Turning to the present day Dr. Dabney showed the wonderful progress made in the way of the establishment of schools of technology, where the young men of the south could be trained for any profession or trade in life. He made an elu quent plea for the technological schoolselu day going south and as soon as it was known the deputy sheriff sent deputies the ideal school, he said, for the complete, harmonious development of the whole n pursuit of them. Two flour and coffee sacks have been man.
