Ar Paris, Texas, a week ago a negro assaulted, with all the cruelty of an essentially brutish nature, a little girl and atterwards maimed her shockingly. On Wednesday of this week thousands of men from in and about the same town tortured the negro with hot irons, drenched him with kerosene and set fire to it. He was hanging by the neck at the time and may or may not have been unconscious of his fate. But the whole world knows that, whereas a week ago it was supposed there was only one brute in Paris, it is now certain there are several hundred.

THE advocates of annexation of Hawaii say we must have it for the protection of our long Pacific coast line. They forget that with it we shall still all the Sandwich islands as well. How much would it cost to so arm Hawaii two countries? Almost if not quite as much as to make the whole Pacific coast bomb proof. This reaching out to annex a country six days distant is un-American. We must have guaranteed to us every commercial and peaceful use of the

WHAT OF IT?

For two days now there have been conducted elaborate tests of the prieumatic guns of the war boat Vesuvius at Port Royal, S. C. They have been so successful that it is announced that "not a vessel affoat would have a fighting is to be found in the Charleston News and Courier. It says:

"After leaving the gun the shell is im-perceptible until it has reached a distance of possibly one hundred yards. There is a rushing sound which follows the projectile across the water. The eye is first attracted by the base and nose pieces flying loose from the shell. They scatter in all directions and from the midst of the debris emerges the long cartridge. For an instance the eyes detect some oscillation and then the wind vanes take pos-session of the projectile and it sails away in the distance with a flight as true as an arrow and as graceful as that of a dove. When the shell plunges into the water, a column of spray forty or fifty teet high rises in the air."

The firing was remarkably accurate. On Wednesday when the last two shots of the day were being fired, "Lieutenant Ackermann stationed his fleet scarcely more than fifty yards beyond the two thousand yard line at which they were aimed and took photographs of each projectile."

The News and Courier adds:

"One of the most remaskable things connected with these shells, is that though they fall into the water at an angle of forty-five degrees, they do not continue that course to the bottom of the sea, but turning almost parallel to the surface line, they rush forward so near the surface and with such great velocity that they leave a foam crested wave in the water like that which follows a steam launch."

It one of these projectiles should fall within one hundred yards of the largest ers were offered $800 here for their catch and most heavily plated war vessel, the latter would be torn to pieces, the guncotton in the cartridge exploding a few seconds after some substance—the water or any part of a ship aimed at-is touched.

Well, what of it? All the war world waits on these tests. If they are even moderately successful there is nothing to although the day's proceedings do no hinder every nation from building any begin until 2 o'clock in the afternoon-number of Vesuviuses and making the nine hours later. then old-style war vessels over into harbor-defense ships or transports. We gain nothing by the invention of a gun that can throw dynamite from a ship, unless a war were declared at once. It is safe to say that every part of the Vesuvius is as well known in the Admiralty office of the British navy as in Washing-

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Bills were introduced in the Senate Wednesday to establish the county of Scotland; to establish a naval battalion of the State Guard; to complete and name, that deals with the well-nigh turnish the Executive Mansion. The principal bills introduced in the House Wednesday were: To encourage companies engaged in wool-growing; to allow magistrates' fees in criminal cases only on conviction, and to amend the act relative to public road workers by making the age of liability 20 instead of 18 years.

The bill to provide stenographers for the several courts of the State failed to pass second reading in the Senate.

After a prolonged and warm debate a bill abolishing the State Bureau of Labor Statistics passed by a vote of 54 to 38.
Another bill in regard to this bureau placing it under the entire control of the Agricultural Department—was intro-duced in the Senate,

Judge David Schenck made a stirring speech before the members of the lower House of the Legislature asking an in-creased appropriation for Guilford bat-tle ground. He was followed by ex-Governor Holt and Robt, M. Vance.

There is decided opposition on the parof the legislative committees on health to the bill submitted by the State Board of Health asking for an increased appro-priation for the current year. In all about $9,000 is asked for.

A bill was introduced in the House to re-mact the charter of the Cape Fear and Northern railway. The road is to run from Raleigh or New Hill to some point on the Cape Fear river in Harnett

MARY ALLEN WEST.

The death of this distinguished woman in far Japan, as a missionary worker for the W. C. T. U.has awakened a worldwide sympathy. During the cleven weeks she spent in Japan, the most im portant cities of the empire were visited, and great interest in the cause created. Her last journey was to Kawazawa 300 miles by rail and 80 miles by juirikisha. On the morning of the last day, she was too ill to make the journey, but declining the kind invitation of the Presbyterian missionaries to remain and rest, she started out to travel 55 miles by juirikisha. When she arrived at the house of Mrs. Winn, a former pupil, now a missionary, she went at once to her room which she never left alive.

Everything possible was done for her but there was no English doctor within reach. Three Japanese doctors did all they could, but without avail, and on the eighth day, after saying "I am going—I want to go," she went to Him, whom she loved and had so faithfully

The body was embalmed by a native Christian doctor, without charge, and on December 4, funeral services were held in the largest church of the ety, which was filled to overflowing. The governor and many of the highest offiials were in attendance.

Miss West was first a teacher, then by election, superintenden of Knox county public schools for eight years. She then became identified with the work of the W. C. T. U. in which she has done noble and effectual service. She wrote books, leaflets and pamphlets, and was for years editor of the Union Signal, the organ of the largest organization o women the world has ever seen.

As superintendent of Schools of methods, she spent ten days in Asheville two years ago, and enlightened and encour aged the workers then assembled. This brief sketch is taken from the memorial number of the Union Signal which is of exceeding interest to all who knew Miss West, or are interested in the great cause to which she sacrificed he
