This does not quite tally with the fact that the County Commissioners refused at their last meeting to allow another saloon to open on South Main street. We have no doubt the saloon men think they are very badly treated.

Concerning a recent disturbance in the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, it will strike the disinterested observer that the faculty could put in a good half hour's work every morning Durham .. relieving the students of their blunderbusses. One would think a medical college would be about the last place where it would be necessary for a man to arm himselt as though in an African jungle.

A CALAMITY HOWLER

The Mail and Express of New York reports this conversation with a Philadelphia manufacturer named Dolan:

"The manufacturer says: 'Here, boys, there was a wall up, so that the fellows county. There are 47 widows who receive on the other side of the wall, earning $17 each, while of the 33 soldiers 18 only $7.20 per week, couldn't compete draw $17 each fidraw $11 e with your labor. That wall is down

"'But we can't work for such wages as that, 'replies the American workman.
"'Well, I'm sorry you can't,' answers
the American manufacturer; 'but if you can't I can't run the mills. We must That's all there is to it.' "And that's all there is to the tariff plane upon which our American people live, they will never submit to lowering it without a revolt. It would be hard for me, or you, or any one else to do so."

It does not of course matter to Mr. Dolan or the Mail and Express that since the election more managers have increased wages than have lowered them; he puts out his sorry stuff just the same. One would think that the United States was unable to compete with the world in anything that was not walled in by a high tariff, whereas Mr. Dolan's own city shows that as a rule the unprotected industries are doing better, and paying higher wages than the protected ones. The "wall" Mr. Dolan speaks of exists for the workman only in the former's imagination, for many parts of the country swarm with cheap imported labor, bringing the scale of wages down to, or almost to the English standard, which, by the way, is above the standard on continental Europe where protection rules without bringing wages up to the scale of socalled free trade countries. Mr. Dolan is a calamity howler.
