A LETTERIFROM BLAINE.

IT IS ABOUT HIS SON'S UN HAPPY ARRIAGE

The Secr rv is Chiefly Con cerned In Defrauding Mrs Blaine From the Charge of Hos tility to His Bou's Wife.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29 .- Mr. Blaine has furnished the Associated Press for pubication a long statement, on the mariage andidivorce of his son, J. G., jr Secretary Blaine says: "Since the separation of my son and is wife, three and a half years ago, my amily have silently borne severy misrep esentation, every slanderous attack, every newspaper interview which it has pleased the now divorced wife to inspire. The one person aimed at has been Mrs. Blaine. The last outrage, embodied in the decision of the judge at Dendwood, Dak, assumes anjofficial character which makes it impossible to remain longer silent. To remain silent would be to accept and perpetuate a great wrong to my wife, and a greater wrong to my grandson, than even the publication of the truth can inflict upon him." Mr. Blaine then prints a letter he addressed in 1886 to Rev. Thomas I.

Ducey, rector St. Leo's church, No.
16 East street, New York city, the minister who married his son.
Secretary Blaine charges that he did so knowing that his son was under age, and adds: "As a servant of God, to whose ministry you are ordained, I call God to witness between you and me. Of whatever evils resulting from this deplorable marriage my son may be the author or the victim, the guilt be on your head."

Mr. Blaine then goes on to charge that the marriage was arranged by Miss Nevins far more than by his son; that the statement that "Mrs. Blaine broke up the marriage relations of my son and is wife" is false, that he offered the roung couple a fine house, rest free, and $2,500 a year, but that the wife, nee any terms; that she finally left Mr. This, of course, was distracting to him, Blaine's house at Augusta on the eve of the arrival of her husband, and that she morning. was at times insulting in Mrs. Blaine's presence. Mr. Blaine concludes: "Far be it from me to hold my sor plameless; though when his youth, his uncompleted education, his separation from the influences of home, exchange of a life of hopes and anticipations for premature cares and uncongenial companionship, are considered, I hold him more sinned against than sinning. But his mother, at no time, in thought, or word or deed, attempted to separate this man and his wife. On the contrary, she did not fail by liberality, by consideration, and by extenuation, to toster in every practicable way their happinesshappiness to them had been possible

LOTTERY ACT ALL RIGHT

IT COVERS FOREIGN CON-CERNS IN ITS SCOPE.

The United States Supreme Court Affirms a Decision Convicting a New Yorker of Belling Austria Lettery Bonds In Illinois.

Washington, Feb. 29.-The cases of Edward H. Horner versus the United States was today decided by the United States supreme court. Horner is a New York banker who sold Austrian florin bonds in which there is a lottery feature, the bond being drawn in the same man ner as lottery prizes. Horner was tried inder the recent anti-lottery act and

Aside from the question as to whether or not the scheme comes within the provisions of the anti-lottery act, an impor-tant constitutional point was raised, viz .: That as the letters containing the advertisement of the lottery were mailed in New York, Horner could not be tried in Illinois, in which state the letters were received. The lottery act made the offence triable, in either the district of in each month. mailing or of receipt and it was con-tended that this provision violated the lederal constitution. The United States supreme court affirmed the judgment of the lower court in favor of the United States and against Horner, in an opinion by Justice Blatchford.
