Delegates Selected for the State. Congressional, Senatorial and Indicial Conventions-Maj. Rol-

The Buncombe county republican convention for the selection of delegates to gressional conventions, was called to or-1 o'clock, by V. S. Lusk, chairman of the county executive committee. The attendance was considerably larger than that of yesterday's convention. In calling the meeting to order, Col. Lusk said that the state convention would decide ticket. All republicans present from precincts not regularly represented were admitted as delegates, on motion of W. II. Deaver. On roll call it was found that ten pre cincts of the county were represented. Col. V. S. Lusk, chairman, and C. B Moore secretary, were re-elected as per-manent officers. The chairman was in structed to appoint one delegate from each voting precinct in the county to select delegates to attend the state convention at Raleigh September 7; the con yention at Kaleign September 7, the congressional convention at Asheville August 3; the senatorial convention at Asheville August 3; and the judicial convention (to be called.) Many weary looking members were present a der in the court house this afternoon at the opening, but it was plain to be seen that the attendance is diminishing and the dreaded announcement of no quorus may come at any time.

The fair men propose to drum up enough members here within 24 hours to make a quorum, but they do not yet whether it was best to put out a state see how that would help them. In the absence of any special rule a half dozen with the necessity of putting out a state filibusterers can protract the session inany business by simply alternating in motions to adjourn, to fixed the dates and to take a recess. Today the joint resolution extending the appropriations expires and it will be necessary for congress to pass the standing civil appropriation bill, or an-other extension resolution, or else some of the most important branches of the government service will come to a stand still. These include the life saving ser vice and the light house service and the cessation might prove to be a most dis-astrous infliction upon the commerce of the country.

The house immediately upon meetin entered upon filibustering on the World's fair amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill and there was no pros-pect of a cessation of hostilities. The situation is becoming a dangerous one Unless the sundry civil bill passes today or a resolution extending the appropriations of last year be agreed to, the work at the Government printing office must cease at 12 o'clock tonight Even the Record cannot be issued. Mr. Holman of Indiana offered a resolutio extending the appropriations carried by the sundry civil bill of last year until August 4. Mr. Hopkins of Illinois ob-jected to its consideration. The speaker said that the resolution was in the na-ture of an appropriation bill, but the pending business was also an appropriation bill and be didn't think the resolu tion had any priority. But as the ques tion was a most important one he would Searcely a dozen minutes did the ill fated girl live after the assault. The murderess clambered up the levee, leaped nto a buggy, where Lillie Johnson wa waiting, and then drove directly to her home in the aristocratic portion of Union street. "Oh, Allie, what have you done?" asked her frightened companion. "There is blood on your hands and face."

"Yes, it's Freda's blood. Don't you wipe it off. Oh, I love her so." The police arrested Miss Mitchell a her home that evening, and on the nex day Miss Johnson was arrested as an ac essory. Three hours after the deed when taken before the chief of police Alice was as composed as a woman in the midst of her home circle. She even smiled from beneath her veil as the crowd of officials gatered about. This indiffer ence deserted her but few times on th trial which lasted over a week and dur-ing which she described in detail the murder and said she did it because she did not want anybody else to marry Miss Ward. She testified that she did not regret the act, and showed plainly that she was insane on the question of ber relations with Miss Ward.

DID HE TRY TO COMMIT SUICIDE?

The train which leaves the Asheville depot at 3:05 was rounding the bend vesterday when a man rushed to the platform and jumped off. His rash act created great excitement among the other passengers—they all thought it was a case of suicide. Ladies fainted, men rushed to the platform expecting to see his mangled form upon the track, but the fact was he had forgotten to put his bottle of "Buncombe Pills" in his satchel and would not start on his journey without them. He took great chances, but he might have taken greater.
