

ASHEVILLE DAILY CITIZEN. By RANDOLPH-KERR PRINTING CO. THE DAILY CITIZEN, Democratic, is published every afternoon (except Sunday) at the following rates: ONE YEAR, $8.00; SIX MONTHS, $5.00; THREE MONTHS, $3.00; ONE MONTH, $1.00; ONE WEEK, $0.25.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1891. The New York Herald estimates the cost of Porter's census at $12,000,000. To get at the value of that same census, take off the twelve, and divide the remainder by the salary Blair, of New Hampshire, drew as minister of China.

THE Columbian river at Vancouver is to be bridged, and the Charleston News and Courier says that "among the engineering difficulties presented in this undertaking, the most notable has been the sandy foundation, rendering it necessary to go down some eighty feet below low water to obtain a firm foundation." That is by no means an unprecedented depth to sink bridge piers. Those at St. Louis did not find bed-rock bottom until they had been sunk 110 feet below low water.

It is announced that Spurgeon the great Baptist preacher will go abroad to fully recover from his illness and that his pulpit will temporarily be occupied by Rev. A. T. Pierson, of Philadelphia. Mr. Pierson is a Presbyterian of the Presbyterianism, a profound student of the Bible, powerfully strong in denunciation, full of fire, a close and logical reasoner. He never brings a written sermon into the pulpit, speaking very rapidly from a few notes which he refers to from time to time. He will be a great contrast to Spurgeon.

The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. Thomas Power O'Connor's life of Parnell says that among his earliest influences were the stories he heard in his childhood from an old servant of the family, narrating the horrible cruelties the Irish suffered during the rebellion, and these made Parnell the man he became. From his mother also were derived traditions severely hostile to the existing relations of England and Ireland. O'Connor adds that Parnell in his chief characteristics, was more American than either Irish or English.

Four Pullman cars attached to the fast west-bound express train on the Central Pacific railroad were thrown from the track near Colfax, Cal., by train-wreckers who drew the wires from the rails. The sleeping car Santa Cruz rolling fifty feet down an embankment. The ten passengers hurt were not hurt seriously. This accident has an especial interest inasmuch as the attempt was very like that at Boston's bridge—it there was such attempt there. The amount of waste devilishness required would be about the same in both cases, that in North Carolina requiring the more devilishness, however, in that the rails were removed on a bridge in at all where the loss of life was almost certain to be great.

What amount of money do the people of the United States have to pay to the federal government in the way of tariff taxes and bounties to the manufacturers by reason of the tariff? In round numbers it is estimated at fifteen hundred millions of dollars. That is about $17 per head for every man, woman and child. Of this amount the farmers have to pay about two-thirds, or ten hundred millions. Now if you stop all this tax, except what is necessary to pay the expenses of the government, would the farmer want to borrow money? The democratic doctrine is and always has been financially a poor government and a rich people. The republicans want a rich government and a poor people. Government has no sort of use for more money than is necessary to pay its expenses. When it has more, it will be squandered just as the last republican billion dollar congress squandered it.

Is It a Failure? The Mountain Home of Journalism, in its article on an issue Tuesday, attempted to ridicule The Citizen because so far it has failed to secure a reduction of the street car fare. The Journal may ridicule as much as it pleases, but when it does so it ridicules the scores of people who have used the columns of THE CITIZEN to express their indignation at this street car fare gouge. When the Journal sneers and says, "we call that failure," it sneers at the 500 citizens of Asheville, of every grade and calling in life, who composed the mass meeting which met in the court house to protest against this outrage.

The Journal is no doubt satisfied with itself in thus saying, by indirection, because it has not the courage to say it openly, "damn the people," but unless signs fail, it will speedily find out that the people have not done with this 10 cent fare question yet. And the people will not forget the attitude of the Journal on this, as well as many other questions affecting their interests and rights.

The Journal can hug its little fee pass, and think itself very large, because it makes no difference to the Journal whether the street car fare is five cents or five dollars, but when the laboring man and poor people of Asheville are being imposed upon, they have a right to expect better things from a sheet claiming to sail under the banner of anti-monopoly.

It Was a Fake. From the Salisbury Herald. A special from Statesville to the Durham Globe of Saturday says another alleged attempt was made Saturday morning to wreck the passenger train at Boston bridge. The Herald believes there is no foundation for this report, and thinks some sensationalist has been imposing on the Globe. No train passes Boston bridge by daylight except No. 11, which leaves Salisbury about noon, and reaches there between 1 and 2 o'clock. Inquiry was made at the depot this morning, and nothing was known of the attempt to wreck the train; nor is it believed that an attempt was made.

Financial Ruin often comes upon a man when apparently he is in most prosperous circumstances. It is often the result of imprudent speculation, the other the result of impudent exposure to attacks of disease, as is the case of those who, after a stay on the mountains, return directly to their home in the lowlands, before frost has cleared the miasma and malaria with which the air is laden the season of the year, thus jeopardizing their health, a treasure which once lost all the wealth represented on it.

Wall Street could not purchase for them. To avoid the risk of typhoid or malarial fever, or other disease, they should get to levelled Springs, and become thoroughly renovated and built up under the mineral influence of these celebrated mineral waters, that have been tested by thousands during the past season, with most satisfactory results, both to those who were invalida with systems almost completely wrecked.
