HOW TO PREVENT LYNCH-INGS.

One Brave Man of the Law Can Do Wonders If He is on the Ground at the Right Moment-A Terrible Experience in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 .- Cornelius I. Sullian, known on the docks as "Boston Kelly," became involved in a quarrel with Martin Bales, a desperate young negro, today Bales dashed at Sullivan with an upraised knife, and before Sullivan could make a show of resistance he had received three savage cuts. The third pierced his heart and he fell dead.

Throwing the knife down, Bales ran way, Sullivan's friends started in pursuit with cries of "Hang the nigger!" "Lynch him!" A shot which cut the skin on his right arm did not stop the murderer, who ran into the arms of Police-the murderer of Sullivan, the mob be-num on them.

"The state." quickly showed itselt. "Sandy" Smith, colored, an innocent spectator, started to run away when the mob returned. At once a savage chase ensued. The same cries of "Lynch bim," "Hang the nigger," were heard. As the yelling mob ran after Smith several shots were fired, one of which struck Henry Dono-van in the arm and stopped him in the chase after the fleeing Smith. Rushing into a narrow alleyway at 30 Pine street Smith was captured. An adjacent wagon yard was quickly filled by the angry crowd, and Smith was bustled into it fighting for his life. His clothes were soon torn to tatters and his face pounded horribly The lynching spirit was uppermost in the mind of the mob, and the sight of a a rope and pulley daughing from the side of L. C. Tewe's ice barn was sufficient as a suggestion.

"Let's string him up," was the cry, and when Policemen Revoolds and Johnson, who had heard the noise, arrived Smith's neck was encircled by the rope, and the lynching of an innocent man would have occurred had not a patrol wagon dasher up. Then the mob dashed away and fainting negro was resuscitated. The fainting negro was resuscitated. man who was shot in the chase is badly hurt.-New York Sun once indulged in the business of banking or loaning money to the people.

"The panic of 1837, however, caused great depression and suffering in Alabama. A cry came up from the people that the state must come to the rescue by lending the people money. A called session of the legislature was had, and in June, 1837, the state issued $5,000, and loaned through the banks to the people. The loans were required to be apportioned according to population in the several counties, and no individual could borrow more than $2,000. The loans were to be at 7 per cent. interest, secured by two good and sufficient sure-

Where's the Trouble With the Gamewell Alarm System?

Will the city's fire alarm never let up People living within the sound of the fire bell were startled last night on hearing the alarm ring out rapidly. It was soon found out that the ringing was aused by the old trouble, the wind blow ing the alarm wire against an electric wire in some part of the city. A STARTLING SENSATION.

ALLEGED ATTEMPT ON THE LIFE OF EMPEROR JOSEPH.

The Story is Not Confirmed Yet. and May Not be True-A Bridge Was to be Wrecked Before the Imperial Train.

VIENNA, October 1.-Emperor Francis Joseph arrived at Reichberg, near Prague this morning, and with his advent camthe news of an alleged attempt upon his life. The news has caused a great sensation in spite of the doubts thrown upon the statement.

The story, in brief, is as follows: During the night an attempt was made with a dynamite bomb to blow up the railroad bridge at Rosenthal, a suburb of Reichbury. This outrage is said to have occurred shortly before the Emperor's train was expected to pass over the bridge. Some railroad watchmen, it is said, saw the would-be assassins as they were upon the point of attaching the bomb to the bridge and by appearing upon the scene frustrated their design.

The railroad officials who have calculated this alarming story have not as vet explained whether the men supposed to have been engaged in this outrage inten ed to destroy the Rosenthal bridge as the imperial train was approaching it of whether it was the alleged assassin's desire to wait until the emperor's train was upon the bridge. In any case, ther is much in the whole affair which wil need a definite explanation before sobe minded people will be convinced that ar attempt upon the emperor's life has bee made or even contemplated.
