INSULTED SPEAKER CRISP

BAD MANNERS OF NEW YORK REFORMERS.

They invite a Gentleman to Make a Speech and Then Fall to Call on Him For It—What Mills Says of the Trick.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Speaker Crisp was down for a speech at the Reform club Saturday night, but was not called on, though his speech has been given out to the press. The refusal to call on him seems to have been a studied insult. There is a general impression in Congressional circles that Mr. Cleveland and Speaker Crisp have a thorough understanding as to the tariff reform course to be pursued in the Fifty-third Congress, and that the President-elect was in entire ignorance of the intended slight to be placed upon Mr. Crisp, and in his position as a guest was powerless to prevent it, even had he suspected it after looking over the program of the evening. The members of the House were today comparing the speech of Mr. Cleveland and the one that was intended to be delivered by Mr. Crisp and find therein a remarkable accord on the methods to be pursued in the reform of the tariff. Speaker Crisp's speech, had it been shown that while in the present Congress, with a Republican Senate, he favored the tentative plan of separate bills, his opinion, of course, to be pursued after next March when the Democrats will control not only both branches of Congress, but the Presidency as well, is that the tariff should be revised by a general bill. It is doubtless a matter of gratification to Speaker Crisp that among those who most emphatically condemn the inhospitality of the Reform club are many members who were not even his supporters in the famous speakership contest. Representative Crain, of Texas, who was Mr. Mills' manager during the speakership fight, said today, in speaking of the Reform club incident: "It was an outrage not to Mr. Crisp personally, but to the Speaker of the House and to the House itself. Mr. Crisp was not invited to that dinner in any but his official capacity. The insult was to his office and to the House. I all along have been an ardent supporter of Mr. Crisp and will be from this forward."

MISTAKES AND CRIMES.

Who Have Made the Former and Who the Latter.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—To a statement made in several Republican papers that the Democrats are afraid to revise the tariff, Senator Voorhees says: "The Democratic party can be depended upon to do two things—remove the unjust burdens of taxation from the necessities of life, and provide the necessary revenues for the government. The Republicans are prone to talk of our mistakes. We may have made mistakes, but there have been crimes. If we were tyrants in the science of government, we would not do worse than they, but we will give the people relief from the burdens which they have been oppressed since the Republicans came into power. The vote of the people at the recent election shows wherein they put their confidence, and that confidence will not be misplaced."

BUFFALO GIRL BURGLAR.

She is Only 15 and Confesses to Four Burglaries.

BUFFALO, Dec. 10.—Clara Lewis, the girl burglar, has been tried, convicted, and sentenced to the State Industrial school at Rochester. Though caught in the act of looting a house into which she had forced an entrance, she may be discharged from confinement in about two years if she earns a record for good behavior. This mild punishment was meted out in consideration of her youth. She is only 15 years of age. While in custody of the police some money was wormed out of her, which had been divulged in the court room, might have altered the judge's opinion of the girl's innocence. Instead of this being her first offense, she confessed to the detectives that it was her fourth.—N. Y. Sun.

UNDERESTIMATED.

The World's Fair Has Already Cost Twelve Millions.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—More money has already been paid out in creating the World's Fair than the directors thought would be necessary to complete it when Congress voted to send the exposition to Chicago. Ten million dollars was thought to be the limit then. Auditor Ackerman's report shows that the expenditures to December 1 have been $13,229,451.98. The receipts have been on hand December 1 was $636,068.33, about enough to last two weeks at the present rate of expenditures, but the souvenir coins are coming soon and the directors have nearly $2,000,000 yet in exhibition bonds from which no capital has been received.

IT WILL BE A GREAT SIGHT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Speaking of the naval review, Mr. Tracy says: "The Department for some time past has been engaged in preparations for the review and the date of April 26, 1893, has been fixed for the rendezvous at Hampton Roads. Invitations to take part have been sent to all the maritime nations. The number of answers thus far received indicates that the review will be by far the most important assemblage of naval vessels which has ever taken place in the waters of America."

The Mavrick Case.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—In response to representations of the United States government the British government has informed the United States legation that it is not true that Mrs. Maybrick's condition is critical or threatens to become so. In case she becomes worse the government will inform the legation immediately.

"ONTO HIS CURVES"

'T WAS A GOOD ONE.

The audience at the Southern Business college last evening started out with the evident intention of giving every member of the Belle Bostford Concert company an encore. The performers tried to ward it off by coming to the door and simply bowing their acknowledgments of the applause, but the people would have none of that. The small part of Asheville that was on hand was music hungry and insisted very strongly in doubling the program.

The hall of the college, while much too large for the audience, was smaller than a perfect enjoyment of the music would have dictated. In many instances the volume of sound was so much larger than the room that the effect drowned much of the harmony. Taken altogether, though, the concert was a treat.

Miss Salome Thomas, an old friend of Asheville music lovers sang solo after solo in response to the imperative applause of the audience. Her voice is a rich soprano, wonderfully clear and sweet, and she had it in perfect control, modulating it to suit the size of the hall with little apparent effort. Miss Thomas was equally at home in Von Lennox's "Spanish Ballad," and in the everyday song, "I once had a dear little doll, dears" or "Coming through the Rye."

Miss Botsford's violin seemed to be a part of her nature, so gently, and yet so powerfully did she handle the bow. Added to this was a delightfully unaffected stage manner, and the combination quite won her audience. Miss Botsford plays with great sweetness of touch and was recalled each time. Miss Grace Bullock, with her less popular instrument, the violinello, had two solos, and what surprised the audience, was that she was able to bring so much music as she did from the heavy strings. It was a marvel of melody, showing exceeding skill, and Miss Bullock was applauded in a way that must have been gratifying.

Mr. David Lybgoe's strong baritone voice was not shown to the best advantage because of the size of the room, but its richness and melody were highly pleasing. In the duet with Miss Thomas he was more fortunate than in any other number, the two voices blending with splendid effect and calling forth an encore. Mr. Gilder made friends of the audience at the start by his piano solo, although he stopped in the middle of it and looked around to see who was doing so much talking. This had the effect of bringing on a silence that could be felt. Mr. Gilder rendered a selection of his own composition and showed great familiarity with the keys. He was accompanied for the vocalists and violinists.

LITTLE MADISONIAN.

Melvin Davis, 1 Foot 8 Inches Tall and Weighs 85 Pounds.

Asheville today had a visitor who attracted a great deal of attention from the people on the street. The visitor's name is Melvin Davis, and the young man (he is 18 years old) lives in Madison county, not far from Marshall. Davis' size is what caught the eye of the crowds. He stands 3 feet 8 inches in his stockings, and weighs 85 pounds. He responded readily to all questions about himself, until the questions had become monotonous, and then walked away with the air of a man who had come to the city on most important business.

A CHAPTER ON WEATHER.

Asheville Bids Everybody Come Here and Partake.

In reading the daily accounts of bad weather in the North and Northwest it is consoling to the Asheville folk to reflect that this place has been for weeks enjoying as fine weather as heart could wish. The days are, almost without exception, beautiful, clear and crisp, in fact just such days as would gladden the healthseeker and those who wish to escape the rigors of a colder climate. Asheville's doors are open, and Providence smiles on her, and the people of all sections are invited to come and partake of the bounties of the climate.

Millions For Defense.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Mr. Oathwaite, of Ohio, Chairman of the House committee on military affairs, in his report on next year's army appropriation bill, says it carries an appropriation of $24,202,739, being $85,760 less than the amount appropriated for the current year, and $1,720,215 less than the estimates submitted.

A Horrible Death.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Charles Chanter, a botanist, who was engaged in the horticultural department of the World's Fair, met with a frightful death in the Masonic Temple. He fell from the fifth story to the basement, his body being mangled almost beyond recognition.

Tomorrow the opening will begin at Lindsey & Brown's Art Parlor, South Court Place. Everybody is invited to come and see the grand display of picture frames and art goods. And remember you won't have to be crowded into a three foot passage way.

Establishment has on exhibition a large collection of Engravings, Etchings and Photographs, framed and unframed, at 22 and 35, South Main street.

A pretty coal vase will make a suitable Xmas present. We have lots of them cheap. Thrash's Crystal Palace.

CRAWFORD DIDN'T SAY IT

HE HAS NOT DECLARED FOR A PRIMARY

The Story, Started in an Irresponsible and Obscure Sheet, Lacked Plausibility from the First; Now It is Flatly Denied.

The Gazette this morning, in an article advocating the holding of a primary for the postmastership, prints this paragraph:

"Congressman W. T. Crawford, who has the appointment in his power, in a private letter to a friend in this city, says he 'thinks the idea a good one.'"

To ascertain whether or not the assertion was true, the following telegram was sent to Mr. Crawford:

"Hon. W. T. Crawford, House Representative, Washington, D. C.: 'Gazette this morning says you wrote friend here privately that you thought primary good idea. Is it true?' Answer. 'W. T. Crawford.'"

WANTS TO MARRY.

A Request It Seems Too Bad to Refuse.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The Secretary of the Interior has received a letter addressed "Uncle Sam," and its contents provoked much amusement. The correspondent was a widow from a little town in Ohio. She said she had lived a widow for thirty years, and at her age found it too lonely. Therefore, she asked whether he would not put a plank into her pension certificate that would enable her and any other widow who had lived single since 1862 to marry, and at the same time to keep her pension. She added that she was too old, plain, and poor to get a man able to support her as well as her pension could, and consequently must take such as she could get. She concluded by asking that the Secretary give the matter prompt attention, under the threat that she will "weary him with many more such" if he does not.

ARIZONA GOLD FEVER.

One Man Makes $700 in One Day.

PHOENIX, Arizona, Dec. 13.—The greatest gold fever ever known is on in Arizona now. Men are quitting work on the railroads and telegraph operators are leaving their offices for a grand rush to the new place, the grounds in the San Juan river.

Every team has been taken and fabulous prices are being offered for horses or any other means of transportation to the mines, which are 175 miles from the Atlantic and Pacific railway. Prominent officials of the road have caught the fever and yesterday a party of ten left Canon Diablo for the scene. On Friday morning one man washed out $700, and in a day and a half another man washed out $2,800. The excitement is so intense that it is interfering with the business of the adjoining towns.
