HE CALLS ON HARRISON AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

> The President Returns The Call nia and Lecture-Governors in Washington.

Washington, March 3.-Those resi-

Washington, March 3.—Those residents of Washington who have faith in Mr. Cleveland's ability to bring sunshine at will were sorely puzzled this morning to explain the sudden and unfavorable change in the weather. Yesterday was an ideal spring day; the sun shone brightly and the air was just coolenough to make walking thoroughly enjoyable; but early risers this morning saw the indications were that the day would prove as disagreeable as yesterday was beautiful. The superstitious explained "I have but little of the emotional in my make-up, but somehow or other I found the tears trickling down my old weather-beaten cheeks like rain the other day, and I felt good, too; ah, yes, I felt good when I cried."

"It was Col. Charles Smith, of Carters-ville, (Bill Arp), who spoke thus.

"You see,' he went on to say after a moment's hesitation, 'I was up in North Carolina lecturing over the State; just talking to the good Tarheel people here and there about the good old days of yore, and while in Raleigh the Legislature of the State came to consider a bill to appropriate $15,000 to the erection

We Invite Special Attention

In the meantime the Senate committee, consisting of, Ransom, Teller and McPherson, had arrived and were waiting in the rotunda of the hotel. They were joined later by members of the inauguration committee, and as soon as it was announced that Mr. Cleveland would receive them they went in a body to his apartments and explained to him what arrangements had been made for his inauguration and invited him to make tell a thousand little incidents that had happened around the camp fires or out on the field where the hot smell of smoke and battle came stifling with the breeze of war, so pathetic, so caressing were his words and tone that I found myself as helpless in my tears as a baby.

"But, Lawdy me, how good I did feel, I was intoxicated with joy."

"Did the appropriation pass?" I asked.

"Did the appropriation pass?" I asked. In the meantime the Senate committee, arrangements had been made for his in-auguration and invited him to make arrangements had been made for his inauguration and invited him to make such suggestions as he might see fit. Mr. Cleveland expressed his appreciation of the thoughtfulness and care with which the arrangements had been made. He had nothing important to suggest to the committee and they withdrew.

At 10:30 Mr. Cleveland, accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. Thurber, entered a carriage and drove to the White House to pay his respect to the President. About 200 people were gathered on the portico and about the main entrance to the White House when the President-elect arrived. in the direction of the vehicle and as Mr.
Cleveland alighted, followed by Mr.
Thurber, a hearty cheer went up.
Thurber, a hearty cheer went up his naval aide, at this side. The two great men greeted each other cordially and exchanged a few common-places. At the end of eight minutes Mr. Cleveland withdrew, after having arranged that the President should call at the Arlington to return the call of the President-elect at half past 12 o'clock.

Hoke Smith of Atlanta, Cleveland's Secretary of the Interior, arrived at the Arlington about 10:30. He was accompanied by his law partner, John T. Glenn, and Mr. Balish, his private secrewent immediately to the apartments of the President-elect. He was accompanied by private Secretary Halford and Lieutenant Parker and was met at the private entrance to the hotel by Land-lord Roessle. Scarcely half a dozen peo-ple gathered at the entrance, as the hour for the President's visit was not known. The call lasted 16 minutes, double the time spent by Cleveland at the White House this morning. When President Harrison took his leave he was escorted to his carriage by Private Secretary Thurber. The half dozen people had been augmented in number to a score or so, and these viewed the deparature of the Presidential party. There was no attempt at demonstration and the Presidential dent was driven back to the White House as unostentatiously as he came.

President Harrison has accepted a professorship in the Leland Stanford University of California. He will deliver a series of lectures on constitutional law commencing October next.

Gov. Tillman of South Carolina and staff arrived vesterday. Governors Carr of North Carolina, Jones of Alabama, and Foster of Louisiana and staffs arrived this morning.

prove as disagreeable as yesterday was beautiful. The superstitious explained the unfavorable change by saying that this is the last day of "Harrison weather"; that the President was going to call on the President-elect, and consequently the rain came to greet him, just as it had come for his inauguration and for almost every public function in which he had since taken part. They said that the "Cleveland weather" would set in later.

The President-elect and party passed a very restful night and arose about 8:30 o'clock this morning, Breakfast was served in their private dining room about 9:30. The President and Mrs. Cleveland were joined by all the other members of their party except Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.

the Republican Senate Drags WASHINGTON, March 3 .- The conferees on the naval bill have agreed and the main smooth and free from any irritation report will be submitted to both Houses this afternoon. The report shows sub stantial agreement to all the amendments adopted by the Senate. The important matters agreed to by the house conferees are the appropriation of $200,-000 for building a submarine torpedo boat and conducting experiments therewith, and $300,000 for expenses of the international naval review. The agreement in regard to light draft gun boats is in the nature of a compromise. The House provided for one and the Senate added three more. The report shows that the committee has agreed upon three altogether. These boats are to be protected, of about 1,200 tons displacement and to cost, exclusive of arma ment, not more than $400,000 each.
