THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

THE CONGREGATION ELECTS A PASTOR

Rev. R. F. Campbell Chosen Unanimously—Evening Service May Soon Be Resumed—Yesterday's Sermon.

At the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning, after the usual opening service and prayer by Rev. R. G. Pierson, Rev. R. F. Campbell prefaced his sermon by recalling to the congregation the fact that three months ago the members of the church had been organized into committees for church work...

Perhaps some consciences in the congregation stirred a little uneasily when the pastor read for his text, Matthew, XX, 6: "Why stand ye here all the day idle?"

"A discouraged minister once had a dream—which wasn't all a dream. It seemed to him that he was hunched to a carriage that stood deep in mud in front of his house. How or why he got in there he didn't know, but he pulled at the carriage that was so heavy he could scarcely move it. As he drew near his church he became exhausted; this seemed to him the more strange as he thought he had seen all the members of his congregation pushing at the back of the carriage. At last he went around to the back and there was a single person there. Hearing a slight noise, he looked inside and found that every member of the congregation was seated there. They were all riding and he was doing the pulling."

"In every church there are some who want to ride. Let them get out and go to pulling. There is work for all. God had fitted everyone for some special work, and given him that work to perform. Some of you are fathers, and have large families of children. Their first duty is at home—the care and duty of their children; not running about the town attending to other people's children. To other people's household cares he has given the outside work of the church. We should not complain because our work is not just the kind we would have chosen. The church is like the body—made up of different members, each with a particular function to perform. When every member does its duty as it should, the body is in perfect health. The hand should not complain because it has not the work of the foot to do, nor the ear because it has not the duties of the eye. The Bible tells us how not to do the work that has been given us. We are not to do it negligently. Those who perform their duties carelessly often do more real harm than those who stand all the day idle. Some one may say he does not know what his work is. His attitude should be that of Paul, who said, 'Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?' If he will ask the Lord that question now, earnestly and prayerfully, he will find an opportunity before he leaves this house, and will meet with opportunities hereafter every day of his life."

"Remember that 'ye knowest neither the day nor the hour when the son of man cometh.' O, when the Lord comes and calls his servants to account may he be able to say unto each of us: 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of the Lord.'"

MR. CAMPBELL CHOSEN The Choice Finally Made Unanimously.

At the conclusion of the sermon reports of the committees on church work were read, and showed most gratifying results, particularly the report of the committee for visiting strangers which showed that 254 visits had been made. The chairman, Miss Evelyn West, made 94 visits herself.

Mr. Campbell, after requesting the congregation to remain, retired from the church, Rev. R. G. Pierson then declared the meeting closed, and announced that he had been requested to act as moderator of the meeting that had been called to elect a pastor, Mr. Graham said that the committee for choosing a pastor at this meeting had decided to postpone that duty for a while. He had since learned that it is the opinion of Mr. Campbell's physician, that in all probability his health would soon permit him to resume the evening service, and Mr. Graham had received Mr. Campbell's assurance that if he were chosen pastor and found himself physically equal to his duties, he would not stand in the way of the church calling a stronger man. It was Mr. Graham's opinion that the election should proceed at once.

Mr. W. P. Blair made a motion, seconded by Mr. Dukes, that the election be indefinitely postponed. Mr. Egan moved that, as no reason had been assigned for postponement, the meeting proceed to elect a pastor. This motion was seconded by R. U. Garratt who spoke eloquently of Mr. Campbell's fitness for the position and the remarkable unanimity of the people in choosing him as pastor.

Mr. Lewis Brown suggested that Mr. Blair might not have fully understood Mr. Egan's remarks. C. H. Hatch said he was in favor of proceeding at once with the election. It had been shown that the Sunday evening prayer meeting was almost as largely attended as the old time evening service, and the church was enjoying an unusual period of harmony and prosperity. It was suggested, as the meeting was largely of this opinion, that Mr. Egan's motion be substituted for Mr. Blair's. Mr. Egan's motion was put to vote and carried, only Mr. Blair and Mrs. Fulton voting against it.

The meeting was then just where it started, and the moderator called for a nomination. Mr. Egan nominated Mr. Campbell for pastor at a salary of $1800 a year. The motion was seconded and carried unanimously. Mr. Blair explaining that he was in favor of Mr. Campbell, but only wished to defer the election till the year he had been chosen for had expired. Rev. R. G. Pierson congratulated the congregation on their choice. He said "I know men and know teachers, and you have chosen a goodly man who preaches a simple gospel, keeping himself behind the cross of Christ."

A SUCCESSION AT THE START. The Opening of the Sunday Meetings at the Opera House.

The citizens of Asheville, who believe in every good work undertaken by men of the city, would have been pleased had they seen the audience which gathered at the opera house yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. meeting. The number of men present must have reached 600, the first floor seats being full, and many in the gallery.

The music was under the direction of Fitch Taylor, who was assisted by an orchestra composed of piano, violins, viola and cello. There had been distributed by the ushers song cards for nearly every man, and as a result the music was good. The song service lasted about thirty minutes, during which time two concert solos were given by G. W. Gates, with pleasure to the audience. Several ministers were on the platform and assisted in the services. Rev. E. C. Ays, who is assisting the First M. E. church in a series of meetings, was present and sang two solos, entitled "The Model Church" and "The Two Lives."

Mr. Ays possesses the rare combination of speaking and singing ability, and has worked with Messrs. Moody and Sankey in some of their evangelistic campaigns. The speaker of the afternoon was the Rev. R. G. Pierson, who preceded his address by speaking of his pleasure at seeing so many men together in such a meeting and complimented the committee having the meetings in charge for the work it was doing. His address, which was on "The Progress of the Past," lasted for an hour, and the attention of the audience was held to the last. His plain words to all classes of men, especially prodigals, were impressive, and at the close many arose in response to four propositions stated by Mr. Pierson.

Announcement was made that for several Sundays, at least meetings would continue to be held and some able speakers have been arranged for. The Rev. Mr. Campbell, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will be the speaker next Sunday, and a quartette of instruments, besides vocal solos and duets, with a full chorus of voices, will provide the music. The committee makes the statement that it will seek to arrange cheerful and attractive meetings and audiences can always depend upon good speaking and music.

NOT A SHORT SESSION

CONGRESS WILL BE AT WORK SEVERAL WEEKS.

The Senate Bound to Make Delay—Argument For a Gold Standard Advanced—Evils of Sherman Law.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The fact that Senators from the Northwestern States are not unanimous on the silver question, and that some of them will probably vote to repeal the Sherman silver purchasing law, seems to lend added interest to the contests which were pending when Senate adjourned, in extra session, in April last in the case of the Senators from Montana, Wyoming and Washington.

These three contested cases will probably bring on a protracted preliminary fight before the senate can settle down to business for which extra sessions convene. The right of a senator to take his seat is the question of highest privilege and senators on one side or other of the silver question are sure to demand decision on these cases before any vote is taken on the Sherman law. In addition to these patent probabilities of delay, there are to be acted upon the resolutions of investigation in the case of Senator W. N. Roach of North Dakota upon which a hot partisan debate is inevitable.

Ex-Senator J. B. Henderson of Missouri in a long letter to Secretary Carlisle discusses the financial situation, taking the stand in favor of a gold standard of value.

In reply to the assertion that such standard is sought by capital as a means of extorting higher rates of interest, Henderson thinks it is sufficient to say that in every country having a single standard interest rates are scarcely half the prevailing rates here. Present commercial conditions, he says, are not the result of speculation, but the result of silver legislation of Congress. Under the operation of the Sherman law, the remarkable fact was disclosed that no amount of exportation of merchandise can stay the shipment of gold from the United States.

The moment Congress declares a gold standard, says Mr. Henderson, foreign deposits will return to American securities will again go abroad, and gold received therefor will stimulate every branch of business. It is not poverty but distrust that affects the country. With gold standard the last seven years would have given us enormous wealth and abundant currency.

WHO IN THIS?

Can He Be Our Old Friend "The Tattler"?

WAYNESVILLE, N. C., July 3.—[Special]—A wild looking man, with general appearance of having at one time been a resident of Hickory, N. C., struck this town this morning. He was smoking a $50 cigarette (bought in Asheville on Sunday) and in his pistol pocket was found a bottle of pop, which was evidently affecting his brain. A 75 cent umbrella was secreted under his coat, the broken handle protruding from back of neck. The man claims to be a native of Cork, Ireland, acting as picnic correspondent of THE CITIZEN. I am having him closely watched, and unless he falls into Richland creek in one of his paroxysms, will return him to Asheville by express this evening. The man has two English hen's eggs which he is now trying to sell to Vanderbilt's stonecutters.—Chief of Police of Waynesville, N. C.

THE PRICE OF SILVER

It is Up and Down and Up—No Purchases

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Secretary Carlisle has decided not to resume the purchase of silver today, for the reason that the Treasury Department has not yet completed its annual settlements made at the end of the fiscal year at the United States mints. Whether silver purchases will be resumed on Wednesday will not be determined till Wednesday, and circumstances will then decide the matter. The price paid for silver when the Treasury department completed its June purchases was $2.20 cents per ounce. Since then it has declined to 62 cents per ounce and is quoted today at 73.80 cents per ounce.

THE MONETARY STRINGENCY

Hard Lines in Indianapolis—Bank Trouble.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 3.—As a result of the continued stringency in the money market, nearly 5,000 men employed in various manufacturing industries in this city are out of work. Nearly every factory in the city is discharging some of its men, and many of them say that they are collecting barely enough money to keep up their payrolls.

BROOKLYN, July 3.—There was a slight run on the Williamsburg Savings Bank at 10 o'clock this morning. Nearly 10,000 persons crowded to get into the bank. In most cases the inquirers went away satisfied.

THE SHERMAN LAW

It Will Surely Be Repealed—Crisp in Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 3.—Ex-Speaker Crisp arrived in Washington this morning from Atlanta, and went at once to the treasury department, where he had an interview with Secretary Carlisle. The interview lasted for 20 minutes. Representative Bynum had a short talk with Judge Crisp in Secretary Carlisle's room, and afterwards said he was satisfied that next House would repeal unconditionally the Sherman law.
