

ASHEVILLE DAILY CITIZEN

THE DAILY CITIZEN, Democratic, is published every afternoon (except Sunday) at the following rates: One Year, $6.00; Six Months, $3.50; Three Months, $2.00; One Month, $1.00; One Week, 50 cents.

MONDAY, JULY 18, 1892.

Sir Charles Dike has been returned to parliament by a big majority. Gladstone by a very small one. The moral is that Dike's great ability overshadowed his immorality, but the result was unexpected nevertheless. We may yet see, so this decision reads, a man of, at one time at least, vile personal habits, premier of Great Britain.

NOT GOOD RECORD.

Recorder Miller is reported as acquitting an alleged offender against the sanitary ordinance partly on the ground that permission was given by the owner of a vacant lot to deposit filth thereon. The idea that the consent of the owner invalidates the ordinance when violated by a second party is new and not good or sensible. We do not say that conviction should have been secured in this case, but acquittal should certainly have followed from other grounds than that given.

We hope, in general, to see the Recorder hold up the hands of the Board of Health in every possible way that is legal. There ought to be many more cases of infractions of the health ordinances brought to the attention of the Recorder than there are. It is within the knowledge of everybody who gives the matter his attention that the town needs cleaning up in many portions, some of the more offensive being within a block or two of the heart of the city. A health resort especially cannot afford to be lax in such a vital matter.

PROHIBITION DEMOCRATS.

That was a very significant lesson for prohibition democrats that dropped on Saturday's convention. Mr. Penland, a life long republican, made quite a long speech, for the purpose of gathering information. He wanted to know if a man would be in good standing with the prohibition party, and allowed to participate in county meetings, unless he intended to vote the state and national prohibition ticket as well as the county prohibition ticket.

If he could come in and vote the prohibition ticket in the county, and the republican state and national ticket, if he felt so disposed, then Mr. Penland was in, but if he had to take the "whole hog or none," he preferred none.

T. J. Candler, another life long republican, explained to Mr. Penland that just so he voted the county prohibition ticket he was all right.

No member of the convention contradicted Mr. Candler's construction of the rules governing the party.

That is to say—if a republican thinks he can do more to damage the democratic party in Buncombe county by voting the prohibition ticket than by voting the republican ticket, he will be a prohibitionist, but he will vote the republican state and national ticket.

If there is a democrat in Buncombe who will fail to see this kind of a job, he ought to have a committee appointed by the courts to take charge of his affairs.

A CONTRAST.

There have, at various times, been some very interesting views published as to the duty of the employer of labor towards his employes, among them the following:

"Peaceful settlement of differences should be reached through arbitration. I would lay it down as a maxim, that there is no excuse for a strike or a lock-out until arbitration of differences has been offered by one party and refused by the other."

"To expect that one dependent upon his daily wage for the necessities of life will stand by peacefully and see a man employed in his stead is to expect too much."

"One hour of courtesy on the part of the employers would prevent many strikes. Whether the men ask in proper manner for interviews, or observe all the rules of etiquette, is immaterial. It is not asking too much of men intrusted with the management of great properties that they should devote some part of their attention to searching out the causes of dissatisfaction among their employes, and where any exist, that they should meet the men more than half way in the endeavor to allay them."

"The employer of labor will find it much more to his interest, wherever possible, to allow his works to remain idle and await the result of a dispute than to employ the class of men that can be induced to take the places of other men who have stopped work. Neither the best men, as men nor the best men as workers are thus to be obtained. There is an unwritten law among the best workers: 'Thou shalt not take thy neighbor's job.' No wise employer will lightly lose his employes."

"The right of the workmen to combine and to form trades-unions is no less sacred than the right of the manufacturer to enter into association and conference with his fellows, and it must be sooner or later conceded."

Manager Frick, of the Carnegie works, and the New York Sun would probably call these views incendiary, but they are the deliberately expressed opinion of the Forum magazine of April and August, 1886.

IN SUMMER DAYS.

Wake county alliance met Friday at New Hope. It elected State Senator A. C. Green as delegate to the state alliance at Greensboro, and W. R. Upchurch president. The St. Louis platform was ratified.

The Twin-City hospital association, of Winston, has let the contract and work has been commenced on its building which will be two stories high with a frontage of 104 feet.

Governor Holt has given the Lee Light Infantry, of Chester, S. C., permission to encamp at Blowing Rock for two weeks beginning July 19.

Another large tobacco factory is in course of construction at Winston, six stories high and 120 by 53 feet. The owner is Col. J. W. Alspaugh.

Two Mormon elders are said to be expounding their doctrine in Davidson county.

THE TATTLE.

Some Things He Sees And Hears Worth Talking About.

I will admit that Capt. Johnston gave me as neat a call down last week as the person least friendly to me could wish. But he did it in such a pleasant way that I was half glad he did. The Captain knows what he said on the occasion referred to. I knew, too, but was not careful enough in framing the sentence. I can't, however, agree with those who think the city should put in these "Y's" or water connections all over the city, even at places where the main would not be tapped for ten years. And coming down to the fact of the business, I don't see much in the argument of great damage done by the carrying up of the pavement to put in the water connections. The law, I think, requires that the paving shall be put back in as good condition as it was before. The city engineer can surely tell whether the work is done right, and if the city can't attend to its business on this line it would better take a day off and allow somebody else to run things.

I can't regret with Captain Johnston that I referred to his remark about locking up his money when the mayor and aldermen are around. He may have been joking or he may have been in earnest. What I wanted particularly to do was to give the public a sort of idea of the absurd carryings on at the board meetings. There is more nonsense talk, more disorder in an ordinary full meeting of the board than anyone here can imagine. Now, of course, nobody will construe this to mean that every member of the board is disorderly. There are as solid good men on the board as ever sat in a deliberative body. But if better order is not preserved it will soon be so that the council room will be filled with people who attend merely to see the exhibition. Take heed now, gentlemen, and reform ere the terrible habit fastens itself upon you and holds you forever a slave.

Speaking of Gala Week, how did you like the one we're just through with? I have concluded that it was a great success—much more so than I really expected. Too much praise cannot be given the committees, who have worked hard to make Gala Week a success. Without the aid of the business men of the city, the committees could never have succeeded, and those who assisted must receive their share of the praise.

Everybody was satisfied with the way in which things generally went off. That's a big advertisement to Asheville. The success of the first festival will have a wholesome effect. It will make next year's Gala Week one of the greatest events the Old North State has ever known. The committees will begin advertising earlier and scatter the advertisements the country over, bringing people here from every part of Uncle Sam's territory. Hurrah for Gala Week!

I will have something more to say on the Gala Week subject later, but I want to remind my readers that I was early to call on the business firms to decorate their buildings.

Last week was a hard one on newspaper editors. They seemed to have more than they knew what to do with. THE CITIZEN printed everything that was news up to the hour of going to press, however. But the Morning Kept had such a rush of advertisements (?) that it could not give much that happened after 4 p. m. in its five or six columns of long primer type, even then copying reprints from some of the reports THE CITIZEN had paid to have done. It was next to pitiable to see the way in which Gala Week events after 3 or 4 p. m. were reported by the M. K. It was all right up to that time, because THE CITIZEN could be relied on. But after that hour—oh, it was sad, sad.

Oh, I'm taking up too much valuable space in referring to a sheet that never of late days prints anything fresher than editorial. I am through. Even a so-called newspaper can comprehend!

NORTH CAROLINA FOLKS.

Mr. Z. W. Whitehead has sold his interest in the Fayetteville Observer to Mr. Hale, but remains with the paper as city editor.

A Miss Vaughn recently died in Greene county at the age of seventy years. She lived within three miles of a church, yet had never been inside of one, had never been three miles from home; never had seen a railroad car; never had a sweetheart and had never been courted. She located a farm to which she gave her undivided attention; and seemed perfectly contented and happy in her possessions and condition.

THOS. H. CARTER.

He Steps Into Mr. Clarkson's Shoes.

From the N. Y. World. The hunt for a chairman of the republican national committee was ended yesterday and Thomas H. Carter, of Montana, the present commissioner of the land office at Washington, was elected to the position. The honor had been previously declined by at least a dozen men.

Mr. Carter's selection was clearly a case of one offering seeking the man. He did his best to get out of the way, was practically forced to accept it. Mr. Carter was Mr. Harrison's chief manager at the Minneapolis convention, and it is regarded as fitting that he should manage the campaign for the president. The friends of Mr. Blaine professed to be much relieved that one of their number was not going to be at the head of the national committee. The responsibility for the management of the campaign now, they declared, would be where it belonged, on the shoulders of the President and his friends.

MRS. OWENBY'S CURIOSITY.

It Was the Cause of a Letter to Green Goods Men.

EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—Thanks for your interest in my behalf in reference to the green goods raid and my letter.

Yes, I wrote just as the St. Louis Globe-Democrat had it, but not for the purpose they supposed. Several weeks ago Mrs. Owenby sent me the enclosed and we had up a bet as to what it was; to decide it, of course, we wrote on to them.

When I found they had counterfeited money, I determined to get a sample and all the proof necessary and turn them over to the proper authorities. They precipitated trouble by my boldness in sending a billhead of my business, and had not sent the sample they promised. There was certainly their fraudulent business, and we sent them the letter referred to in the St. Louis papers.

I was too late as others had worked up their case and arrested them in a day or two. I did not want their goods, but I had liked the amount. Uncle Sam would have given me had I not been too late in bringing them to justice.

EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—Enclosed is an explanation for Mr. Owenby. I feel that it is my duty to do all I can to vindicate and clear up the false impression that the Globe-Democrat letter would necessarily give, as it was my curiosity that led to the correspondence.

He has a cousin a detective and they had arranged to get an assortment of their had samples and make the arrest.

Respectfully Mrs. P. A. Owenby, No. 28 Davidson street, July 17, 1892.

The following is the advertisement referred to in Mr. Owenby's letter, omitting the address:

C. G. OWENBY, $100 for $10, or $50 for $5. Make in $100 and $50 lots. Good agents wanted for rare goods. Parties cents.

COUNTY ORGANIZATION.

How to Perfect It Under Certain Conditions.

From a Raleigh Letter.

The democratic central committee was in session until a late hour Friday night. It adopted resolutions expressive of the party's thanks to Mr. C. B. Beckwith, who for several years had been secretary. The following resolution was adopted: "Upon information that, for one cause or another, the organization of the democratic party in some counties of this state is not perfected for want of full county executive committees, or of a chairman for such committees, etc., the central executive committee of the democratic party suggest, as a proper plan of procedure in such cases, that the chairman alone, if the members of the county executive committee have not met or do not meet upon his call, or, for want of any chairman or such chairman's failure to act, that any member or members of county executive committees, who may meet for that purpose, should call township meetings and county conventions for any immediate necessary cause, and that, under the conditions indicated, such procedure will be right and sufficiently authorized until the township meetings and county conventions soon to assemble shall perfect county and township executive committees according to the present plan of organization of our party."

The Same Senator Vance.

From the Charlotte News. Senator Vance is not too sick to joke. A Charlotte visitor met him at the Hamocks Friday and anxiously inquired: "What is the matter with you Governor?" "Well," replied Senator Vance, "I have had just a little bit of everything except the third party."

Hon. Reuben McBrayer.

From the Shelby Review. In the death of Hon. Reuben McBrayer, not only Shelby and Asheville, but the entire state sustains a loss that will long be felt. A patriot, a christian gentleman, a model citizen has been called away and the state can ill spare such a man.

"One summer several years ago, while railroad in Mississippi, I became badly affected with malarial blood poisoning that impaired my health for more than two years. Several offensive ulcers appeared on my legs, and nothing seemed to give permanent relief until I took six bottles of B. B. B., which cured me entirely."

A MISTAKE Will Be Made

By those coming here to enjoy Gala Week unless they take advantage of Bostic's Special Bargain Sale, which will begin Monday, the 11th, and continue every day during the week. Mr. Bostic has decided to make it the sale of the year, and will offer everything down below "mud sill" prices. Regular "cob crushers" and "stone breakers" will be his motto for the week. Everything in Gents' Furnishing Goods will go at first cost to make room for his large dry goods and notions trade. Thousands of yards of pretty Dress Goods will have to move to the tune of "Quick Sales and Small Profits." Odds and ends will begone away and everybody made happy. Thousands of strangers visiting our city will return home to talk of Bostic's low prices, pretty goods and polite attention. Fathers will tell it to their children, wives to their husbands and lovers will talk about it in the wee sma' hours of the morning, and just so long as the great Gala Week of the "Queen City of the West" is remembered, just so long will Bostic, his goods and his prices be the one in spring theme that will stimulate others to try and imitate (not excel) the leader of low prices and the defier of competition. Prices will be given, but they are the talk of the town, for there is not a day or an hour but his clerks are asked the question, How is it, and why is it that you can sell goods so low? Only those who would not listen to reason and have only stayed away because they have been humbugged by others are the ones who are not profited by Bostic's low prices. Go and see for yourselves. Get in the float, and don't stand on the bank and see others made happy while you are getting left on all occasions, and you will ever thank us for telling you.
