AMERICANS' CRESTS.

WARD M'ALLISTER FAVORS A TAX ON COATS OF ARMS.

Hr. McAllister Also Advocates the Establishment of a Herald's Office as One of the Government Apartments-Right of Americans to Wear Crests.

The number of persons using crests and coats of arms in this country is very large, and there is no way of ascertaining how large it is. The American who wants a coat of arms and has not got one usually adopts one which pleases his eye, without regard to any other considerations. In England supporters are seldom granted with coats of arms to any but members of the peerage. But Amercans must have everything of the finest, and therefore they usually take supporters to themselves. There is one very rich and famous family in this city, though of humble origin, which displays a coat of arms with four supporters instead of the two which usually satisfy English ducal families.

There is, however, a great deal of dis satisfaction with this irregular state of things. Mr. Ward McAllister, the arbiter of fashion, said it should not be tolerated. Coats of arms, he says, should be registered at a herald's office, as they are in England and other well regulated European countries. Then we should know who were entitled to them, how they got them and so forth.

"I propose," said Mr. McAllister, "that the American herald's office should be established as one of the departments of the federal government at Washington. This is a very practical suggestion. The government would be able to put a tax on armorial bearings and in that way raise a large revenue, as the English government does. It is one of the happiest ways of raising a tax I can think of. Members of fashionable society and all the other persons taxed would be pleased by it, and no one, I think, can show any good reason against it. "I know it is easy for you to assert that Americans have no business with coats of arms and such things because they are relics of feudalism, but that is nonsense. They are not any more harmful relics of feudalism than many of our social customs. Fashion requires us to use them, and fashion must be obeyed. It is merely a matter of fashion. A man with a coat of arms is not likely to be more dangerous plutocrat than a rich man without one. Besides, amorial bearings are ornamental and look well on silver and china. That is one of the best reasons for having them.

"I must say a few words as to who has the right to use them. It is not necessary that a family should obtain them by grant from the English or some other European king. It is enough if they have been used since the beginning of the country's history, or for three generations. In England any respectable person not in retail trade can get a coat of arms by paying for it.

"Unquestionably many younger sons came over to this country who had a right to bear the arms of their family. Their descendants settled in different parts of the Union and are now in the fullest manner entitled to use arms. On the other hand, many men of wealth and high social standing, but not of aristocratic origin, have adopted them since the practice became fashionable, as they have a perfect right to do. These fami lies will transmit their arms to their descendants until they become as interesting as those of aristocratic European

"There are some interesting anecdotes FOR SALE—That valuable eight room to be told of the introduction of coats of corner of Chestnut and Liberty streets. High situation, fronting south, fine shade trees. All modern improvements Call on the course there are a few New York familiary who have used to be told of the introduction of coats of arms into the general society of this city. flies who have used them continuously since the creation of the colony, but when the practice first became general it was received with a good deal of opposition. Gordon Hamersley used to av that his crest was useful to tell him which was his carriage. Colonel Thorne, who married Miss Jauncey, went to Europe 50 years ago and established himself in Paris, living as no other American had ever done. He took the British minister through his hotel, who, after viewing its interior and its stables, turned to Colonel Thorne, exclaiming "And you say you do all this on £12,000 a year! It is marvelous." On returning to America to live the colonel turned out in this city postilions with his coar of arms embroidered on the left sleeve of each postilion. This created such a rumpus, the population hissing him as he drove by, that he was compelled to withdraw them.

"Some of our best people were pilgrims and Huguenots, who on reaching this country and establishing themselves here abjured such vanities as coats of arms, as a monarchical institution. This was all very well in the beginning, but the blue laws have faded. We no longer cultivate primitive simplicity, but with wealth and age we turn to luxury and find among its necessities the use of coats of arms. The necessity and love of the American for title or some designation of distinction, plain Mr. 'not filling the bill,' is illustrated in the west and south. For 50 years or more it has een a universal custom to bestow a military title on all men who have risen above mediocrity, such as governor, general, captain, colonel, it being purely nonorary. Such titles men carry through life with this love of ours for individual distinction, which is one of our marked characteristics. When a man wants to seal his letters, mark his plate or decorate his harness, he wants a crest, and as Americans with money own the universe this crest must be forthcoming. Of course it is only an accessory to the arms, and now the question is, How shall Amercans get them? And how shall they be able to keep them? "Let me repeat that society would welcome the establishment of a herald's office for the better regulation of these matters."—New York World.

Testing Pure Water. It is one of the easiest things in the world to tell pure water from the impure. If you want to test the color of the water, just fill a colorless glass bottle with the water and look through it at some black object, and the distinctiveness with which you can see the object will give you an idea as to the amount of clay or sand there is in the water. Then pour out one-half the water, cork the bottle tightly and set it in a warm place for about 24 hours. Remove the cork and smell the air in the bottle. If there is an offensive odor, even the slightest, the water is unfit for domestic uses. Weil water, no matter how bright and sparkling, is, nine times out of ten, putrescent. Then, as a matter of course, decomposition is sure to set in in a day or two if you put the bottle in a warm place.—New York Telegram.

THE MISSING LINK.

sor Virchow lays That It Is as Re mote From Discovery as Ever. We know that man existed in the quaternary epoch, that he lived through ong ages miserable and depressed, while stone, wood, horn and bone constituted the material of his arms and of his few instruments. We are convinced that a long interval separated the age of stone from the age of metals and that only in particular places was the use of stone immediately replaced by that of metals. These are the data which now make part of the general knowledge acquired by civilized nations since the foundation of the congress, but further studies respecting the origin and the regions whence the different branches of civilization have sprung have advanced relatively but very We seek in vain for the "missing link" connecting man with the monkey or any other animal species. There exists a definite barrier separating man from the animal which has not yet been effaced-heredity, which transmits to children the faculties of their parents. We have never seen a monkey bring a man into the world, nor a man produce a monkey. All men having a simism appearance are simply patholog-ical variants. It was generally believed a few years ago that there yet existed a few human races which still remained in the primitive inferior condition of have been objects of minute investiga-their organization. But all these races tion, and we know that they have an organization like ours, often indeed superior to that of supposed higher races.

Thus the Eskimo head and the head of the Terra del Fuegians belong to the perfected types. Some races have the same skulls very small, of about the same volume as the microcephalous skulls. For example, the inhabitants of the Andaman islands and the Veddahs of Ceylon have been re-garded as microcephalic. A more exact study has, however, shown a difference between them and the real microcephalic races. The head of an Andaman islander or of a Veddah is very regular, only all its parts are a little smaller than among men of the ordinary races. Nanicephalic heads (dwarf), as I call them, have none of those characteristic anomalies that distinguish really microcephalic heads.

A single race, that of the Orang-Simaings and the Orang-Cekai of the peninsula of Malacca, still remains unstudied. The single traveler who has penetrated into the mountainous country inhabited by them, the bold Russian Miklukho Maklai, has ascertained that certain isolated in dividuals among Simaings are small and have curled hair. A new expedition has been sent into that country to study the anthropology of the Orang-Oekai, from which I have received a skull and a few locks of hair. The stock is really a black race with curly hair, the brachycepha lous head of which is distinguished by very moderate interior volume, but it not offer the most trifling sign of bestial development.

Thus we are repulsed at every line of the assault upon the human question. All the researches undertaken with the aim of finding continuity in progressive development have been without result. There exists no proanthropos, no manmonkey, and the "connecting link" re mains a phantom.—Professor Rudolph Virchow's Lecture.

Government Printing.

Some prodigiously large volumes have been printed at the government printing office in a wonderfully short time. For instance, the Revised Statutes, which constitute a volume of 1,038 closely printed pages, were set up, proof read three times, printed and delivered in bound form to the house of representatives between 5 o'clock, p. m., on a Wednesday and 12 o'clock, noon, on the following Saturday-an interval of only 67 hours. Perhaps the greatest work of printing ever undertaken anywhere was the publication of 10,000 copies of the records of the war of the rebellion in 120 royal octavo volumes of 800 pages each, at a total cost of $1,260,000 for printing and binding.

This single publication will require over 75.000 printers' reams of white paper to print it, and the composition will probably exceed 300,000,000,000 ems. There will be when the work is finished not less than 1,200,000 actual books of 800 pages each. These figures dwarf those of the largest encyclopedia ever published in any country or in any language. - Washington Star.

Why Snow Falls In Flakes. Snow falls to the earth in flakes be cause it is water solidified in starlike crystals, each snowflake being usually made up of several crystals, which are excessively light on account of the large quantity of air among the frozen particles. The snow crystals arise from the slow passage of the water vapor of clouds, when the temperature falls below freezing point, into the solid condi-tion, the fairylike transformation taking place by the molecule or smaltess inde pendent particles of the water grouping themselves with the utmost mathematical regularity around different centers. Each crystal of snow, as of anything else, is therefore a more or less perfect geometrical solid. The most complete snow crystals are formed in a clear atmosphere, where there is nothing to retard the gradual process of crystallization or molecular construction. Rain, on the other hand, being a liquid, falls in drops.-London Tit-Bits.

Avoid Explanations. One bit of wisdom may be condensed into a pithy sentence. Avoid explana-tions. In some families nothing is taken for granted. Every action, every decision, every new departure, every acceptance or rejection of an invitation must be endlessly talked and fussed over, explained and re-explained. In that way lie all sorts of stumbling blocks. As rule, beyond your parents or your hus band there is nobody who has the right to demand of you explanations at each step of your onward path. Don't give them. Establish a reputation for keeping your own counsel. It will serve you well in many a crisis and be no end of a comfort.—Harper's Bazar. Horsepower and Speed

Horsepower does not always mean speed, for the City of Rome—very little smaller than the Teutonic-is of 11,800 horsepower, against the Teutonic's 13,-000, while the Paris, which is only 500 feet long, as against the Great Eastern's | call at Palk's Music Store or No. 25 Bailey 630 feet, is of over 20,000 horsepower. Such comparisons show the wonderful development in late years of ship and engine building. - Marine Journal.

One of Africa's Latest Marvels

Only five years ago a magnificent haror was discovered at the mouth of the Pungwe river, about 115 miles below the Zambesi delta. It is about two miles wide and six miles long and on its northern shore has arisen the town of Beira, where 500 Europeans, half of them British, are now living. Beira is one of Africa's latest marvels. Probably no white man six years ago had ever seen the barren promontory of sand it occupies. On Nov. 28, 1892, a locomotive that had been put together in Beira puffed through one of the streets and a little way out of the town, for Beira is to be the port of Mashonaland, the region of mountain and plateau, where British enterprise is opening new goldfields.

A month ago 35 miles of the railroad had been completed. The route for nearly half the way to Massikesse lies along the Busi river. Its total length is less than 200 miles, its longest bridge has a span of about 800 feet, and the cost of the

The Pipe Craze In the East.

Upper Broadway and Fifth avenue in New York swarm with men whose attire indicates that they are in Ollie Teale's "4,000." These perambulating fashion plates bite the amber tip of a truly English short briarwood pipe with a tenacity worthy of the prince himself. It's English to smoke a pipe in public places and also on the street, and that settles it. But it is in New Haven and Cambridge that the fever has broken out like smallpox pustules.
