FREE TRADE

A Little of it Asked For by a Railway Company.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—There was an outcropping of tariff this morning in the House during the hearing before the committee on Ways and Means on the bill which came up concerning the government and the Chicago and St. Louis Electric Railway company represented by Dr. Wellington Adams. He urged the passage of a bill admitting, free of duty, electrical apparatus and steel rails.

He advanced the argument that this should be done to foster enterprise, and cited instances where Congress had done so in the past.

This led Mr. Turner, Democrat, to remark that this might be considered as an application of the idea of building up new industries on principles of free trade.

The militia bill was laid aside in the House without final action and the house proceeded to consideration of the measure called up by the committee on Indian affairs.

WENT TOO FAST.
