OF A WOUND IN THE HEAD

EDWARD BROWN, A BLACK SMITH, DIES.

Brown and John Noel Become Involved in a Row That Ends in a Crushing Blow to the Skull of the Inquirer.

Edward Brown, a blacksmith, residing at No. 14 Clayton street, died at his home last evening at 8 o'clock, from the effects of a blow on the head, struck by John Noel, on Wednesday evening.

About 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening Brown and Noel became involved in a difficulty in rear of C. S. Cooper's feed store, 67 North Main street. The men were near the frame building adjoining Cooper's store, in the basement of which one Mrs. Thos. Peak had rooms and it is believed that the altercation was on the woman's account. It is said that Brown struck Noel on the head with a rock, when Noel retaliated by picking up a rock and throwing it at Brown with terrible force, crushing his skull.

After being injured Brown, walked to his home and went to bed. Yesterday morning Brown's brother, with whom he slept, left without waking the injured man, knowing nothing of the fight. Later in the morning Noel went to Brown's house with a friend to see Brown. He sent his friend for a physician, and Dr. Jos. A. Burroughs was called. Dr. Burroughs called for his assistance, Drs. L. B. McBrayer and W. P. Whittington. The wounded man was unconscious. The operation of trephining was performed and an ounce and a half of blood clot removed, but Brown never rallied, remaining unconscious until he died.

Noel disappeared and was not seen until last night, when he was caught by Deputy Sheriff H. C. Jones and Patrolmen Collins and Leonard, in Beavertown precinct. He was lodged in jail.

Mrs. Peak, the woman in the case, left yesterday morning for Atlanta, Ga. Sheriff Reynolds telegraphed the authorities of that city for her arrest. About 10 o'clock today he received a telegram stating that she had been arrested there and would be held until he could send for her.

A most mortem examination of the dead man was made at 9 o'clock this morning. Brown was about 21 years of age, unmarried, and ran a blacksmith shop on Water street. Noel is also about 21 years and a single man.

The Inquest.—Coroner McBrayer summoned J. A. Wagner, W. C. Stradley, G. A. Greer, J. M. Davis and B. F. Patton as a jury and an inquest was held in the court house, beginning at 11:30 today.

Judge J. H. Merrimon represented Noel. Dick Mitchell testified: Wednesday night about 11 o'clock Noel came to my room, and showed a wound in his head, saying that Brown had knocked him in the head with a rock. Noel also said that he had picked up a rock and knocked Noel on the head. He had never seen Brown since that night.

George Bryant swore: On Wednesday night about 8 o'clock, Ed. Brown came up to the Farmer's warehouse where Noel and I were sitting. He was drinking. He said, "John, you know that old woman you need to go to see? Let's go down there." Noel replied that he didn't want to have anything more to do with her. Brown says: "I'll get a quart of liquor and we'll go down and have some fun." Noel said he wouldn't drink any whiskey. But crowd left then, leaving Brown and Noel sitting at the warehouse apparently friendly. Did not see Noel after that until yesterday morning. He said he wanted to make a trade with Brown, and we went to Brown's house but couldn't wake him. A half hour afterwards we went back to the house and discovered that he had been wounded in the head. Noel, myself and Miss Carrie Brown dressed the wound as best we could. Brown had to be held up in bed. I then went for a doctor. When I returned Noel was still in the house. We then came up to my room to tell me of the injuries to his brother. Noel said "Ed. tripped me up and hit me in the head with a rock. The old lady Peak washed my head. I hit Ed. in the head with a rock too."

VERY SERIOUS NEGLECT

SERIOUS CHARGES BY NORMANNIA PASSENGERS

They are all Well, but Have Received Little or no Attention and Now Appeal to the Governor—Sandy Hook to Shelter Detained Passengers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The war department this morning reluctantly gave assent to the use of a portion of Sandy Hook as a detention station for passengers and immigrants on the ships now lying in the lower bay of New York harbor, this action was taken this morning, it is stated, by Gen. Grant, acting Secretary of War, upon representations of Secretary Foster and Secretary Tracy.

New York, Sept. 9.—The news telegraphed from Sandy Hook and quarantined this morning, is to the effect that the Hamburg, American Line steamship Wilhelm, which passed Sandy Hook shortly after six o'clock this morning, reached the lower bay at 7:15 and there anchored and hoisted a yellow flag indicating that she has sickness, probably cholera on board.

The Wilhelm is not one of the first class steamers, but is about the same size and built as the Regia, which is now in lower quarantine. The Wilhelm, however, like the Regia, carries both cabin and steerage passengers, and no doubt has her usual full complement of the latter.

In addition, the yellow flag has also again been hoisted on board the steamer Normannia, where so many steerage passengers are delayed in spite of the fact that the steamer seems to be attacking the steamer's crew and passengers.

It is therefore a relief to know that Sandy Hook telegraphs that the dreaded flag has not been hoisted this morning on board the Regia or Moravia and hopes are entertained that no further outbreaks of the disease will occur on board these two steamers.

The Liverpool steamer Britannia, from Liverpool also passed Sandy Hook this morning, and as she did not hoist the flag, it is believed that she is free from cholera. The cholera record up to this morning, without counting the cases which may be announced today, is as follows: New cases yesterday, 4; total deaths in this port, 15; total deaths on passage to this port, 5; sick and under treatment, 18.

The following appeal to the Governor was today forwarded to Gov. Flower at Albany: "The undersigned committee represent the first and second cabin passengers of the steamer Normannia now in quarantine at the port of New York."

"We have been detained since 4 o'clock Saturday morning by the power of the health officer, and yet, during that time, no official inspection of the ship or visit to the sick has been made by that officer or any representative him. Disinfectants asked for, and promised have not been furnished so that the work of disinfection begun by the ship's officers has been stopped. The sick and the dead have been retained on the ship an indefinite time. Fresh water has not been provided to replace that placed on board from the Elbe."

"We solemnly declare that at this moment there is no illness among the passengers, nor has there been for eight days. Can it be possible that the National Government, Governor, the press, and the people of New York will permit 500 of their fellow citizens, all now in good health, to be long detained on this ship without proper knowledge of the state of that ship? Therefore we pray that your excellency will put at the disposal of the health officer such competent and experienced assistance with every requisite necessary to enable him to effect discharge of this ship and put the same in perfect sanitary condition and that the passengers from our present journey."

This was signed by J. R. McPherson, of New Jersey; Theo. Hendricks, of Illinois; John J. Edinger, of Georgia; J. H. Lumber, of Ohio; W. H. Galloway, of N. C.; Thomas A. M. Palmer, of S. C.; Rose Hall, of Maryland; Dr. P. Lange, executive committee.

Boston, Sept. 7.—A well-known citizen of Boston, who is a passenger on the steamer Normannia, now detained at quarantine in New York harbor with cholera on board, writes home as follows: "At the London-Hamburg office we were assured that the Normannia would have no steerage passengers on board, and the Hon. S. A. M. Alcock telegraphed the company, and has their reply: 'No steerage on board Normannia. Others did the same, and none at the Victoria Hotel, about forty in number, would have started with this information and secured at the steamship headquarters. The last man to speak to when in the railroad carriage was the London agent of the Hamburg company, who shook my hand and assured me that no steerage passengers were on board. I hope the company will be sued for a large amount by the passengers holding these telegrams.'"

Boston, Sept. 7.—The baggage of the Cytus steamer passengers, which had undergone disinfection by superheated steam, was overhauled yesterday, and it was found that in some cases the process had had disastrous results. The steam ruined everything in the shape of leather. Shoes were shrunk and twisted out of shape and rendered as hard as iron. A pair of lady's gloves had shrunk to the size of a man's thumb. A lady's sealskin souché had shrunk so that a baby could not wear it. Almost every lot of baggage was damaged, and many of the women sat down and cried when the trunks were opened. One woman and her two children could not get their shoes on, and had to leave the wharf without any, and a man whose disinfected trousers did not reach to his shoe tops tied them down with strings.
