Bad weather is said to have detained Senator Quay in the south.-Detroit Free Press.

More accurate information is to the effect that Senator Quay is a very sick man in Florida.

THE Bryson City Times comes out for Themas D. Johnston for governor, saying that the people "repose in him the utmost confidence as a political leader and behold a campaign, with him as their champion, followed by victory. They wish to place within his loyal hand the helm of the commonwealth of North Carelina. Swain nominates Hon. Thos. Dillard Johnston, of Buncombe."

THE clash between Mayor Blanton and the aldermen as to the East street payments suggests anew the necessity for having all the city's business done in public and of having a full and official publication of those proceedings in some newspaper of general circulation in this community. Especially now that the city has some money to spend is it a matter of business precaution to have full and accurate statements at frequent intervals of how it is being expended.

We HAD thought there were enough decent republicans in the senate to defeat the confirmation of Judge Woods, the charge against whom was that he made impossible the conviction of Blocks of Five Dudley for attempting to corrupt the ballot box. But it seems we were mistaken; Woods has been confirmed and President Harrison has paid a dirty political debt, and it is again made certain that there is no reform for

It is a great surprise to find the Charleston News and Courier not "toting fair" even where Senator Hill is concerned, but such is the fact. The News and Courier, speaking of the Meridian speech says:

"Mr. Hill said: "Governmental structures and social adaptations of any group of men as civilized as we must vary with the location of the earth's surface to secure that end and aim, the progressive individual form in the pursuit of happiness.'
"That looks well and doubtless it sounded well but what it means we do not know, and will wager the electoral vote of South Carolina that one demo-cratic voter in a hundred will not be able to interpret its meaning without the aid of an unabridged dictionary or an en cyclopedia of political knowledge."

The answer to this is that Hill did not say it. If the News and Courier will substitute for the word "form" the word "freedom" and make some other changes it will then have what Hill said:

"The governmental structures and social adaptations of any group of med as civilized as we, must vary with location on the earth's surface to secure that end and aim, progressive individual freedom in the pursuit of happiness'

Again the News and Courier waxes facetious:

"And, again, speaking of the objects of the Constitution, as set forth in the dec thing entirely new in the realm of political dialectics."

Some Things He Sees And Hear Worth Talking About.

The murder of the little colored boy, a most cruel, brutal deed. The person who could deliberately take a six year death, leaving the body to be mutilated by dogs or other prowling animals, cer-tainly deserves to suffer the fullest and most severe penalty—which is hanging. Every man will admit that. But there s considerable doubt in my mind about the guilt of Goodson, the suspected man It is a fact that the circumstantial evi dence appears to be against him. Then his former record is hard against him.

But there is a link in the chain of evi lence yet to be supplied. It appears that Webb left the boy at home eating dinner. This nephew returned to the house soon otter, and found the boy was missing Not until 3 o'clock did the nephew carry the news to the father. Now if Goodson can get any witnesses to til in the gap octween 9 and 12 he may feel more com fortable. He says he got into the city just at 12, coming through Beaumont gap. Of course there was time while the nephew was away for Goodson to have gone back to the house and got the child—but not if Goodson was in the city father. But this will all be brought out on the trial, and the man under arrest is sure of a fair trial. He certainly had anything but a guiltless look at the coroner's inquest. Still, if every man who looks mean should be swung up, the population would be decreased at least 80 per cent.

Doards was called to these, and the last reports show that the desired reforms have been effected in many cases. Some water of the pairs, however, are yet far from satisfactory as to ventilation and other hygienic features.

With the payment of some $3,750 for the roller the responsibility of the above mentioned wise city fathers seems to have ceased, for today, as for several weeks past, the roller has stood unused on Depot street, uncovered and uncared for. The carefully fitted parts of its marain, and already rust marks are visible on many bright portions of the machinery. A simple canvass cover could not be considered an unwarrantable extravagance with which to protect a $3,750 machine, and if a $25 shed is deemed too great a luxury by our wise aldermen for the protectnature and man, it is respectfully subcommittee "with power to act," to purchase enough canvas or rubber cloth to cover at least the finished portion of the
