An Opportunity.

A cash prize of one thousand dollars has been offered for the best short story or novel having the Grandfather Mountain and the beautiful scenery of that locality woven into the plot.

This mountain, situated as it is in the most picturesque part of Western North Carolina, furnishes an attractive setting for an interesting story.

The selection will be made by a committee of competent reviewers, and the story must not be less than 10 nor exceed 50 pages.

Detailed information may be obtained of the Linville Improvement Company, of Linville, North Carolina.

POPE BEFORE THOUSANDS.

A SPLENDID CEREMONY IN

ROME TODAY.

The Pope Appears in St. Peter's to Celebrate Low Mass—10,000

People Attend—Great Enthusiasm

Shown.

ROME, Sept. 29.—A grand and imposing religious ceremony took place this morning in St. Peter's church.

For some days past the pope has been receiving bodies of religious pilgrims from various countries and the city is filled with the devout, many of whom have traveled long distances to pay honor to the head of the Catholic church.

When it was announced that the pope in person would celebrate low mass this morning, great eagerness was manifested by throngs of pilgrims to attend the service. Long before the doors of the church were opened an immense crowd gathered in the magnificent piazza in front of the structure awaiting an opportunity to enter. A detachment of troops from the Italian army was stationed about the piazza for the purpose of maintaining order, as it was feared that the pushing, struggling throng would meet with accident.

When the doors were opened the pilgrims, who came from various parts of Italy and from many foreign countries, entered the church, all signs of eager impatience vanishing as they passed through the sacred portals.

Sixty thousand persons were in the large cathedral in the world. At 8:40 o'clock, amid the hushed silence of the multitude and the reverent bending of the knees, the pope, borne on the shoulders of members of the papal guard, entered the church and was carried to his throne at the pontifical altar. His robes were of pure white vestment and were upon his head the papal tiara.

He carried in either hand fans which resembled beautiful palm leaves. (These fans are never used at ordinary services at St. Peter's, but are reserved for use at this service.)

As the head of the procession entered the church the trumpets of the Swiss guard placed their silver instruments to their lips and peals of martial music heralded the approach of the pope with all the ceremonial of the Catholic church alone is capable of exhibiting.

As the pope was born along above the heads of the assembled thousands, he raised his hands and bestowed his benedictions right and left until he reached the altar. The progress of the procession was attended with rapturous acclamations. The greatest enthusiasm pre-valued, the men waving their hats and the women their handkerchiefs.
