WALLACE-WRITLOCK WED

H brew Circles-Over One Hundred Congratulatory Telegrams -Bridal Trip to Florida.

Standing under a pretty arch of smilax on a dais covered by palms, ferns, callas and other varieties of evergreens, William Wallace, of Statesville, and Miss Flora Whitlock, of Asheville, in Assembly Hall, last evening, breathed the vows and were pronounced husband and wife by Rabbi S. Tyor, of Statesville. It was the most not ble event that has circles. The large hall had been tasteoccasion, the arrangement of the platform decorations having been made by Florist J. W. C. Deake, of the Idlewild

About 8 o'clock the invited guests and relations of the couple began arriving and in half an hour several hundred had been seated. At 8:45 the bridal party marching to the air of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, the party moved down the aisle. The ushers, Messrs. J. Cohen, L. Marks, S. J. Lindau, J. W. Cone, J. F. Bowles and V. E. Whitlock, preceded, and the party marched in the following order: Miss Carrie Strauss of Asheville and David Wallace jr., of Statesville; Miss Florence Wallace of Tipton, Iowa, and Ed. Rintels of Charlotte; Miss Eugene Rintels of Charlotte and Bernard Whitlock of Asheville; maid of honor, Miss Ray Whitlock of Asheville; the groom, William Wallace, and his best man, Isi dore Wallace, brother of the groom, of Statesville; flower girls, Misses Carrie Huffman and Carrie Whitlock. Then came the bride, on the arm of her father, A. Whitlock.

As the party approached the platform on which Rabbi Tyor stood, the couples formed on the left and right, and as the bride came up she was met by the groon and by him conducted to the platform where the ceremony that made two hearts beat as one was pronounced by the Rabbi, according to the beautiful rite of the Jewish church. The kissing of the bride by the groom concluded the ceremony, and was followed by a very audible ripple of applause.

The friends of the couple then pressed about them and for a balf hour they were busy receiving congratulations. During this time the hall was cleared and a num-pendant being the gift from the groom.

The maid of honor, Miss Ray Whitlock, was attired in a white brocade with chiffon trimmings.

The first bridesmaid, Miss Eugene Rin tels, of Charlotte, was gowned in white satin with pearl trimmings. The second bridesmaid was Miss Florence Wallace, of Tipton, Iowa. Her fress was of white gauze over satin, ea ousins of the groom.

Miss Carrie Strauss was third bridesmaid and her dress was of white brocade, lace trimmed. Little Carrie Hoffman, of Statesville, niece of the groom and Carrie Whitlock, sister of the bride, were flower girls. Their costumes were of white siik, trimmed in pink velvet.

Mrs. A. Whitlock, the bride's mother wore a tan brocade trimmed with velvet and pink chiffon. Her ornaments were party and guests, in couples, repaired to the supper room, where the enjoyment of the magnificent spread was begun. Congratulatory telegrams were re-ceived from friends in Boston, Baltimore, New York, Cincinnati, Statesville, Kear-ney, Nebraska; Richmond, Wilmington, Charlotte, Goldsboro, Charleston, At-lanta, Tarboro, Butte City, Montana; Raleigh, Washington, Lancaster, Louis-ville, Albany, Denver, Chicago, Savannah, and other cities-one from States-ville declaring the marriage to be "the crowning event in the dedication of the Temple Immanuel." One hundred and ighteen messages were received.

After the telegrams came the toasts.

The first was to "The bride and groom." and was responded to by Rabbi Tyor, in and was responded to by Rabbi Tyor, in a felicitious, well timed speech, concluding with the wish that the happy pair might "live a hundred years and always be as happy as they are tonight."

The next toast, "Our guests from home and abroad" was answered by W. F. Randolph. "Asheville, the Land of the Sky," was spoken to by B. F. Long of Statesville, and "The Ladies," by S. W. Fleishman of Philadelphia. Happy talks were also made by J. L. Scales, G. E. French and the father of the groom, Mr. David Wallace.

A $600 DINNER

Rather High, But Sometimes Aldermen Eat Them

Alderman Baird's friends are twitting him about his Friday's dinner, which, they tell him, cost the city $600. It happened this way: Mr. Baird went supper room, which was cut off from the wedding hall by heavy curtains. A few moments later the curtains parted, and marching to the air of Mendelssohn's with a friend. Consequently Mr. Baird went into the country Friday, the day on which the Boards met, to take dinner with a friend. Consequently Mr. Baird went into the country Friday, the day on which the Boards met, to take dinner with a friend consequently met. with a friend. Consequently Mr. Baird was an absentee when the meeting occurred. During the meeting the bills for $600 in lawyer's fees were sent in, and ordered paid, the deciding vote being cast by Mayor Blanton, on account of a tie vote by the members. Had Mr. Baird been present, he says, he would have voted no, and there would have been no tie for the Mayor to break, and the bills would not have been paid. The Alder-man is indignant over the payment, and declares that had he known the bills were to be presented he would have foregone the pleasures of ever so many din ners. Some of his friends suggest that he give up two years' salary to reimburse the city, but this is not meant seriously.

the Idea of Buncombe's Representatives on the Subject.

Hon. John W. Starnes and Gen. R. B. Vance, Buncombe's representatives elect to the Legislature, ask THE CITIZEN to suggest to the people of Asheville that whenever any change in the charter of the city or any bill affecting the city is to be presented before the Leg-islature, it should go to the representatives recommended by a public meeting of the citizens. In this way these gentleber of couples enjoyed a waltz.

Why Two Young Men Wore Hand

kerchiefs on Their Arms.

Yesterday people on the streets noticed a couple of young men standing about Miss Rintels and Miss Wallace are seeming to have nothing to do except watch for someone. On the arm of one was tied a red handkerchief, while the other wore a white one. The pressure was too great to be borne, and finally an in-quisitive townsman stepped up and inquired the meaning of the handkerchiefs. He was told that the wearers of the red and white were expecting to meet here a cousin whom they had not seen for many years, and had agreed upon this mode of making themselves known to him. The young men were from Tennessee, and when last seen were going down Patton avenue with the expectant look still on

Watchman at a Railway Crossing Neglects His Signals and a Locomotive Runs Into a Street Car at a Crossing

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 .- Four persons were killed and eight were injured this morning by a collision of a Pittsburg and Fort Wayne engine with a heavily loaded street car at the junction of Fourth street and Stewart avenue. The engi neer of the train and the switch watchman at the crossing are under arrest, pending an investigation of the accident. Of the dead, the only one whose name is known is Geo. Blaha. From a card found in the pocket of a woman who was killed it is believed her name is Carson. All of the eight injured suffered broken limbs and severe internal injuries, and several will probably die. The car was loaded to the doorways, and as it approached the Fort Wayne tracks, an engine came backing down at the rate of fifteen miles an hour. The engineer and fireman of the locomotive did not see the car approaching the crossing, and on account of the heavy coating of frost on the windows of the car, the passengers did not see the engine. The engine struck the car and dragge it a distance of about fifteen yards. At every foot of the distance some injury was added to those inflicted when the engine first struck the car. As fast as the injured could be assisted out of the wreckage they were removed in patrol wagons to St. Mary's hospital. Engineer Grosscup, after his arrest, gave all the information he could regard ing the accident. As he neared the cross-ing he heard the fireman say, "Stop!" but he was unable to do so within the short distance. He was running about fifteen miles an hour when the accident occurred. John All-bright, one of the crossing guards arrested, is the same watchman whose carelessness at the same point several months ago resulted in a similar accident and the death of two persons.

elect of the House is almost at the point of death and he will have to be taken to the House in his bed if he can be taken at all next Monday when the House meets for organization. It now seems a fore gone conclusion that the Legislature wil split into two bodies as it did two years ago, and that two Senatorial claimants will go down to Washington. One will have credentials signed by the Governor, Secretary of State and Speaker of the Republican House; the others vouchers will be signed by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the Democratic
