

ASHEVILLE DAILY CITIZEN. By RANDOLPH-KERR PRINTING CO. The Daily Citizen, Democratic, is published every afternoon (except Sunday) at the following rates—strictly cash.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1892. Thus Far Shall Thou go and no Farther. This was the meaning of the resolution offered by Alderman Waddell at the meeting of the board yesterday, with reference to the actions of Mayor Blanton in spending the city's money according to his own sweet will.

It was a manly stand, and THE CITIZEN would not reflect upon the members of the board by even intimating that it is possible for the resolution to fail of adoption at next Friday's meeting.

It was a step that had to be taken by the board if they desire to place the bonds and begin the work of improvement of Asheville's streets.

And this act of the board will go far toward restoring the confidence of the people not only in the ability of that body to conduct the affairs of the city, but in their determination to see that they are honestly administered as well.

There has been a feeling in Asheville, and among the very best and soundest of her business men at that, that it would be far better to allow the streets to remain as they are, than to run the risk of putting into the hands of the present board such a large sum of money, so long as the mayor's carte blanche on the city treasury remained unrevoked and unrebuked.

The action of Alderman Waddell is in the direct line of THE CITIZEN'S suggestion, and deserves the plaudits of every good citizen and well wisher of this city.

THE NEW YORK SUN goes so far as to assert that those men in New York who are opposing the holding of the democratic convention in that state on Feb. 22, which is much earlier than was ever known before, are not democrats. When it is remembered that the Sun supported Ben Butler eight years ago, it might be claimed that the Sun is not a competent judge. And the fact that Butler has recently declared that his aim in making that race was to draw votes enough from Cleveland in New York to defeat him, does not make the Sun's attitude any more consistent.

ASHEVILLE has at least one hope left, and that is that another management will soon take hold of the Richmond and Danville system, and they may be more friendly disposed towards this section. One thing is reasonably sure, and that is that unless the Richmond and Danville officials or their successors change their notions towards Western North Carolina, or a new and independent line is built, Asheville is permanently and incurably damaged.

JOSEPH PULITZER now runs the greatest paper in the greatest building in the greatest city in the greatest country the sun shines on, but finds time to publish the New York World almanac, a copy of which THE CITIZEN has received. It is a marvellous chunk of compact information, and beyond question the best of its kind. Price 25 cents, on sale at the bookstores.

It would seem that this is a good time for renewing the agitation of the building of the line of road from Asheville to Bristol, Tennessee. The Richmond and Danville seems unable to accommodate this country.

It is a singular fact that Dr. Marshall MacKenzie, the most noted specialist on throat diseases known during this century, should have died with bronchitis. He cured others but could not heal himself.

A BOSTIAN BRIDGE VICTIM. The Worst Injured of all the Survivors of the Disaster. Correspondence Davidson Dispatch.

Mr. A. L. Sink, of Lexington, it will be remembered, received a very bad punctured wound six or seven inches deep in his right hip at a point about seven inches above the break in his thigh, which has obstinately refused to heal, and by the constant discharges, has been a great drain upon his system. It is doubtless owing to this terrible wound, more than to his broken bone, that his recovery has not been more rapid. To ascertain the cause of the wound not healing, and if possible remedy the difficulty, his attending physician, Dr. R. L. Payne, Jr., determined to perform an operation, and accordingly on last Thursday, assisted by doctors Payne, sr., Crawford and Riley, he made a perpendicular incision about four inches long and depth to the bone, opposite the fracture in the thigh and extending upward to the bottom of the old wound. At this point the doctor introduced his finger and took from the wound a splinter of wood about 1 1/2 inches long, 1/2 or 3/4 of an inch wide and nearly as thick. On a further search he found another splinter about one-fourth as large, and a small tuft of hair, which had been pulled from the head of some poor victim (probably his wife) of this most horrible wreck, before it reached Mr. Sink, and was driven through his clothing and into his flesh to the depth of an inch, and for more than five months has caused intense suffering. The operation was a tedious one, but skillfully performed. Mr. Sink submitted to and stood the operation with much nerve and fortitude.

Better and Better. "Better than grandeur, better than gold, better than rank a thousand fold, is a healthy body, a mind at ease, and simple pleasures that always please." To get and keep a healthy body, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a remedy designed to not only cure all diseases of the throat, lungs and chest, but keep the body in a thoroughly healthy condition. It eradicates all impurities from the blood, and overcomes indigestion and dyspepsia. Itches, pimples and eruption disappear, under its use, and your mind can be "at ease" as to your health.

False Economy. Is practiced by many people, who buy inferior articles of food because cheaper than standard goods. Surely infants are entitled to the best food obtainable. It is a fact that the Gail Borden "Eagle" Brand Condensed Milk is the best infant food. Your grocer and druggist keep it.

THURMAN'S HOME LIFE. Spending His Time With His Friends and His Books.

Now nearly eighty years of age, with a mind as vigorous as at any former period in life, whether on the bench or in the councils of the nation, says Columbus O. dispatch to the New York Times, Judge Allen G. Thurman is the same genial, warm-hearted and companionable man he was before his body was wrenched and his legs weakened by acute and persistent rheumatic pains. He lives quietly and spends most of his time in the library, a large upstairs room that he calls his "den," into which he says he allures the unsuspecting caller and newspaper men with a view of keeping up with the times in the current news of the day.

He occupies his home the same as when Mrs. Thurman was alive, the house of his son, Allen W. Thurman, and his own being connected. The Judge takes his meals with his children and grandchildren, and his comforts are looked after by them.

Like Mr. Thurman has suffered severely from neuralgia in the head, but otherwise his general health is good, other than that he is never free from rheumatic pains in the legs and knee joints. It is with great difficulty that he walks at all, and he says that his legs are of practically no account except to ache continually. He is much stouter than formerly, and, as a general thing, his appetite is good, but he is sparingly eating.

Mr. Thurman says that he intends to break the bad habit of reading all night and sleeping the most of the day, but he is afraid that his getting too old to make any radical change in the custom of a lifetime.

The time has gone by when any newspaper writer will take advantage of Mr. Thurman. All fully recognize the fact that his wishes should be respected, and unless the judge is very well acquainted with his caller he seldom expresses himself upon political matters, as he does not wish to be quoted.

Mr. Thurman seldom leaves his house and walks but little. He spends his time wholly with callers and books, being a great reader. He enjoys little visits from his old friends and neighbors, and in referring to certain incidents enjoys laughing and telling a good story. The calls from old political associates are keenly resented, and he often refers to them with evident pleasure.

The death of his wife's companion a few months ago was a terrible blow to Judge Thurman, and he has been less energetic and more the days glide by. He misses her presence in his thousand ways. She was always about and near him, clearing him up and relieving him of the aching pains that at times seemed to pull and wrench at every muscle and nerve in his body. He was a father in the most loving and gentle manner, while she bears he cannot and would not suppress fill his eyes.

LIFE IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Two negroes who have been in Halifax jail a long time, charged with assaulting a white woman in Northampton, have been sentenced to be hanged on the 15th of March.

There is yet no news of the finding of the body of Mr. Douglass, who was drowned at Tarboro a few days ago. The Tar river has been scoured diligently, but no trace of him has yet been discovered.

It is asserted that H. C. Smith, chairman of the democratic state executive committee, has for months been a proponent of Hill man, and that Secretary of State Cole is for Hill first, last, and all the time.

The rumor that has been afloat concerning the resignation of Chief Justice Merrimon of the supreme court, to accept the position of the president of the National bank of Raleigh is denied by that gentleman.

The republican state committee, at its session in Raleigh, discussed the matter of joining forces with the third party against the democrats. It was decided to be best to wait to see what strength the third party was mustering. The committee elected three new members—James H. Young (colored), to succeed S. H. Manning; Elliot A. White, of Raleigh, in place of J. T. Chesire, of the first district; and Thomas S. Settle to fill a vacancy in the sixth district.

News comes from Lawson's, about seven miles from Scotland Neck, of the horrible death of Mrs. Louisa Harts. She lived in a large grove, where there were many leaves drifted under the trees, and she went out with two small children to brush out some fire that had burned up from the woods near by. Her clothes caught fire and she was hurried to death. The children were very small and ran to a neighbor's a few hundred yards away, but before any help could reach her she was dead. All the clothes she wore were entirely consumed except her shoes. She was about 72 years old.

A beautiful woman, has been brought there and put in jail to await trial. Some months ago she eloped with Dr. John S. Stone, who deserted his wife and thirteen children. Their place of refuge was recently found to be in Pitt county, and when they learned that their whereabouts had been reported as being near their former homes, in Chatham county. A warrant was issued on the complaint of a son of Dr. Stone, and Miss Weathers was arrested. Dr. Stone has this forenoon been in the preliminary trial of Miss Weathers she was bound over to court, and in default of bond was committed to jail. A vigorous effort is being made to arrest Dr. Stone. He has threatened to shoot his son who swore out the warrant against him.

Blood diseases are terrible on account of their loathsome nature, and the fact that they wreck the constitution so completely unless the proper antidote is applied. B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) is composed of the true antidote for blood poison. Its use never fails to give satisfaction.

Living Questions are most esteemed by every intelligent man and woman. Derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels speedily present to us the living question of obtaining relief. It is at once found in Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which cure headache, constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks, etc. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, they are unequalled as a specific for the complaints named. One tiny, sugar-coated Pellet a dose. In vials, 25 cents. Carry them in your vest-pocket.

ASHEVILLE TOBACCO WORKS, Manufacturers of Plug, Fancy Smoking Tobacco and Cigarettes, Asheville, N. C., January 15, 1892.

The Asheville Tobacco Works, a corporation created under the laws of North Carolina, was organized for the manufacture of plug and smoking tobacco three years ago, and has done a prosperous business with an ever-increasing trade. The orders that come in for tobacco are carefully looked over and goods are only shipped to those parties well rated and known to be solvent.

The policy of the company is conservative. The directors meet once a month to audit accounts and transact all necessary business. Since the formation of this stock company it has obtained control of the only cigarette machine in America outside of the cigarette trust that is "The American Tobacco Company."

The profit in machine made cigarettes is large, varying from about fifty to one hundred percent. The business is practically cash, as cigarettes are sold for cash or on short time. The Asheville Tobacco Works can sell all the cigarettes they make at a handsome profit. Orders have come from responsible parties to take the whole output. The present capacity is 144,000 in ten hours with one machine. Another machine has been ordered. The cost of making 1,000 cigarettes is as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Item, Medium Cigarette, Best Cigarette. Rows include Stamps, Royalty, 100 paper boxes for 10 cigarettes, 2 paper boxes for 50 boxes, Layer in making cigarettes, Labor, Cases (wooden boxes).

Two grades of cigarettes will be made—medium and best. The medium grade will be sold at about $2.50 per thousand; the best at about $5.00. Comparing the cost of making and the price per thousand it will be seen that the average profit is $2.50 per thousand. For a legitimate, safe business, with quick returns and large profit, the business of the production of fine smoking tobacco is here, and it must be kept in mind that "The Asheville Tobacco Works" has had luck and display of good business judgment in securing this machine when other large companies were begging for it. Propositions have already been made to our company to lease the machine on a royalty.

It is not necessary for an investor to speak of Asheville as a suitable place to manufacture cigarettes. It is currently well situated, being in the finest section of North Carolina for the growth of fine quantities of smoking tobacco used in making cigarettes. The dryness of climate by day and coolness and moisture by night are the chief causes which favor the production of fine smoking tobacco here, and make it equal in flavor and color to the best tobacco grown anywhere. As proof of this the tobacco grown here has taken first premiums at State Fairs in Raleigh, North Carolina, and Richmond, Virginia; also at the Vienna and Paris Expositions. The number of pounds of tobacco handled on this market is rapidly increasing; for instance, in 1880 there were only about 600,000 pounds sold here, while in 1891 over 6,000,000 pounds were sold, and now every large manufacturer has his buyer on this market. The sales are yearly increasing and there is enough tobacco sold to run many large factories here instead of shipping it away to other factories. (A large factory in Asheville would employ a number of hands and benefit the town.)

Our cigarette factory is situated in the heart of this fine tobacco region and paradise of the world for health and pleasure. The factory is a large brick building four stories high, well arranged for safety, and has all necessary appliances and machines for making plug and smoking tobacco and cigarettes. The building is heated by steam and the machines run by electrical power which is found to be the most economical. When we peritally consider the fact that our company manufactures "Asheville Air" cigarettes which throw a spell of enchantment over all mankind wherever inhaled or smoked, by rich or poor, peasant or peer, philosopher or poet, young or old, weak or strong, we are compelled to believe that "He who doth not smoke Asheville Air hath either no wit or no great grief or refuseeth himself the sweetest consolation next to that which cometh from heaven." Enough stock will be offered at par to successfully place the cigarettes on the market. As soon as this stock has been subscribed the books will be closed. Below is the last statement of the company, made on January 4, 1892.
