there was no proof that they had been guilty of any misbehavior. The Americans were unarmed, sober and well behaved at the time of the trouble. At least forty men out of the Baltimore's contingent of 275 men were objects of he rage of the Chihan mob. It also apsears that up to the date of Captain Schley's report the Chilian authorities had taken no steps to arrest and punish any of the Chilians responsible for the affair; or, at any rate, that no Chilians were arrested, nor had the wheels of just-ice operated in any other direction than ngainst the Americans. It is known that the administration regards the situation as very serious and that the incident is not one that car be overlooked as a simple street brawl, but as an insult to the honor and flag of the United States calling for the most igorous diplomatic treatment. Minister Egan has been instructed to take prom it and vigorous measures to secure proper reparation. He has been fully advised of the position of this gov structed to acquaint the Chilian govern-ment therewith in the hope that the matter may be amicably adjusted with-out detrinent to the honor of either ountry. It is understood that the presclent insists upon a proper redress for the paroosed insult to our national honor, and that unless it is given within a reasonable time Minister Eagan will be recalled and all diplomatic relations with Chili suspended.

REV. MR. OSBORNE.

FOR LADIHS, MISSES. AND CHILDREN at Trinity Episcopa

There were present at the norning ser rices of the Episcopal church yesterday AND TRIMMINGS the rector, the Rev. Mr. DuBose, Rev. I A. Osborne, and the recently ordained deacon, the Rev. Mr. Rhodes, all of whon participated in the various duties of the service. The sermon was delivered by Mr. Osborne

In him was attached much of interest His career had been a varied one in secular and military duty. He had been in the late war colonel of the 4th N. C. Infantry, an officer of skill, a soldier daring and courage. A mutilated right hand and the sears of three other severwounds testily to his bravery and his risks. He was for several years clerk of the superior court of Mecklenburg county, faithful, efficient and popular, his thoughts and his inclinations meantime urging him to the pursuit which now engages him with so much usefulness and onor. He entered the Episcopal ministry several years ago. The knowledge of men acquired in his previous familiarity with secular affairs has been of great service to him as familiarizing him with the chief springs of human motive and action. A cultivated mind, a gentle nature, but a tearless purpose, equip him in eminent degree with the weapons so essential to the vocation of all others the most delicate in its sucresslui discharge. Mr. Osborne's text yesterday morning was the words of St. Paul, 'And now abideth in you these three, faith, hope and charity; but the greatest of these is charity." The habit of the Episcopal clergy has largely leaned to the use of written sermous, with growing tendency to depart from a custom which has its nerits, and also its serious drawbacks Mr. Osborne is one of those whose reli mee is upon the extempore atterance more free, more animated, but in his case at least, quite as finished and pol-ished as it elaborated in the closet. Those who heard him yesterday felt the impulse of that ready fluency and impressive eloquence that gave the trite but actually momentous subject a beauty, grandeur and importance too often not ascribed to it. The relation in which he placed truth and hope to "the greatest of these, charity," was especially beautiful and significant, the two first having their chiclest significance when, in the end, the one was rewarded and the other realized. But charity, in its true and broad acceptation, always to live saw the freight coming, and, reversing and act in the sunlight of Him who had his engine, he, with his fireman, jumped. inspired the sentiment so truly divine.

At the evening service, Mr. Oshorne gave a very interesting sketch of the the capacity for continued usefulness. The congregation was reminded that on Thanksgiving day it would have oppor-tunity to give substantial proof of lively continued interest
