THAT'S right, "Colonel," die a-fighting.

PROBABLY Palo Alto could readily be sold for $150,000.

THE German army will take theirs 'alf and 'alf for a season at least: half rye and half good farmers' alliance corn meal.

THE author of the American Commonwealth, Prof. James Bryce, M. P., has written for the December number of the North American Review an article under the head of Thoughts on the Negro Problem.

THE Atlanta Constitution is the queerest democratic paper this side of New York. It has found out that Foraker "possesses certain elements of manliness, courage and candor;" that he is a "bold and manly" enemy of the south; that he "never hides in the bushes, and his flag is always flying." We have only this comment to make on the Constitution's entirely new discovery: !!!!.

Two Shadows.

The Tarboro Advocate (farmers' alliance organ) says:

"There is much about Grover Cleveland to admire. He is fearless, able and honest, but unless he changes his position on the silver question there is not, in our opinion, a shadow of a chance for him to be nominated."

And if a free silver democrat is nominated there is not a shadow of a chance of electing him.

Nearly a Dozen Would-be Criminals.

The Monroe correspondent of the Charlotte Chronicle writes that paper:

"A party of nearly a dozen men of this township, but not living in town, made up a purse of a thousand dollars and sent two or three of their number to take it and return with ten thousand dollars of money nearly or quite as good as genuine greenbacks. However they returned with the same old story of paper and sawdust."

The fact that a thousand dollars of good money has gone out of North Carolina for nothing is to be regretted, but the further fact that a dozen men who probably call themselves respectable could be found to deliberately enter on a scheme to swindle their neighbors by getting "green goods" and circulating them in the community in which they live, calls for official investigation. Such would-be swindlers are no better than the "green goods" men themselves.

Europe's Scum.

Five labor commissioners were recently sent to Europe by our government to investigate the alleged fact that pauper immigrants were being shipped to this country regardless of the law against it. One of these commissioners who traveled all over Europe had his suspicion excited enough so that he applied in London to be assisted to this country as a pauper. His application was successful; London wanted no more paupers and so helped him on his way. A careful canvass of the steerage passengers on the voyage over revealed that many of them had been "assisted" as the commissioner had and that they were certain to become a dead weight on whatever community they settled in.

This is a subject that congress cannot investigate too thoroughly when it meets. The scum of Europe has been skimmed off and thrown at us long enough.

The Bad Oil.

The agent of the company that has a monopoly of selling oil in Asheville says he has complained to headquarters of the failure of the oil to burn as it should and has never received any explanation. The people are paying for the oil just the same, and the fact that "every barrel is guaranteed" does not help the matter. We buy illuminating oil to burn in our lamps and not to have the glorious privilege of trotting daily to the corner grocery with complaints and a gallon can. It is a long time since there was any doubt as to what quality of oil was shipped to Asheville or any other town; and what Asheville, as well as the rest of the state, is now trying to burn is something that was known to be poor when it was started this way. The matter of ascertaining the grade of an illuminating oil is not one of the uncertainties of life, but is a thing easily determined and then to be relied on.

It is entirely probable that if there had been a state inspection of oil in North Carolina no attempt would have been made to palm off on us something that bears about as much resemblance to good illuminating oil as the ten-cent fare does to an act of Providence.

JERRY RUSK AND THE RAINMAKERS

Uncle Jerry Rusk says he has no data on which to base conclusions concerning the rainmaking experiments. Uncle Jerry evidently that data is a new name for rain.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Uncle Jerry Rusk will take notice that we need rain badly here in the vicinity of the Croton water shed, but not badly enough to go to bombarding the clouds for it. This will convey to him the impression that the rain-producing performances are not particularly impressive.—New York Advertiser.

If "Uncle Jerry" Rusk finds that his rain-making scheme won't work well enough to make a fair show for the money invested, he might apply to some manager of a realistic drama and get a few points about it. The stage rainmakers have been giving entire satisfaction to the public for a long time.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Cleveland Did His Share.

Mr. Fassett, late republican candidate for governor of New York

As the situation stands today Mr. Cleveland has unquestionably got the better of Mr. Hill in the struggle for democratic leadership. When Mr. Cleveland made his speech at Cooper Union it changed 10,000 votes. Mr. Cleveland did more to defeat me than any other one man.

As to Gorman.

From the Nashville, Tenn., American.

Grover Cleveland could carry the state of Maryland as surely and as safely as Mr. Gorman can, and outside of Maryland we suppose no well-informed man could doubt the immensely superior strength of Mr. Cleveland.

Another Denial.

From the Hickory Mercury.

Col. Polk has committed no crime.

ATTACKED BY OTHERS.

—News has been received at Raleigh of an attack by otters upon Walter French, aged sixteen, at the falls of the Mavs river in Rockingham county. Three of the animals attacked him as he was walking on a road beside the river. Being a stout lad, he thought he could easily kill them, having a heavy stick. He was soon undeceived, was thrown down and badly bitten. He ran for his life. Help came, one otter was killed and the others got away.—Richmond Dispatch.

—Franklin Press: Mr. J. B. Craigmiles, editor of the Bryson City Times, created something of a sensation in Atlanta, Ga., last Sunday week by forging an order on Dr. Clark, of Bryson City, and attempting suicide because a young lady of Atlanta refused to marry him. He was arrested for the forgery, but through the intervention of friends the matter was satisfactorily settled, and he was released.

—The number of burglaries committed in the eastern part of the state in the past two months is greater than ever before. In only two or three cases have the criminals been captured. One is convicted of the crime and under sentence to be hanged next month. This is Alfred Dawnes, at Charlotte.

—Durham Globe: E. W. Pugh was killed last night at Smithfield. He was a father of Senator James B. Pugh and father of E. W. Pugh, jr., solicitor in the fourth district. He was on the house looking at the roof, and lost his footing. He was 59 years of age, and beloved by all who knew him.

—The man, Cloninger, who was arrested on suspicion for wrecking the train at Bostian's bridge, near Statesville, and confined in Iredell jail, to await the action of the grand jury, was released last week. Sufficient evidence to warrant a bill was not brought before the grand jury.

—Salisbury Herald: Engine number 166 that went down in the Bostian bridge wreck, killing Engineer "Bill" West and twenty-one others, is rapidly being repaired at the car shops and will be ready for service some time next week.

—The trustees of the Baptist Female state university have decided that Raleigh is the proper location for it, and have placed the matter of the final selection and purchase of a site in the hands of a committee, of which N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh, is chairman.

—The Statesville Land Development company on Wednesday sold 100 lots at an average price of $100 to the lot. They were bought principally by persons from the surrounding country, who desire to move to Statesville on account of school advantages.

—Jonathan Horton, of Watauga, is one of the sons of revolutionary soldiers in this state, and owns the gun which his father, Nathan Horton, carried at a guard at the execution of the ill-fated Major Andre, the spy.

—Col. Tipton says he will no longer edit the King's Mountain News but will start a new weekly at Shelby to be known as the Shelby Review.

—The Odd Fellows' orphanage at Goldsboro receives $600 as the proceeds of one-fourth of the gate receipts at the exposition last Wednesday.

—Professor Holmes, state geologist, and his corps of surveyors are now on Helton river in Ashe county.

WEAVER & MYERS.

WHY DRINK

So-called foreign wines? In nine cases out of ten you get a vile compound of cheap potato spirits, essences and ethers. The product has never been within sight of a vineyard. You simply pay an exhorbitant price for a label with a French name. The result is misery and dyspepsia.

The Holidays are at Hand!

What you want is absolutely the pure juice of the grape; that will promote digestion, act as a tonic and cure dyspepsia. Ask your wine merchant for the

"ENGADINE RED"

It is pure, good enough for any and cheap enough for all. If your dealer cannot supply you, then write to the vineyard. Prices will be given on application. Wine sold from the vineyard only by the case of 1 dozen quarts, or 2 dozen pints.

A DRIVE IN SHOES!

We have inaugurated a big drive in our Men's $3 shoe and there never was a shoe that could stand a harder kind of a drive than it can. It is all the same to this shoe, wether the road be rough or smooth, or whether the pace be leisurely or furious. It is cheap in the best sense of the word; that is to say, it is an exceedingly good article for an exceedingly low price.

often comes upon a man when apparently he is in most prosperous circumstances. Sickness also often comes upon a man when on pleasure he is enjoying the best of health. The one may be the result of imprudent speculation, the other the result of imprudent exposure to attacks of disease, as is the case of those who, after a stay in the mountains, return directly to their home in the low lands, are overtaken by disease and the miasma and malaria with which the air is charged in such seasons of the year, thus jeopardizing their health, a treasure which once lost all the wealth represented on
