CLEVELAND WANTS REST

HE MAY COME TO NORTH CAROLINA FOR IT

Notice served on Office Seekers

To Give The President-Elect

Time To Think Of Other and

More Important Matters.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—President-elect

Cleveland left town today in search of much needed rest. Since the election he has been fairly overrun with callers and the volume of his correspondence has been something enormous. The Presidentelect's appearance today indicated fatigue. In speaking of the necessity of relief from the annoyances which are his daily lot at home he said:

"I have been amazed and exceedingly grateful at the thousands of letters of congratulations which I have received from Americans of every station in life and from every quarter of the land. It has been, however, utterly impossible for me to even read letters of that description, because of the other interruptions which thus far seemed unavoidable. I appreciate, however, the friendliness which these letters indicate and shall not omit, as time allows, to read every one of them. These good friends of course will not expect any replies to their communications, for that would be utterly out of the question and the most that I can do to say through the press that I am not unmindful of their kindness.

"Many of the callers whom I have been obliged to receive would not, I think, have encroached upon my time if they had given the matter a moment's thought. Those who have called upon me to talk about offices, it seems to me, have been a little inconsiderate, certainly premature. I desire to give as much publicity as possible to the statement that I do not propose to consider applications for office prior to my inauguration, and I shall avoid all interviews on that subject.

"Those who, under any pretence, again obtain an opportunity to present their applications orally and those who burden me at this time with written applications cannot possibly do any thing that would so interfere with their chances of success.

"Written applications will be so little regarded, I doubt it they will ever see the files in Washington, for there is no reason or decency in my being overwhelmed with such matters at this time."

Upon being asked how long he expected to be away, Mr. Cleveland replied:

"As to that I am not certain. I expect, however, to be absent about two weeks and when I return, unless I am somewhat relieved from the unnecessary demands upon my time, I shall shut up my house in the city and find some quieter place to spend the winter. Certainly between now and the fourth of March, I should have some time to devote to other matters than receiving callers."

It is said, and generally believed, that the place selected by President-elect Cleveland at which to spend a brief vaca-tion which he has planned to take, is in the mountains of North Carolina. The

A NOVEL CASE.

New Trial Ordered in the Robb

Case in Charleston.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 22.—The Supreme court of the State has ordered a new trial in the suit over the estate of Wm. Robb, for many years a prominent business man of Charleston. The case raises the question whether a childless unmarried man of alleged illegitimate birth can have any legal heir.

Mr. Robb was a Scotchman and came to this city many years ago. He died in 1885, leaving property valued at nearly $150,000. Mrs. Jean Robb Muir, of Woodcross, Utah, claimed the estate as Robb's sister. Her claim was contested by the State, to which the estate was declared escheated on double ground: First, that Robb was an illegitimate child and could have no heirs, and, second, that when he bequeathed, as in his will, he meant his lawful relation, and as he had none his unlawful relations could not take it. Mrs. Muir was non-suited because she was not able to conclusively prove the marriage of Robb's father and mother, and because the court held that there was no competent testimony to show who were the persons referred to in the will.

The higher court now reverses the decision and orders a new trial. The case is a novel one and raised points new, not only in this State, but in this country.
