SOMETHING OF THE LIFE OF IMPURE WATER A GOOD MAN.

> He Was Every Man's Friend, and Lived Many Years, Almost Worshiped Him-The Organizer of Thomas' Indian Battation.

In the death of Col. Wm. H. Thomas, which event was chronicled in The Citizen yesterday, Western North Carolina lost one of the best of men that have lived in her borders. Though for nearly gies have borne fruit and will perpetuate and make his name a household word i the remote western section of the State for long years to come.

And not alone in the homes of his relatives and friends of the white race will this noble spirit be mourned. In r ar a little home among the ludians in Jack son and Swain counties there is sorrow tonight as the father tell the news lie has beard of the death of Col. Thomas. and then calls his little ones about him and to them points out the character the man as one thrice worthy of emul: tion. Among the red men in the west there will be tears shed over the death of the man whom, above all others, they trusted implicitly. The Colonel had done so much for the Cherokees, had spent so much time among them, and in every way showed the deepest interest in the advancement of the tribe, that the affection they feel for him is little short of moreship.

It was Col. Thomas who, during the late war, organized Thomas' battalion, composed of Indians. He was the business fluent speaker of the Cherokee tongue. From Wheeler's history of North Caroguska), becoming convinced that intemperance would destroy himself and people, determined to live temperate, and persuade his people to follow his example. I was present when he assembled them. On that occasion he informed his people that he had been considering and devising ways to promote their happiness in future. He said he had become convinced that intemperance was the cause of the extermination of Indian tribes situated in the neighborhood of the whites. . . . He directed his clerk to write in the Indian language as follows:

"The undersigned Cherokees, belonging to the town of Qualla, agree to abandon the use of spirituous liquors.' It was immediately signed by the old chief, who was followed by the whole town."

Col. John D. Cameron, editor of the Asheville Democrat, told The Citizen the following story whichillustrates well the absolute confidence where the personnel of the confidence will be absoluted and a confidence of the confidence will be absoluted and a confidence of the confidence will be absoluted and a confidence of the discount there. The strength of the discount market in London leads to the impression that further gold exports from New York are inevitable.

He did all he could to stir up the railroad matter and get the people to do something to secure the road, pointing out to them the advantages of constructing a line. The incident related occurred about 40 years ago. Col. Mr. Miller had such unbounded faith in Col. Thomas' judgment that he at once purchased the site and soon had built what was in that does not soon had built what was in that day and time a fine building and waited for the railroad to come. But it was many weary years before the road did come. Now, passengers over the Murphy branch of the Western North Carolina road can see this hous as they pass over the line. It is old and weathereaten, and near enough to the track to allow a passenger to pitch a stone from the train into the "hotel" yard. The builder's dream of summer visitors was to refund to Everitt the amount of pur-chase money and accounting to the Thomas estate for the rents since the sale was made, many years ago. Before the case could be tried Col. Thomas died, and the case was put off to a future

Some time ago, about the time work was begun on cementing the floor of the new penstock the coffer dam washed out, and a great quantity of sand was carried into the penstock, making what seemed to be a very solid floor. It has been found, however, that this will not prevent leakage, and Mr. Leehas decided to carry out his original plan of cementing the floor. It has also been found that the new wall built by H. M. A Big Battle To Be Fought That Will Probably Be Decistye-Two United States Vessels Sent

WASHINGTON, May 12 .- The Nicaraguan revolutionists have practically overthrown the government and are in complete possession of the Nicaragua canal. A dispatch received at the State de-already been ordered to proceed to a cents per bottle at Grant's Pharmacy. point on the west coast. From information contained in Consul

Newall's dispatch, it is evident that the revolutionary forces have almost complete control of affairs, and a speedy recognition from the United States will follow the demand for such action; nevertheless this government has decided it best to be on the safe side, and all steam will be used by the Atlanta and Alliance in making their journey southward.

LATER—According to information received by Dr. Guzman, Nicaguran minister, a big battle will probably be fought today bet ween the opposing forces in his country. Dr. Guzman said he received a dispatch from a friend showing that affairs there are directly opposite to that affairs there are directly opposite to the way they were pictured in a message received by Secretary Gresham from Mr. Newall, consul at Managua. So far from the government forces being demoralized this dispatch represents that the army of the government would meet the revolutionary forces today in a bat-

CAIRO, Ill., May 12.-At 10 o'clock last night as the northbound passenger train on the Mobile and Objors stopped at Laketon, Ky., to take on water two masked men compelled the engineer and fireman to go with them to the express car, where they commanded the express messengers, S. H. Ray and H. C. Peatson, his assistant, to open the door of the express car. This the mes-sengers refused to do, and were then in-formed that the car would be blown open with dynamite. The messengers refused a second time when the charge of dynamite went off, blowing a hole in the side of the car. One of the robbers then put his gun in and demanded that the doors be opened. Under promise of not being hurt, the messengers opened the door and the robbers secured about $1,000 and left.
