in the Indian training school at Yellow Hill has been Miss Minnie E. Dickson of Jamestown, N. Y. Soon after going to the school Miss Dickson became acquainted with Richard H. Smith, and bere the romance begins. Smith is a son of Chief Nimrod Smith, of the Cher-okee tribe, about 27 years old and in appearance a very prepossessing young Indian. Miss Dickson is nearly of Smith's age and is a daughter of a Baptist clergyman in Jamestown. Despite the bar-riers that were between these young people, a mutual attachment sprang up and within two months of the time of their first meeting Mr. Smith and Miss Dickson were engaged to be married.

Not long ago Prof. Andrew Spencer government superintendent of the India school and also Indian agent, decided to dispense with Miss Dickson's services in the school, so informed her and noti-fied the department, this step being taken, it is understood, because Miss Dickson was not thought suitable for the work among the Indians.

Mayor Patton Commends Messrs. Kelly and Gleun.

EDITOR THE CITIZEN:-Last night at 11 o'clock I was notified of a bad break in the pipe near the pumping station, which would effectually cut off the water supply. Fortunately 1 succeeded in reaching by telephone Police Officer Glenn, who, accompanied by M. H. Kelly, the excellent plumber, soon came to my house for consultation. At that late hour Mr. Kelly readily undertook to go five miles and make repairs. The necessary vehicle, hands and tools were infanta rode to the station in the Presimade ready by Officer Glenn, and at 6 dent's carriage and preceded by an escort of four troops of United States cavalry. The station was packed with a multitude of spectators. As the train pulled out, every woman waved her his prompt assistance and to commend Officer Glenn for his intelligent performance of a duty somewhat apart from that ordinarily belonging to his position.
