THE DAILY CITIZEN, Democratic, is published every afternoon (except Sunday) at the following rates: Daily, 50 cents; One Year, $5.00; Three Months, $1.50; One Month, 50 cents; One Week, 15 cents.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1893.

It looks as though the county jail or the keeper thereof should be improved.

To the Joint Board: No more street paving should be done except by the lowest responsible bidder with specifications well understood by property owners as well as contractors.

Those Democrats who have been saying that the President should have left the appointment of a justice of the Supreme Court to Mr. Cleveland—forgetting that the presidential term does not end with the November election—must now sing very small over the nomination of Judge Jackson. It is doubtful if President Cleveland could have made a better nomination.

It is true that if President Harrison nominates a Republican to fill the place that Judge Jackson's nomination to the Supreme bench leaves vacant, he will probably have done more for his party, from a partisan point of view, than if he had named a Republican for the Supreme Court vacancy. But THE CITIZEN prefers to believe—and it seems a reasonable why it should not so believe—that the appointment of Judge Jackson was made because President Harrison was unable to find for the place a Republican judge of equal fitness.

JUDGE JACKSON AND STATE'S RIGHTS

Some comment of Republican congressmen on the nomination of Judge Jackson betrays an unnecessary ignorance of the history of the decisions of the United States Supreme court during the period since the war. "The two Republican members of the Tennessee delegation," says a Washington telegram, "feel sore at the appointment of a State's rights judge." Representative Hoak said: "I think President Harrison has followed his inclination and has betrayed the Republican party and committed a crime against the constitution by appointing a man who by his nomination is a State's rights Democrat, believing in a strict construction of the constitution and the supremacy of the State over the nation."

Now it is a curious fact that the so-called State's rights decisions of the Supreme court, since the reconstruction period at least, have been voted for, and mainly delivered by the Republican judges, while in some notable instances the Democratic judges have opposed such decisions. It is to be supposed, of course, that both were actuated by like motives, but the fact remains as we have stated it, and Congressman Hoak will have to change the basis of his criticism of the latest appointment.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

In the Senate Thursday, a resolution was unanimously adopted instructing North Carolina's Senators and Representatives in Congress to use all their influence to secure the passage of the Nicaragua canal bill.

The principal bills introduced in the House Thursday were as follows: To protect consumers of illuminating gas by having inspectors and permitting no gas to be sold under 120 degrees fire-test; to protect baggage of travelers by common conveyance; to provide that all schools partially supported by the public school fund shall be under the supervision of the State Board of Education.

Bills now laws: Creating a commission of three members to be appointed by the Governor to codify the legislative acts for ten years past; to make three years' absence from the State, after partial divorce has been granted, ground for absolute divorce; and to increase the Guilford battle-ground appropriation.

There was a long discussion on a bill introduced by Mr. Vance, of Buncombe, requiring dogs to be listed as other property and pay $1 annual tax. Vance supported this bill, and showed that there are in North Carolina 30,000 more dogs than sheep. The bill was favorably reported by the committee on agriculture. It was finally recommended to that committee.

Judge Jackson.

From the Knoxville Journal (Rep.): Judge Jackson is a Democrat, but he is the one Democrat in Tennessee who possesses the respect, the admiration, yes the love of Republicans from the Virginia line to the Father of Waters. In the great struggle of the '70s for the preservation of the credit of the State, he fought shoulder to shoulder with the Republicans to crush repudiation, and though beaten they have looked upon him ever since as a man worthy of any man's admiration.

The Shelby Liqueur Question.

R. B. Miller in the Aurora. Now, why abolish a law that has been of great benefit to this town and county, because the illicit sale is not entirely suppressed, especially the past few months? Our Legislature will have a bill amending the present law so that the penalties will be sufficient to deter the "blind tigers" and open, defiant sale of whisky. Instead of $100 fine and $5000, instead of thirty days have ninety days imprisonment.

The Place to Buy Horses.

Nearly six hundred head will be thrown on the market and sold at auction for just what they will bring. In the lot are over two hundred standard bred trotters, including stallions, brood mares, horses with records and young animals fit to race and win; and four hundred splendid roadsters, saddlers, matched teams and general purpose horses—Consigned by all the prominent breeders and owners in Tennessee. Every animal will be sold without any reserve, at the Tennessee breeders' splendid new Sale Mart at Nashville, Tenn., on March 15th to 18th inclusive.

For descriptive catalogue address Walter O. Farmer, Secretary and Manager, Baxter Court, Nashville, Tenn.

Avoid confusion and delay by reading carefully the schedule of West Asheville & Sebens Springs line in this issue of THE CITIZEN.

JUST IN NORTH CAROLINA.

—Statesville Landmark: Several months ago Mr. H. A. Collins of Pennsylvania, came to Statesville, leased land from Mr. R. B. Joyner near town and began mining for corundum. His efforts met with such success that last Friday the Acme Corundum and Mining company of Statesville, with $20,000 capital stock, was organized. The parties interested were Mr. Collins, W. W. Tannev and B. Howland of Pennsylvania.

—North Carolina Teacher: One of the biggest things to occur in North Carolina this year will be the departure of $500 teachers and their friends, on August 14, for a twenty day visit to the World's Fair at Chicago. While other people will pay from fifty to seventy-five dollars, they will expend only thirty-five dollars.

—Jubilee correspondence Davidson Dispatch: Mr. Jeff. Lewis, while sawing hickory timber into spokes last week at Mr. Conrad's mill, got one of his fingers split with the saw. He then laid his finger on a block and laid an axe on it and not one of the men strike it with a mallet and square it off.

—There were 1,850,000 guesses in the New York Herald's presidential trip-to-Europe contest and the editor of the Morgantown Herald came in as number ten on a guess of 369,467. E. F. Kompton of Brooklyn, guessed 369,540 and won first prize.

—Webster Herald: A six years old daughter of Mr. Frank Conner, named Bessie, at the Forks of the river, was drowned Sunday, while attempting to cross it with her uncle, Mr. Cope. She became dizzy, and fell from the log on which she was walking.

—Charlotte Observer: John Suggs, a small boy of Berryhill township, was bitten by a dog supposed to be mad, Monday, and was brought here for the application of the mad stone. The dog afterward showed symptoms of madness and was killed.

—The Burlington Herald's apology for copying a CITIZEN editorial without a credit: "To THE ASHEVILLE CITIZEN: We own up; but we didn't go for to do it." We must lay the fault at the door of a brand new devil.

—Charlotte Observer: A horrible accident occurred at the Mountain Island cotton mills. One of the operatives, Anna Primm, had her right arm caught in the machinery and torn from the socket.

—Mail service changes: Hendersonville to Brevard. From January 26, 1893, change service so as supply daily between Hendersonville and Horse-Shoe, increasing distance 23 miles.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, of Charlotte, died Thursday at the home of her son, Mr. James Thomas, near that city in her 93rd year.

—The Statesville cotton mills invite bids for 500,000 brick, delivery to commence April 1 and be completed by June 1.

G. M. Carter, Chester, S. C., writes: "A negro boy here had a bad case of scrofula. The doctor said it would kill him. I got him to use Botanic Blood Balm. He took a dozen bottles and is now well. He has not used any of it for four months and continues well."

THE OLD BACK STAIR.

Of all the sports of childhood I know of none so rare As sliding down the banisters Or the old back stair.

I remember well the circus And the fun it used to bring While watching fearless sliders A-dashing round the ring. But this jolly old attraction Could never, no'er compare With sliding down the banisters Or the old back stair.

I have grown into manhood now, And often wander home— The old folks always welcome me— They're glad to have me come; But while they're not looking I'm tempted, I declare, To slide down the banisters Or the old back stair.

—C. E. Edwards in Philadelphia Record.

Politeness and Rent.

The reason why it is the custom for an inquiring person in a New York tenement house to interrogate the residents of the top floor first is because he receives plenty of polite attention, whereas if one begins at the lower floor and proceeds upward, he will get short answers and little satisfaction. The top floor tenants pay the smallest rents.—New York Sun.
