

ASHEVILLE DAILY CITIZEN. By RANDOLPH-KERR PRINTING CO. THE DAILY CITIZEN, Democratic, is published every afternoon (except Sunday) at the following rates—strictly cash: ONE YEAR $10.00 SIX MONTHS 5.00 THREE MONTHS 3.00 ONE MONTH 1.00 ONE WEEK .50 THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1891.

There is one way by which the overcrowded public schools can be relieved with very little expense and the situation bettered in every way except as to the hours of work for the teachers. That is by dividing the present session for the lower grades into two, giving the morning session up to one set of scholars and the afternoon to another. This would at once relieve the overcrowding of the Academy street school, for instance, and we believe would be an improvement over the present system of one session for which the younger children are kept in doors far too long for the best results, whether we consider their physical or mental improvement.

In 1886 Hallock county, Tenn., had a feud—that most senseless of all inventions of semi-civilized communities—and the father of Thomas Sutton was shot dead by a family named Barnard. Five Barnards were sentenced to be hanged for this murder and the supreme court affirmed this decision. Chief Justice Turner dissented, however, and on the strength of this all of the five murderers were pardoned outright by Governor Taylor. Of course the Barnards, being thus assured of protection in their chosen calling, went back to their homes again and renewed the "feuding" where it had been dropped pending their temporary seclusion from society. A day or two ago the Suttons and Barnards got together, and Tennessee is short one Barnard and one Sutton, as was of course to be expected. There should of course be no arrests in the case, for Tennessee has declared that neither they nor trials will avail.

A Change Needed.

There are some passages in the Code of the City of Asheville that seem to have escaped the attention of Chief of Police McDowell, the mayor and the police committee from the aldermen, W. T. Reynolds, J. H. McDaniel and I. M. Guldger. They will thank us for calling their attention to these.

From section 770.

A policeman shall not stop, nor bother, nor talk with any person except in the discharge of his duty.

That this regulation is violated frequently is a matter of daily observation. Members of the police force stop and bother and loiter and chat with suitors their personal convenience. Here is rule 9 of section 784 bearing directly on this neglect of duty:

"Patrolmen must not walk together, or talk with each other, or with any person on their routes, while on duty, unless it be to communicate information pertaining to the department or in the line of their duty, and such communications must be as brief as possible; they must not stand still, but constantly patrol their routes."

Disregard of this rule is open, and frequent. "Rule 20—No member of the department shall, while on duty, drink any kind of intoxicating liquors, enter any place in which intoxicating drinks are sold or furnished, except in the immediate performance of his duty."

THE CITIZEN does not know of its own knowledge that this rule is violated by policemen. It is informed on what it believes is competent authority that policemen have loitered in certain saloons and also demanded "free drinks" therein.

"Rule 27—No policeman shall be permitted to smoke in any manner upon the streets, in daylight, while on duty, and for so doing shall be fined one dollar for each and every offense and be liable to suspension."

This rule—a good one—is violated daily with no attempt at concealment. These are some violations of the police rules that it is charitable to believe, must have escaped the attention of those most concerned or there would have been a reform before now. There can be no further excuse for lack of discipline on the part of the chief of police and we hope to see a marked change at once in the direction where change is plainly needed as here with pointed out.

A "TOURIST'S" VIEWS.

He, Like "The Citizen," Wants Everybody to Have a Chance. ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 8, 1891.

DEAR SIR—You are using to much thought when you say the city should exclude the teams from the Public Square, it is the only life your city has to see them seclusion in your city and it is a treat to buy a few Peaches of them Mountain men and to get a peep at your country girls, it is certainly a treat to see the stock your country man can get up it is the only life your city has to see them two year old calves hitched to a load of melons. So stop commenting a bout your Bone & sine of your country they must live they must be allowed to sell their stuff to the Tourist as they pass a long your street their little Peaches must be sold so they can buy some Gritze for the little ones at home they make a mighty country when they grow up to man years Tourist.

He Had it in Him.

From the Chicago Tribune. The phenologist ran his hands rapidly over the boy's head, reflected a moment and tried it again, but more slowly. "Well, professor," said the boy's father, "what calling do you find him best fitted for?"

"Judging from his cranial development," replied the phenologist, "making it as gently as he could, 'I think he would make a good parachute jumper.'"

"Despite not the day of small things," as the tin pill (taken from a vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pills) said to the 200-pound man, suffering from indigestion. As a gentle, thorough laxative, these Pills resembles Nature more closely in their action than anything before discovered. Business and professional men, whose habits are sedentary need something of this kind to ward off sick headache, biliousness and dyspepsia, but which will not strain and rack the digestive organs as did the old-fashioned pills. 25 cents per vial, at all druggists.

RAILWAY CHANGES, ETC.

—Raleigh Chronicle: Prof. E. McK. Goodwin, advisory superintendent, has returned from Morganton where he went to attend a meeting of the directors of the new Deaf and Dumb Institute. The directors selected a site and adopted plans for the buildings. The site is one mile southwest of the town on Vine Hill, and is a beautiful location. The building will accommodate 200 to 225 children in comfort, with the requisite number of teachers and officers.

—Concord Standard: Every reader of the Standard will doubtless be surprised to know that there is much as 150 acres of land in one body in Cabarrus county unclaimed. The land is reported to be in No. 7 township, Frank Mauney, of Gold Hill, Rowan county, came to town a few days ago, and made a description of the property and paid all the fees and other costs that the law imposes on one who enters land.

—The Charlotte News gets it by underground wire, that there is soon to be a sweeping change made in the section masters of all the railroad lines in this state, and probably one or two superintendents, besides a vice-president or so, are to go. It is all in consequence of the recent wreck near Statesville.

—The big cotton firm of Walker, Fleming & Stone, which has been doing business in the South with headquarters at Charlotte, has been dissolved by mutual consent. Col. Joseph M. Walker and C. E. Fleming retire from the firm, and the business will hereafter be conducted by M. J. H. Sloan.

—A. L. Sink and his bride of Lexington who were dangerously hurt in the shipwreck of the State, are not sufficiently recovered to be moved, but there is every possibility that they will get well.

—A stubborn fight of the Charlotte water works company against that city for the recovery of $2,200, claimed to be due for rent for the last six months of 1887, was decided in the superior court in favor of the city.

—A telegram received in Charlotte announced the death in Charleston, S. C., of Moses Baumgarten, of Charlotte. He was found dead in bed at his boarding house and it is said he committed suicide.

—The Hickory Press and Carolinian says: "The trustees of the wrecked Bank of Hickory have just paid another dividend of 10 per cent. This makes a total of 65 per cent."

—The report in circulation that Durham had offered $20,000 to secure the location for the State normal and industrial school for white girls is totally unfounded.

—It is a current rumor in Raleigh, that L. L. Polk has instructed his assistant editor on the Progressive Farmer to discontinue the attacks on other papers.

—A letter from President Charles E. Taylor, of Wake Forest college, says that 100 students are now in attendance.

—The Greensboro knitting mills were sold last Monday for $5,500. Capt. J. A. Odell became the purchaser.

—There is more building going on in Durham at the present time than for many years previous.

—Winston is building a new market house.

ONLY THE BEGINNING.

The Terrible Sufferings of the Jews in Russia.

Harold Frederic, in the New York Times. London, Sept. 5.—I have returned from a nearly two months' journey through Russia, extending from St. Petersburg in the north and Nijni-Novgorod in the east, Odessa in the far south, and covering, as well a large section of the border land on the Roumanian, Austrian and German frontiers. All that I saw convinced me that we are only at the beginning of the Jewish persecution and of the great convulsion to which it serves a sort of weather gauge. It is enough to say here that the situation of Israel in Russia since last February has been far more terrible than the outside world imagines, and that its miseries now literally defy adequate description. They can best be compared with the sufferings of poor non-combatants in provinces being overrun by a hostile and mercenary army in medieval times. Even this parallel fails, for there is no possible solace in the hope that the invaders will go away again. It is the Jews who are going to be driven with their families from their homes, forced to abandon everything not portable, dependent very often upon charity for even his railway ticket to Old Poland, and absolute ly without resources or plans for the future. This is what is happening to scores of thousands of people in every part of Russia east of the pale. What is happening inside the pale is too dreadful to dwell upon.

Absolutely True.

From the Durham Sun. It is a fact that many rich men make a merchant wait for his pay much longer than that merchant would trust a poor man.

SALE OF VALUABLE CITY LOTS

—AT—

WAYNESVILLE, N. C.

ON SEPTEMBER 15, 1891.

BEING TUESDAY OF THE FALL TERM OF COURT.

The undersigned has graded the extension of Boundary street southward through a portion of the R. G. A. Love property, lying on the east of Waynesville, and after reserving for the Southern Woman's Christian Temperance Union Assembly about five acres to be used for sites for cottages for the members of that body, will sell at public auction on September 15, 1891, on the grounds, alternate lots opening on said extension of Boundary street and new streets intersecting with it.

TERMS OF THE SALE:

One-fourth of the purchase money to be paid down, the balance secured by notes bearing 6 per cent interest, payable in two equal installments in one and two years. Title retained until purchase money is paid.

Splendid Location and Beautiful Views.

The property offered for sale is nearest land suitable for settlement to the point where the S. W. C. T. U. Assembly will build a magnificent temple and adjoining the lands reserved for residences for the members. Many of these lots command the finest views of the mountains, the town, and the valley of Richland creek. I have graded through them the finest road for driving in Haywood county. The lots will prove the most valuable property in the west. A brass band will be employed to make music and a barbecue dinner will be given to those who attend the sale. Maps on exhibition at the Clerk's office, Lee's store and the hardware store.

Other Valuable Property For Sale.

I will sell at private sale at any time before or after September 15 the most valuable water power in Western North Carolina, being the old Love mill site, on Richland creek, in the town of Waynesville with twenty acres of land. There is on the property a grist mill in good condition and saw mill not now running
