"The institution results in prostitution," said Rev. J. L. White, pastor of the First Baptist church, referring to the theater, in a sermon prenched last even ing in his church before a congregation that tested the capacity of the large auditorium and listened carnestiv to what was doubtless the plainest, mospowerful sermon on the subject ever delivered here. The sermon was the first of a series of four which Mr. White will preach on "Popular Amusements," The

There is a way which seems the right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.

Even in laughter the heart is sorrowful, and the end of that mirth is heaviness.—
Proverbs 14: 12:13.

"The greatest danger to Christianity, Mr. White said in opening, "is 'society There are now no amphitheatres in which the fierce beast leaps upon the humble follower of Christ; there are no prisons, no deaths at the stake. But the uss, the 'cut,' which is used by some to compel Christians to surrender their principles is employed at the demand of the Prince of Darkness. A young man is often 'tabooed' if he refuses to attend the theater, the dance, the enchre party or the wine supper. Against this spirit and these institutions we speak. We use no 'Puritan severity,' but wish to apply argument to reason.

"We avow our faith in recreation. The Christian with hope and faith to sus-He can rejoice evermore in the Lord. He has pleasures untold. He can have fun and laugh. Many amusements are not connected with sin. Such are many parlor games which refresh the wearied mind, and many outdoor ever cises that are exhilarating.

"Amusements must draw their moral qualities from their association. When they are linked with established institu-tions of sin they are sinful. The theater s an institution. If it be one of sin, then theatergoing is simul and must be

Mr. White then reviewed the history of the theater from its organization in Greece down to the present day. Continning, he said:

The actors and actresses are upon the whole imand actresses are upon the whole in-moral. Of course there are exceptions. The fact is enough. They are excep-tions. The concession is demonstra-tion. There are few whose names are comparatively unsulled. But they are dangerous, because they decoy to the infamous. Among the vast majority virtue is unknown. Lewdness is master. "The institution results in prostitu-We do not speak exclusive the lower order but of the so-called best. The manner in which girls are forced to dress is degenerating. The opera is un-dressed; it is nudity. Think of a young girl entering such a life when her home training had been noble. It is heathenish. Dr. Cuyler, an observer of men and of society says 'The average theater is a

"The plays themselves are very cor rupt. Again we speak of the best plays Certainly the lower are degradidg. Just as certainly are Shakespeare's and all the rest. In these the spirit of revenue for insult is taught. Injured honor can only be vindicated at the point of the sword. Such is unchristian. It is contrary to the teachings of our Lord. When the life of Christ, as exhibited on the cross, is introduced it is done for ridicule and to excite the disgust of the auditors. When good traits in character are intro-duced this is only to make bad passions more prominent.

"It is well known that Edwin Booth never allowed his children to attend the theater without first examining the play. Macready advised against theatergoing "I know its influence upon the young The girls and boys of my congregations who have attended now and then, or habitually, have had no positive Christian influence. Instead of helping Christ's kingdom they hinder; instead of saving they often corrupt. Their spiritual gar-ment is not always brought away un-spotted by the flesh. Young men have frankly told me that they have left the exciting scenes of the theater and have sought gratification for their aroused sensual passions; that they have been led along in the giddy whirl to the bar pom and to the eard table. Young mer dways leave with base ideas of woman Verily, the steps of the theater take hold on hell, and its chambers are the cham-

REV MR CAMPBELL

New Pastor's Sermon at the First The Rev. Mr. Campbell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, preached his initial sermon Sunday morning to a large and attentive congregation. The Series of Talks on Popular text of the discourse was from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians, 2nd chapter, 1 to 5 inclusive.

The sermon was an earnest setting forth of the duty of pastor and people to preserve the Christian faith in its primitive simplicity; conforming their religious life to the life of Paul and the ple utterance of gospel truths, the una-dorned preaching of Jesus Christ and Him Crucified." He spoke of the baset-ting temptation of many ministers to preach to win the applause of their hearers and in hopes of gaining a reputa-tion for literary skill. "The minister," he said, "who feels his own weakness. and comes before his people in fear and much trembling, relying not upon the enticing words of men's wisdom, but upon the demonstration of the spirit will win souls. Leaning upon God his very weakness becomes his strength."

Mr. Campbell referred to a statement of the Rev. Arthur F. Pierson, that for eighteen years he prenched, striving in his sermons for literary and rhetorical excellence, but without success in his ministry. Mr. Pierson sought the Divine aid in prayer and it was revealed to him that he must preach "Jesus Christ with carnestness and simplicity." He did so and was rewarded with more souls in from the mill and compel the closing eighteen months than he had before won for Christ in as many years. This was city. Mr. Pierson's congregation then burned, and Mr. Pierson preached for a time in a new opera house crowds of people of the poorer class attended the services at first, partly out of curiosity perhaps. Many came to see the new opera house but stayed to hear the preacher. Mr. Pierson soon changed his sermons from argumentative, persuasive discourses, to burning atterances of gospel truths. The people continued to flock to hear nim and a wonderful religious revival Mr. Pierson remark in one of his ser-mons: "For eighteen years I have preached for the glory of A. T. Pierson, now I preach for the glory of God." The new choir vesterday surpassed tself in the musical part of the services. There are some excellent voices among the singers, and it is evident from the

There Was, It is Alleged, a Conspiracy to Poison Scores of Non Union Men Who Took Strikers' Places-Several Arrests Made.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 12 .- A Sunday paper published a startling story yesterday of a conspiracy to poison by wholesale the non-union men at the Carnegie steel plant at Homestead, and as a rerengious life to the file of Paul and the sarly Christians. Mr. Campbell stated is sincere belief in the power of a simthe effects of the poisonous drug. Developments made, it is said, implicate memsers of the advisory committee of the Amalgamated association and officers of ther labor organizations.

Today nine or more persons are under rrest, ostensibly on less serious charges out really for the purpose of averting suspicion until others in the alleged con-spiracy could be apprehended. The only name given is Robert Beatty who was arrested at Louisville last night. It is stated that the chief cook inside the Homestead mills confessed to having placed poison in the food prepared for the non-union men; that he did so at the instigation of the strikers' committees and that he was also under pay from of the mill, he said, he was to receive $5,000. Two assistants he engaged, it of especial interest to at least one member of Mr. Cambell's congregation who, formed Mr. Prick of the crime, This led a number of years ago, was often one of to the arrest of the chief cook, and as Mr. Pierson's listeners in a Northern stated above, he made a full confession. OFFICIAL VOTE OF WYOMING
