless.

Killed Instantly.

CLEVELAND, Tenn., July 8.—This morning Rev. James Johnson, who lives about eight miles from the city on the Browder road, started to town on a mule. After mounting, his wife handed him a tin bucket at which the mule took fright and ran away, throwing Mr. Johnson, and reports says he was killed almost instantly, his skull being crushed.

Make a Note of It.

Read it over and over again, spell it out and sing it, until it is indelibly fixed in your mind, that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is an infallible cure for chronic catarrh of the head, with all its distressing complications. Impaired taste and smell, offensive breath, ringing noises in the head, defective hearing, nose and throat ailments, are not only relieved, but positively and permanently cured! This is no fancy of the imagination, but a hard; solid fact, proven over and over again, and vouched for, under a forfeiture of $500, by its manufacturers, the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo N.
