A SHAMEFUL REVENGE

THE PINKERTONS BARBAROUSLY TREATED.

After Surrendering to the Strikers

They Were Beaten and Kicked

—No Disturbance Today—The Governor's Action.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 7.—After the Pinkertons' barges drifted off down the river yesterday afternoon the strikers began a terrible bombardment of them.

At 5 o'clock the Pinkerton men hung out a white flag and a committee of the strikers went aboard to prepare terms of capitulation. They guaranteed conduct for the Pinkertons. As they were brought from the boat they presented a terrible appearance. Many of them were besmeared with blood.

The most shocking and dastardly deeds were committed while the prisoners were being escorted through the streets by an escort of guards appointed by the strikers.

As the men passed by, each in charge of two deputies, the mill men kicked them and threw some of them down. The unfortunate detectives begged for mercy.

Some of them had pistol shots wounds in their heads, and three were seen that had their eyes shot out. Several were shot in the shoulders, arms and legs, and could scarcely limp along. One of them had his eye punched out by an umbrella in the hands of a woman. Sand was thrown in the eyes and they were struck with clubs. There seemed to be a determination to kill the prisoners, and it was with the greatest difficulty the demoniac crowd could be restrained. The men were finally lodged in the opera house, where they were kept for the night.

All Quiet Today.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 7.—It is strangely silent here this morning. It is the quiet of the sober afterthought.

The leaders of the strikers are wondering what will be the next step. The men are making their preparations to bury their dead. Except for the large crowds of sightseers, the town would be unusually quiet. The leaders of the men propose at once to have rebuilt the fence on the Carnegie property which they tore down yesterday, and also to repair all other damage caused by them. This will be done so as to prevent any suits on the company. The old guards were secured by the men and placed on duty to again look after the company's interests.

There is much surprise here over the reported release by the sheriff of the Pinkerton guards. When the men agreed not to kill the guards after capturing them yesterday it was with the understanding that the guards should be placed in jail until information for murder could be sworn out against them.

The report of their release excited much angry discussion at first, but this was quelled when it was remembered that if the men appeared as witnesses they would themselves be liable to prosecution for riot. Several of the leaders expressed relief over the release and it is believed no legal complication will arise.

The call of the sheriff for a posse was received here with good natured derision.

The men are confident that the sympathy of the citizens is so much with them that no good men would volunteer.

They declare that had the guards not come here there would have been no violence. As evidence of their sincerity a committee of three went through the works at an early hour this morning, the men appearing as on a river bank and cooled up the ropes and hose, took down all the barricades, and removed, so far as possible, all evidence of the conflict yesterday.

The yard was deserted this morning when the Associated Press representatives visited it. A few flattened bullets, smoldering pipes on a river bank and a barrow half full of bolts and broken pig iron gathered up in the cannon, were the only vestiges of the combat.

The barges of the Pinkerton men after having been looted and set on fire were shoved from the river banks and the river bulks floated down the river, the men pursuing only the camera, food and pig iron. The men are confident of their power, and while they are determined to preserve the peace locally they will brook no outside interference. They look upon the dead as a covenant obliging them to hold Homestead till for Homestead workers.

The Pinkertons.

PITTSBURGH, July 7.—The Pinkerton detectives from Homestead arrived in this city at 2:40 this morning. Twenty-seven of their number were wounded and were sent to the West Pennsylvania hospital. They one and all refused to make any statement.

They will be taken to the county jail and held to answer to a charge of murder.

The course of Gov. Patton in declining to order the national guard to Homestead until Sheriff McClary had exhausted all means in his power to preserve order is generally commended.

The prevailing opinion here is that had the militia appeared on the scene the bloodshed would have been much greater.

The advent of armed and uniformed men of the state troops to guard the Carnegie works and to act as protectors to the non-union men would have excited the strikers to all possible resistance. These men at Homestead are well organized, are under such perfect control and are so great in numbers that a conflict between them and the militia might be long and would certainly be a bloody one. Under these circumstances the governor's careful survey of the state of affairs and his conservative action, call for unqualified approval from all sides.

The Killed and Wounded.

HOMESTEAD, July 7.—The list of killed and injured is at last complete. Four men were killed outright by Pinkerton bullets and two others died in the evening. Eleven are badly injured, six of whom may die, twenty-five others were slightly injured. Three Pinkertons were killed.
