Summers, a prominent lawyer of this county, now residing at Davidson, to Asheville, where he will go into partnership with Mr. W H. Lewis, formerly of Gastonia, and who has been in the practice of the law some three or four years, but has been in Asheville for some two months, and is doing very well there already. Mr. Summer has been practicing his profession for mething over six years, and has been quite successful, having as we are reliaoly informed, won over 80 per cent, of cases placed in his hands, a record that speaks for itself. Mr. Summers has the reputation, too, of being exceedingly well read in the law and has prepared some young men for the bar, who stood examinations at Raleigh without a blun

A story was for a long time in circula tion that Charles F. Crisp in his youth was an actor. It had its embellishments, and circumstances were even related of how he was tempted to leave the stage for the bar, and vielded only after a hard struggle with himself. The whole story, though very readable is fiction. It grew out of the fact that Mr. Crisp's father was an actor, and a very good one, it is said. But the son never trod the boards.

He was born in Sheffield, England, where his parents were temporarily living, but was brought by them to this country while still a child, and is a thorough Georgian in his education and entire bringing up. He was admitted to the bar upon attaining his majority, and
