THE DAILY CITIZEN, Democratic, is published every afternoon (except Sundays) at the following rates—(except cash): One Year, $3.00; Six Months, $1.50; Three Months, $0.75; One Month, $0.25; One Week, $0.10.

TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1893.

Fare men with clean hands will save Asheville; not others need apply.—The Subsidized Gazette.

This is a charge, not straight-forward but veiled in innuendo, that the Democratic ticket has dishonest men on it. Do the candidates on the citizens' ticket endorse this kind of a campaign?

The ratification meeting in the court house last night showed lack of interest, and enthusiasm as was clearly seen. No rushing and filling seats as was expected by the supporters of the aldermanic candidates.—The Subsidized Gazette.

Not even the proof-reading of this is correct. There was as much enthusiasm of its kind in last night's meeting as in that of the mass meetings, and the crowd was at least one-fourth larger.

The largest portion of the best element of Asheville's population, irrespective of party, have lined hands to do ring rule and restore to the city a wise administration.

No w when was the subsidized Gazette chosen to declare who are our "best citizens"? At the modestly a little self-restraint, gentlemen of the subsidized Gazette, would be a fitting just at present.

"If the present set of city officials have not given us a careful, prudent, conscientious administration, what guarantee have we that a set chosen by their influence will?"

Thus the subsidized Gazette which offers no proof of its assertion. Moreover, the subsidized Gazette misquotes THE CITIZEN. We said "the present set of city officials, a majority of them," the fact being that Alderman Starnes was one of the minority that voted nearly always for the best interests of the city.

Workingmen, do you want another era of illness and consequent hard times? If you do not, vote the Reform ticket in the approaching municipal election. Capitalists, and others who have money to invest have their eyes upon Asheville, and if the ring rule is continued, not a dollar will they place here.—Gazette.

This is the plea of the demagogue. The office seeker who made that knows that his election cannot be a guarantee of good times; knows that hard times will come to the best, the most economical, the most prudent of governments.

Is the ticket put out as the result, in the main, of the primary of Saturday an earnest of the intention of the straight-out Democrats to reform our city government? If we may judge by the record of the Democratic candidate for mayor as recently printed in a review of the two years' work of the two Boards it is. For what do we find? We find the present Mayor opposed at almost every step by Alderman Starnes, we find the latter on the right side of almost all of the questions on which Mayor Blanton was on the wrong side; we find him, too, one of the hardest working members of the Board and so regarded by all his associates.

ALONG THE HIWASSEE.

Rowland Howard on Horseback. EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—Your correspondent returned from Graham county to Andrews on Thursday April 13, and next day rode down Valley River valley to the charming town of Murphy, sixteen miles below Andrews.

Murphy is the present terminus of the Ducktown branch of the R. and D. railroad, and also of a narrow gauge road connecting the town with Atlanta and Knoxville.

The city is finely located at the junction of Valley river with the Hiwassee, the fine court house and a portion of the town stands on an elevated tongue of land between the two rivers. The newly built portion of the city stands on a high, elevated east side of Valley river and is called East Murphy.

The river and mountain scenery around Murphy is beautiful. As a business centre for the future, the site is inviting; but the people seem not to appreciate the grand opportunity. When told that one citizen of the town could lay his hands on $30,000 in cash, besides valuable lands in the county, the writer wonders why steps are not taken to erect factories at Murphy. The money men here could revolutionize the county if they would put their thousands in woolen mills and other manufacturing enterprises, instead of into such land. One of the wags of Murphy is a hotel. The Drummers is the largest and is nicely kept, but too small for the town.

Beautiful Girl is said to be the meaning of the Indian word Hiwassee, as applied to the larger of the two rivers which flow into one at Murphy. A ride of 16 miles up the Hiwassee unfolds an ever-changing panorama of gentle and charming scenery which will repay the tourist. Some five miles above Murphy, Peachtree Creek, with its beautiful valley, opens a view of many miles eastward to the Nantahala mountains. Two miles further up the river Suddeth's farm is reached, known as the "Mission," where Humphrey Posey taught the Cherokee Indians seventy five years ago. A pear tree which he planted still blooms and bears on the spot where the mission was established. The canal along the river bank where Posey's mill stood, is still open; and a son of the man who operated that corn mill for right years, is now clerk of Clay county Superior court. Old citizens here who remember Humphrey Posey, can tell many things about him and the Indians whom he taught.

J. C. Moore, who was born in 1811, knew him well, and can tell you about the lawsuit between Posey and Brownlow. They had a warm religious controversy in which severe personalities were used. Posey was a Baptist and Brownlow a Methodist preacher. Posey's friends brought a suit against Brownlow for libel in the court at Franklin, and gained their case. The officer went to the church where Brownlow preached to collect the amount of the penalty, and levied on his horse. Brownlow remonstrated against his horse being taken, but to no purpose. So Brownlow said: "Take the horse and go, for he tried to make a Baptist of me by falling down in the river." Rowland Howard.

The "Star" shirt waists are the best, and of course Mitchell has them.

NORTH CAROLINA FOLKS.

Toney Dudley died at his home, in Northampton county recently, aged 108.

It is said that the Dukes of Durham pay at the rate of over $50,000 per month buying over $12,000 worth of cigarette stamps each week, or $2,000 per day.

Monroe Enquirer: A stranger appeared in Mr. J. R. Simpson's store last Friday afternoon and noticed a pineapple lying on the show case. He examined it carefully, and turning to Mr. Kindley in all the innocence of a typical greenhorn, said: "Mister, where in the name of goodness did you get these big ingun sets."

Wilmington Star: A Wilmington telegraph operator was talking over the wires with an unknown operator in Richmond. Finally, the former said: "You are no gentleman." Quick as lightning Richmond replied, "I know it; I'm a lady." The Wilmington operator was thunderstruck when he discovered that he was not talking to "one of the boys," and the conversation came to an abrupt termination.

Franklin Press: Captain Joseph W. Dobson, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed citizens of Macon county, died at his home on Cartooguchave five miles west of Franklin at 10 o'clock last Thursday night, at the age of 77 years. The cause of his death was pneumonia. His wife was very low with fever, requested that they should not bury him until Saturday and probably she would be ready to be buried with him in the same grave. She lingered until 1 o'clock Monday morning when her spirit took its flight.

Shelby Review: The Governor's [Senator's] right hand, is his son and private Secretary, Mr. Chas. N. Vance, who can dispatch more business in a given length of time than any man we have ever seen. A distinguished statesman said of Mr. Vance that he is one of the brainiest men he knows. The dependence of the Governor upon him and the tender devotion of the son to his father is touching. Mr. Vance is now the exact picture of his father ten or fifteen years ago. He has the same genial way and flow of wit as his father always had, and for patience, Job is nowhere.

Concord Standard: Plain Jack Linker, of No. 1, has worn out one shoe or one boot at a time since the terrible battle at Gettysburg, during the civil war. After the surrender, April 9, 1865, Mr. Linker came home and his entire possession, aside from energy, health, honesty and common sense, consisted of a "263 sorrel mare." With this, on his peg leg, he began to fight his battles. Nine years ago last fall Jack Linker moved from near Georgetown, No. 9 township, to Rocky River township, or No. 1. Since that time, with a family of nine living children (Mr. Linker has three dead) he has bought and paid for five tracts of land—26, 89, 86, 193, and 142 acres respectively. The 26 acres cost him $800. He owes not a cent on his land, which cost him in all $3,850, saying nothing of the interest. Mr. Linker has his eye on another tract, and when he gets that he has promised to give. All this he has done in nine years and on one leg.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

An Englishman's Good Opinion of Asheville. EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—I have today received a postal card from a gentleman who I had the great pleasure to meet last summer. He is family physician and confidential adviser to the Duke of Devonshire, one of the wealthiest nobles in England, and as I was told, interested in sending emigrants to America. The following extract will show the impression I tried to make on such people whenever I met them:

"I have almost given up the idea of coming west this summer. I regret not seeing Asheville, N. C., much more than not seeing Chicago. If you have any used centenary postal stamps please send some," etc., etc. I will be greatly obliged if you will ask any one having postal stamps of various denominations to let me have them, as I wish to write to my friends still to change his mind, and come to see Asheville if not Chicago. Respectfully, T. W. Patton.

Tom Johnston's Centre Shot. EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—I see you notice the return of Hon. Thos. D. Johnston from a trip to Cherokee, but you did not tell of an exploit of his while out there. Possibly the well known record of the Captain kept him from telling it. While at Oregrea, he took one of the old fashioned percussion-lock rifles off a squinted hunter's shoulder, shot off-hand thirty yards at a mark, and knocked the centre dead out. To the surprise of the people, expressed by long whistles, "by jingo," and other such expressions, he coolly replied, "What's the surprise; what else do you think I shot at? Now when you beat that I'll shout again."

We know he always drove the centre in a speech, but didn't know he was equally as close with a rifle. An Eye Witness. Webster, N. C., April 24.

WOMEN IN SOCIETY often need the strengthening support of a general tonic and nerve. They're tired out or "run down," or frequently the result of "weakness," and it makes life miserable. Are you weak, nervous, or ailing? Then Dr. Parson's Peppery Prescription brings you speedily relief. It's a rapidly prescribed or delicate women, for all the derangements, disorders, and diseases of the sex. For regulating and promoting all the proper functions, building up and invigorating the entire system, and restoring health and strength, this is the only remedy that can be guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money will be refunded.

It has stood the test of a quarter of a century of use—Dr. Sagar's Catarrh Remedy. That's why the proprietors take the risk; they say: "If we can't cure your Catarrh, we will pay you—$500 in cash!" CAMPAIGN POETRY.

There was an old man named Patton Who prided himself on his Latin, And thought he knew Greek And had lots of check; But that wont elect Mr. Patton.

A young man was raised on the farms Who was known by the name of C. Starnes, And he cannot be beat By the man who knows Greek, These boys, who come from the farms. Some Mugwumps tried to play poker Who knew not an ace from the Joker; They discarded a "straight," Drew a knife and his mate, And thought that was a hand to stand Patton.

Sing a song of sixpence, a bottle full of "rye," Four and twenty "blackbirds" in a Patton pie; When the pie is opened, if the "hoodle" does not ring, Of these four and twenty "blackbirds," "nary one will sing."

The settlement of the claims for damages arising out of the Boston bridge disaster, eighteen months ago, costs the Richmond and Danville railway $100,000. Of this $33,000 was settled in 13 suits in Iredell county.

There was an old man named Patton Who prided himself on his Latin, And thought he knew Greek And had lots of check; But that wont elect Mr. Patton.

HARRIS' LITHIA WATER. HARRIS' LITHIA SPRINGS, S. C. After a long and varied experience in the use of Mineral Waters from many sources, both foreign and domestic, I am fully persuaded that the Harris' Lithia Water possesses efficacy in the treatment of affections of the kidney and bladder unequalled by any other water of which I have made trial. This opinion is based upon observation of its effects upon my patients for the past three years, during which time I have prescribed it freely and almost uniformly with benefit in the medical maladies above mentioned. I have imputed it to insufficient use of the water, when failure to relieve has occurred, I have imputed it to insufficient use of the water, for my experience teaches me, that from one to two quarts daily should be taken from two to four weeks, to secure its full remedial effects.
