REBUKED FROM THE BENCH JUDGE CARTER'S STUNNING WORDS TO A JURY. The Rebuke Was Caused by the Rendering of a Verdict of Not Guilty in the Llewellyn Case—Other Court Business. J. P. Black, J. N. Snelson, T. A. Dillingham, S. E. Lasser, Chas. Henderson, A. F. Walker, Jas. E. Joiner, J. W. Briston, T. J. Carland, F. E. Embler, Peter Hall, A. C. Dillingham. Perhaps never in the history of Buncombe county did a court jury receive such a rebuke as was given the Llewellyn jury in the Criminal court this morning by Judge H. Bascom Carter. When it returned a verdict of not guilty, Solicitor E. D. Carter made the closing speech in the case yesterday afternoon. The speech was pronounced by a prominent lawyer who has known Mr. Carter for years to have been the finest argument the Solicitor has yet made. Judge Carter then delivered his charge to the jury, taking up 15 or 20 minutes in a statement of the jury's duty in making up a verdict. He did not charge the jury as to manslaughter, as it was considered unnecessary in face of the facts brought out. The jury retired and court was adjourned until this morning at 9:30, provided the jury should not reach an agreement in a short time, in which case the court was to be reconvened last night. The jury did not agree until this morning, just before the hour of sitting. At 9:30 the jury came in, and the prisoners, Frank and John Llewellyn, were brought to the bar. The former, the father, sat with head bowed and his eyes showing his partially blind eyes, while the son sat apparently rather indifferent. The jury was called and through its spokesman, J. H. Brittain, pronounced the prisoners not guilty. The court room was packed with spectators, who stood upon the benches to see the spoken verdict. When he had done so the spectators were as still as death for a moment, then an audible whisper of surprise over the issue swept around the room. It was confidently expected by the greater portion of those who had heard the testimony that the verdict would be murder in the second degree at the very least. A Stinging Rebuke. Before the crowd had recovered from its astonishment, Judge Carter spoke the words referred to, the words for which he has been commended by many people with whom THE CITIZEN talked today. Turning his eyes full upon the jury, and with a face that was almost as white as the plastering on the walls around him, Judge Carter said: "Well, I must say that that verdict is a gross mistake, and a degree of degradation [instantly 300 necks were craned to take in every word of the court.] And more, it is a personal disgrace to every man in this county who degrades the question of self-defense, but thought you could in no way consider it a case of killing in self-defense. It was certainly a case of murder in the second degree, not in the first degree. I am thoroughly ashamed of the verdict. Let the jury be discharged and the prisoners go free." The utterance of these words caused a sensation, and it was apparent from the faces of many of the spectators that they thought he had only done what the situation required. Solicitor Carter asked the court to hold the Llewellyns, as they were to be tried in the United States court for violations of the Federal laws. This was refused. H. A. Gudge, of the counsel for the defense, said that he believed Judge Carter had said as much as he had in a moment of thoughtlessness, and he knew (the Judge) did not intend to say anything in the presence of the large crowd that would influence the cases in which the men were to be tried hereafter. Judge Carter replied that he hoped nothing he had said in the case would be the cause of prejudice against the Llewellyns in any subsequent cases. But as to his words he did not withdraw one syllable. He said he did not know the motives which actuated the jury in making up such a verdict, he would not say they were not honest, but he certainly considered the verdict unwarranted. Col. McElroy, of the defendants' counsel, said he wanted to affirm that the jurors had honestly done their full duty as they saw it. This ended the discussion and the jury and the greater part of the audience left the room. On the street and around the court house men gathered and discussed the verdict, and there was an almost unanimous expression of the greatest surprise at the acquittal. Some of the jury were personally denounced on the street for their verdict and had no reply to make. How the Jury Voted. The Llewellyn jury was composed of I. P. Black, Chas. Henderson, T. A. Dillingham, Jas. E. Joiner, T. J. Carland, Peter Ball, J. N. Snelson, S. E. Lasser, A. F. Walker, J. H. Brittain, S. E. Embler, A. C. Dillingham. THE CITIZEN talked with several of these men, and it was learned that when the first ballot was taken last evening the vote stood six for acquittal, two for murder in the second degree and two for murder in the first degree. On the second ballot the vote was 10 to 2 for acquittal. These two were Messrs. Walton and Carland. Late in the night Mr. Carland changed his vote, leaving only one vote for murder in the second degree. This vote, Mr. Walton's, was changed this morning. Mr. Walton told THE CITIZEN that he could have held out and hung the jury, but he was suffering agony from erysipelas in his legs. To have hung the jury, he said, would have prolonged his agony. It was true, he said, that he might have made a mistake, but rather than prolong the matter he changed his vote and acquitted the men. Jurymen Joiner Talks. James E. Joiner, one of the jurymen, told THE CITIZEN that, considering the evidence, he did not see how the verdict could have been otherwise, although he had on the first ballot voted for murder in the second degree. He said the only State's witness who told a connected story of the killing was Mr. Coxe, and even from this evidence he (Joiner) could not conclude who fired the first shot. As to Judge Carter's remarks Mr. Joiner said that if the Judge was going to try the case, there was the use of having a jury. THE CITIZEN has heard it said that one reason of the verdict was that the jury was not properly selected. Other Court Business. The court disposed of the following cases this morning: Andy McIntyre and A. L. Byas, colored barbers, were convicted of a crime. McIntyre was sent to the chain gang for three months and Byas required to pay costs. Ben Barrett, the colored man whose counsel and the State agreed to the verdict of manslaughter, was sentenced to one year in the chain gang. Geo. Bates, colored, was sent to the chain gang for two years for larceny. J. McIntosh and Sallie Rice, white, charged with forgery, were found not guilty on the first trial, but the court the State having failed to make a case. It is expected that court will close its session this afternoon, after a three weeks' term, the longest in its history. "THE FLOWER QUEEN" An Enjoyable Evening at the Grand Opera House. Mrs. Fannie Featherston's ability for training the twig that the tree may be properly inclined, was clearly illustrated last evening at the Grand opera house. But instead of a forest of little twigs, she had a wilderness of flowers, personified by children, to try her tact upon. The 65 pupils of the public schools that crowded the stage in "The Flower Queen" cantata, played their parts well and looked very charming in their brilliant costumes. Their dresses were made of tulle and lace and tissue paper, artistically combined to represent the various flowers: heliotrope, lilies, poppies, heather, etc. The soloists, representing the flowers who expected to be chosen queen, sang very well and some of them acted with grace and spirit. Miss Roy Whitlock—the rose—easily excelled among the v. calists. Miss Eva Branch, as the recluse, showed dramatic ability and training as an elocutionist. Mabel Randolph was given a basket of flowers in recognition of her very charming singing. The fairies, Misses Daisy Branch and Rhea Featherston, danced the fairy dance with childish abandon and won a hearty recall. The parquet and parquet circle were well filled and the galleries only fairly. The parts were taken by Miss Nora Ware, Miss Daisy Cook, Miss Cora Perry, Miss Mabel Weldon, Miss Della Miller, Miss Carrie Whitlock, in addition to those already named. A TIME OF REJOICING. Jollification Over "Bud" Whittemore's Release. It is stated on good authority that when "Bud" Whittemore, who was acquitted of the charge of murdering "Doc" Roberts, in the Criminal court, went to his home at Barnardsville Thursday afternoon a number of his relatives and friends met and proceeded to hold a jollification over his release. A keg of beer and a barrel of whisky were set out and all partook. There was, it is said, fiddling and dancing, and some went so far as to march through the streets shouting "Three cheers for the man that killed 'Doc' Roberts!" The law-abiding people of that settlement feel outraged by the disgraceful proceedings. Following this report came another last night to the effect that one of Roberts' brothers and Whittemore got into a difficulty yesterday, resulting in the killing of Whittemore. No confirmation of the rumor has been had today and it is believed that there is no truth in it. THE INAUGURATION. The New Men to Go Into Office Monday at Noon. The inauguration of the new aldermanic administration will occur Monday at noon in the court house. Mayor Blanton administering the oath to his successor. The mayors and aldermen of Asheville's suburbs are to be in attendance. Mayor-elect Patton sends THE CITIZEN the following: EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—Will you please request all members of the incoming administration to meet at the court house on Monday next at 12 noon, punctually, as, immediately after taking oath of office, the mayor and aldermen deem it expedient to hold a brief session of the Joint Board. T. W. Patton, Mayor-elect. "Moonshine" Caught Yesterday afternoon Special Deputy Collector J. H. Hampton and Deputy Sheriff J. M. Morgan seized 22 1/2 gallons of contraband whiskey and a wagon and team belonging to M. R. Jackson, who had brought the "moonshine" from Polk county. The capture was made at a point about four miles south of Asheville, where Jackson had camped, with, it is thought, the intention of selling the stuff at Biltmore. The whiskey was turned over to Collector Rollins and Jackson was placed under arrest. Y. M. C. A. Financial Cassav. The committee of the Y. M. C. A. on finances have been prosecuting their work this week and with very encouraging results. The amount needed for the year's work is $2,500, of which $1,637 has already been raised. The contributors will wait upon all old contributors, and as many new ones as possible and they ask that, at this stringent time especially, favorable responses be given wherever possible. Tell What You Know Mr. Smith. EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—Your informant on water supply today failed to state the facts in regard to the new pump starting today. The fault is not so much in the tail race as it is somewhere else. Now, tell them to tell it right or I will tell it, and instead of one day more it will be several days before the cause can be remedied. H. M. Smith. IT WILL BE OPEN SUNDAY CHICAGO WHIPS THE DEVI. AROUND THE STUMP. The World's Fair Gates Not To Be Closed on Any Day, But The Main Building Will Be Closed On The Sabbath. CHICAGO, May 13.—On and after May 21, the World's Fair grounds will be open every Sunday. This decision was reached at a meeting of the directors of the exposition yesterday. Edwin Walker, chairman of the committee on legislation, presented his interpretation to the effect that the law passed by Congress stipulating that the exposition should be closed on Sunday, applies only to the buildings containing exhibits, and that the buildings erected for other uses, the grounds, the Midway Plaisance and things pertaining thereto, may be thrown open to public inspection Sunday. After considerable discussion a resolution was proposed to open the gates on and after May 21, and to close the main buildings containing exhibits. The resolution was carried by a vote of 22 to 7. Thus upon the technicality named the Columbian Fair will be to all intents and purposes open leaving the public to visit throughout the grounds, to ride on electric launches, to enjoy the novelties of the Venetian gondolas, to patronize any of the baths, the attractions of the Plaisance and to have a good time generally. The price of admission on Sunday will be reduced to twenty-five cents. SOUTHERN IMMIGRATION. A Number of Immigrants Now Waiting An Invitation. WASHINGTON, May 14.—Madame L. J. Velasquez Beard, in a letter to Secretary Carlisle, sets forth at length the object of the Southern Immigration society. She desires to locate in either Savannah or Baltimore a bureau for landing immigrants adapted to the various pursuits of the Southern climate. More than 700 immigrants, she states, with money already in hand, are waiting for a prospectus to be issued soon giving details of her plan. LYNCHING IS MURDER. 25 Indictments Returned in a Tennessee Case. CHATTANOOGA, May 13.—As the outcome of the investigation by the grand jury of the recent lynching of Alfred Blount, a negro taken from jail here and lynched for outraging an old lady, twenty-five indictments were returned today, a great sensation being caused. Five of the ring leaders will be tried for murder and twenty accessories. Several of the men indicted are prominent citizens. Run on a Bank. MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 13.—The expected run was made today on the Plankinton bank on account of its implication in the F. A. Lappen failure, but there was no panic. F. D. Armour of Chicago, one of the heavy stockholders in the bank, it is said, has sent $1,000,000 in currency to the bank. First None, Then Too Much. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 13.—The heaviest rain ever known in southwest Texas occurred during the past 48 hours. The corn crop is badly damaged. Thousands of acres of farming land in W. Va. and adjoining counties is inundated. A Great Day at the Fair. CHICAGO, May 13.—All the bicycle riders, whether belonging to clubs or not, will have a day at the World's Fair. It is expected that nearly 20,000 wheelmen will participate. Wheelmen's day, is now set for Wednesday, May 31. The Paris is At Last. LONDON, May 12.—The American line steamer Paris, which sailed from New York May 6 with the Campania passed the Lizard at 3:55 this morning. Latimer the Grocer, wishes to inform the public that he has removed his stock of groceries from 22 Patton avenue to 16 Court Square and is now prepared to supply the trade with anything usually kept by a first class grocer. He now carries a full line of cow and horse feed which will sell as low as the lowest. He will give during the month of May special prices on Standard and Pie Peaches. He sells the "White Lily" flour which cannot be excelled in quality. What next will Minnaugh do for the ladies for their convenience? He has opened in connection with his millinery, dress making, and dry goods, a tonorial parlor for ladies. He has secured the services of an experienced hair dresser from New York and is quite busy already in that department. Parties wishing to see C. B. Graham or his agent, N. B. Atkinson, will find them in room A, ground floor, First National bank building, in office of North Carolina State Insurance company. H. B. Randolph, Brunswick, Ga., writes: "I was under the care of nine different doctors, but not one did me the good that Botanic Blood Balm has done me." Several new additions this week of stylish mens' wear, at the Whitlock Clothing House.

REBUKED FROM THE BENCH JUDGE CARTER'S STUNNING WORDS TO A JURY. The Rebuke Was Caused by the Rendering of a Verdict of Not Guilty in the Llewellyn Case—Other Court Business. J. P. Black, J. N.
