WM. M. SHELTON DIES IN MAD-ISON JAIL.

His Trial for the Murder of Grant Tweed Was Going On at Marshall-Stricken by Heart Discase, He Dies in Five Hours.

Readers of THE CITIZEN will remember that on Friday morning of last week the trial of Wm. M. Shelton, for murder, was begun in Madison county court, in session at Marshall.

On Saturday afternoon, at the close of the second day of the trial, when court adjourned until Monday, Shelton complained that he was suffering from heart trouble. He was taken to the jail, placed in his cell, and a physician seat tor.

Shelton, realizing he was a very sick man, requested that his wife be sum moned. His request was granted. When Mrs. Shelton reached his side Shelton told her the cause of his illness and said he did not want her to think that his death, if death occurred, was caused by fear of the outcome of the trial. Mrs. Shelton and the physician re-mained with the sick man, and did every thing possible to relieve him, but he rap illy grew worse, until about 11 o'clock when he died.

The erime for which Shelton was of The crime for which Suchan wins on taid for his life was committed on Sun-day, June 19, this year, and occurred in the road on Spill Corn cryck, Madison county, The murslered man was Grant Tweed, Shelton shooting him through the neck with a bulket from a pistol, Death ensued instantly. #### Accident to Rev. Dr. W. A. Nelson at Ocean View.

The Wilmington Star of Saturday con tains this account of an accident to Rev. Dr. W. A. Nelson, formerly postor of th First Daptist church, Asheville:

"During the concert of the Second Rep iment band at Ocean View vesterday, the Rev. W. A. Nelson, D. D., an eniment Baptist divine, met with an accident which cause near being a serious one. He was standing at the northeast corner of the papilion when he was struck with the partition on air-gun, which had glanc-ed from a target of the shooting gallery just north of the pavilion. Upon exami-nation it was found that the builet had entered just below the right eye, A young man standing near picked it on with his knife. Although the needen was paintal and came very near being a serious one. Ir: Nelson did not complain and took the train for his boardin house at Wrightsville.

Cirizits's correspondent at TIME Wrightsville writes that Dr. Nelson is improving rapidly.
