This water is almost entirely free from organic matter, showing only very slight traces of iron, sulphur and lime. The water is very excellent in all respects. OUR STOCK OF

GROCERIES

IS LIKE A RUNNING STREAM.

Hundreds Take From It,

Yet it is never diminished.

This, of course, is because there is a never failing spring of supply that feeds the stream. Sluggish streams stagnate, so do sluggish groceries. They become musty, sour and stale and unfit for use. The movement here is quick; new things coming and going. We use modern methods and buy what we can sell before getting stale and pride ourselves in having a fresh stock to select from at all times.

HON. WM. T. CRAWFORD.

HE TALKS TO THE CITIZEN ON PUBLIC MATTERS.

The Speakership—The Silver Question—The Tariff—The Third Party, and Other Things Discussed in an Informal Way.

Hon. W. T. Crawford arrived in Asheville yesterday from Waynesville, and delivered a short address before the teachers' institute today.

Mr. Crawford is in fine health and spirits, and tips the beam at 190 pounds. Since the adjournment of congress he has been spending his time at his home, reading a general course of literature, particular attention being paid to the more important measures that will probably come before congress at its ensuing session, and upon which he will be called to act.

In an informal talk with THE CITIZEN last night, Congressman Crawford said that in addition to his reading, a considerable portion of his time had been spent in attending to his correspondence, which was quite heavy, particularly in this district. The applications for appointment to positions have not been so numerous of late, he said. This is due to the fact that they are finding out that a democratic congressman can do but little in the way of securing positions with all the departments at Washington and the White House filled by republicans.

The Speakership. When asked as to who he thought would likely be chosen speaker of the next house, Mr. Crawford said it would be difficult to say with anything like accuracy, but, said he, "there will be no difficulty in finding some one who is willing to take the place. I have given no pledges in this matter." Mr. Crawford said "I do not believe in a man pledging himself in advance upon a matter of this character. Many things may transpire between this time and the assembling of congress which might make it necessary to vote for a man whom I may not now prefer, and who may not then be my personal choice. In fact," said he, "I shall vote for the man I deem best qualified for the place."

Mr. Crawford spoke of his high regard for Judge Crisp, and also for Mr. Mills, but said he was under no obligation to vote for either. One thing may be said, however, with certainty, and that is that Mr. Crawford will vote for a Southern man, speaker, other things being equal.

The Silver Question.

Mr. Crawford is very decidedly of the opinion that the trend of public sentiment at this time is towards the passage of a free silver coinage bill by the incoming congress, and he will vote for the measure. As to the exact provisions of the bill, he said no one could speak with precision at this date. He thinks that not only will the house pass a silver bill, but he is just as sure that the senate will concur, and equally certain that President Harrison will veto it. "Such action," said he, "will force the silver issue in the next presidential fight, as all platforms are practically made by congress, the members of which come straight from the people."

The Tariff.

Mr. Crawford thinks the tariff will be early brought before congress at the coming session, and that a bill will be introduced and passed. "And that bill," said he, "will go a step beyond the Mills bill in the reduction of duties. When the Morrison bill was introduced," said Mr. Crawford, "it created a great howl, and by reason of its sweeping reductions, and yet the Mills bill went far beyond the Morrison bill, and even the Mills bill would not satisfy the public sentiment of today on this important question."

The Third Party.

"I do not think there will be any third party," said Mr. Crawford. "In fact, there will be no necessity for it, if the democratic party satisfies the Farmers' alliance on the silver question. As to the tariff," said he, "the democrats and the alliance are one, and from present indications it would seem as if there can be no doubt but that the national democratic platform will satisfy every reasonable demand on the coinage of silver."

Speaking of the contest in Ohio between Governor Campbell and Major McKinley, Mr. Crawford thought that if Mr. Campbell should be elected it would almost certainly lead to his nomination for the presidency by the democrats. The opposition of the Cincinnati democrats, however, and their failure to allow Campbell's nomination to be made unanimous, necessarily made the success of the democratic ticket a matter of grave doubt in Ohio.

"Governor Campbell is a splendid man," said Mr. Crawford, "and will make a gallant fight, but it looks now as if he would have to get considerable help from the farmers on the free silver plank of his platform if he is to pull through."

Mr. Crawford will return home in the morning, and during the next few weeks will give a considerable portion of his time towards interesting the people of Haywood in getting up a creditable display of her products of wood, minerals, fruits and other crops for exhibition at the exposition at Raleigh this fall.

A GOOD MOVE.

W. N. C. Educational Association Organized.

At 8:30 this morning the teachers in attendance at the Buncombe county institute organized an association for the purpose of better promoting the cause of education in the western counties of the state.

The officers are as follows: President, John W. Starnes, Asheville, N. C.; Secretary, Prof. Walter Hurst, Barnardsville, N. C.; Treasurer, Prof. D. S. Ellis, Fairview, N. C.; Vice-Presidents, the county superintendents of the thirteen counties west of the Blue Ridge.

These county superintendents are to be presidents of their county associations, all of which are to be tributary to the W. N. C. Association. The whole plan of this organization will be given later. It is intended now that the W. N. C. Association shall hold annual meetings, the county meetings to be held at times agreed to by them.

SCHOOL OF METHODS.

Work of Today—To Help the Negro—A Funny Alabamian.

Mrs. Richard Webb, of Savannah, Ga., conducted the devotional exercises, in the W. C. T. U. school of methods, laying before the workers the question: "Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?" Her gentle exhortations were convincing for the necessity of the visitation of the Spirit before a blessing may be expected on any human effort in the Lord's work.

The next subject taken up was work among the colored people along the evangelistic line. Mrs. J. E. Ray, of Asheville superintendent of this department for the assembly, presented a well digested, practical method of evangelization adapted to all needs. First of all, it is necessary that this work shall be done by colored people. So Mrs. Ray endeavored to have the co-operation of the negro clergy, and for this purpose secured the official sanction of the board of bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal church. Her plans also have the endorsement of Dr. J. C. Price, of the African Zion church, Bishop Halser, of the colored Methodist Episcopal church, and Bishop Turner, of the A. M. E. church.

The plan is to have a home and foreign national and international, the women will be invited to come to a parliamentary drill and see if they cannot learn something.

Miss Slack followed with kindergarten work, surprising every one by showing the proficiency which the fingers of the babies may attain by a step-by-step development and application of the powers of observation.

The class in vocal culture was in the hands of Miss Griffin at 4 p. m. today. Tonight at 8:30 o'clock Miss Frances E. Griffin, a life time resident of Montgomery, Ala., will address the public. The prominent southern woman belongs to an Alabama family of distinction who helped to begin the history of the state. Somebody said in Texas last spring, "Well, misfortunes never come singly and Texas has the legs, the hocks, the small pox and measles, and all at once." The W. C. T. U. always insists that it would be a calamity for Miss Griffin to be as funny as she can. The Asheville people should be on hand in force to find out which side of their mouths Miss Griffin will make them laugh out of.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Rev. A. I. Justice, Prof. McIver and Hon. W. T. Crawford Speak.

There was an interesting time at the Teachers' institute this morning. At the regular hour Rev. A. I. Justice opened with religious services, after which Prof. McIver developed the study of geography and the natural, practical, useful method of teaching it. His presentation of the difficulties which boys and men, too, have in public speaking was both humorous and sensible. He affirmed that no boy or man has been properly educated who cannot stand on his feet and tell any number of people in an intelligent and easy manner anything he knows and wishes to say.

After the morning recess Prof. McIver addressed a house full of people on the relation of the people to education. In this splendid address, all the objections that ignorance and indifference can possibly invent against education by the state, were most completely and fully answered, and if great good was not done, it is the fault of the audience. Hon. W. T. Crawford, of Haywood, next addressed the large audience in his own felicitous manner. It is a strong point made when our statesmen will take the field for public schools. When they all learn that this is the greatest public question of our government, then the public schools will be able to accomplish their mission, and the masses will be educated.

FRANCE-RUSSIAN.

Germany Reads the Like of This With Great Interest.

St. Petersburg, July 24.—A grand banquet was given today at the French embassy in honor of the officers of the visiting French fleet. Grand Duke Alexis, Admiral Gervais, commander of the French squadron, and the Russian ministers of the marine, of the interior, of finance, and of commerce and the assistant foreign minister were present.

The French ambassador toasted the Czar, and Grand Duke Alexis responded by toasting President Carnot and the "gallant French squadron."

A NEGRO COLONY.

It is to be Established in Sonora, Mexico.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—The bureau of the American republics is informed that an association called the "American Colored Men's Mexican Colonization company" is planning to establish a colony of negro farmers, coming chiefly from Mississippi and Tennessee, in the State of Sonora, Mexico, and has arranged for the purchase of a tract of 100,000 acres about twenty miles south of Yuma, Arizona, on the southern Pacific railroad.

Covered or Uncovered Crooked.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 24.—At Mayfield, Ky., Wednesday night an explosion of gun powder partially wrecked Duncan and Long's grocery and set fire to it. The fire was extinguished without serious damage. Long believes that Duncan caused the explosion to cover crooked dealings, and has Duncan under arrest for incendiarism. Duncan came here three weeks ago from Dexter, Tex.

Liberals Win Again.

LONDON, July 24.—An election held yesterday in the Wisbeck division of Cambridgehire for a successor to the late C. W. Selwyn (conservative) resulted in another victory for liberals by 260 majority.

ALL QUIET AT COAL CREEK.

THE POSITION OF THE GOVERNOR OUTLINED.

The Whole Matter of Calling Out the Militia is in a Pickle—The Governor Has the Power Only to Create a Posse.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 24.—There is no change in the situation at Briceville this forenoon. The troops still remain in Knoxville and all is quiet at Coal Creek, and Briceville. Another and final conference will probably be held this afternoon between the Governor and representatives of the miners.

It is known that Governor Buchanan will not, under any circumstances, seriously consider anything which has the appearance of compromising the state.

The opinion of Attorney General Pickle, made public this morning, is that the governor cannot call out the militia but that they may be used as a posse. This complicates the situation as the militia feel they are under no more obligation to serve as a posse than other citizens of the state, and that it is a lowering of the dignity of the military branch of the state service. If the members of the militia all be again ordered to Briceville the question may be raised, and it may possibly become prejudicial to military discipline.

STANDS ON THE PLATFORM.

Gov. Campbell, of Ohio, Talks Politics Briefly.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 24.—Gen. Campbell, of Ohio, was here a day or two ago and was asked in regard to ex-President Cleveland speaking for him: "Will it not be rather embarrassing for him to speak in Ohio in view of the free coinage plank in the platform?"

"Oh, I hardly think so. He will doubtless confine himself to the discussion of the tariff question, and that is the main issue, anyway."

"How will the free coinage plank affect the vote of the party in the state?"

"I think it will make us votes. The Alliance and the people's party have also declared in favor of free coinage. Some of the silver men will vote for the people's party and some will vote the democratic ticket. I do not think it will draw any votes from us."

"I presume that the plank in the platform represents your exact sentiments on the silver question," suggested the reporter.

"Not exactly. I am not going back on the platform, but it is not just as I would have preferred it. The party in the state, you know, is almost evenly divided, the silver plank being adopted by a vote of 400 to 300, and I should have advised a less radical expression. I thought it a mistake to have the question projected so prominently into the campaign, but I acquiesced in the desire of the majority."

"Would you kindly state the position you should have liked the party to take in its platform?"

"I thought the party should have declared in favor of such legislation as would keep both metals in circulation and put them on a parity before the country. But I am standing on the platform of the party," he added.

"Now, Governor," continued the reporter, "the reports from the south indicate that the people down there are not satisfied with Cleveland on account of his stand on the silver question. They need a candidate from a doubtful state, and they have their eyes on you as a representative of the silver wing of the party. Will you—"

"That's very likely," interrupted the Governor, "but if I should not win in Ohio this fall I would not be eligible as a candidate at all. Besides, the silver question may be settled this winter. I am not making any plans beyond this fall's campaign. It is enough to occupy my full attention."

There are some eastern papers, too, that are suggesting Cleveland and Campbell as an alternative ticket, and one that would give both wings of the party representation on the subject of silver. Would you accept the second place?"

"The vice-presidency is not a position that I should think any man would hanker for," answered the Buckeye statesman, dryly.
