

ASHEVILLE DAILY CITIZEN

This Daily Citizen, Democratic, is published every afternoon (except Sunday) at the following rates—strictly cash.

TUESDAY, JULY 11, 1893.

SITTING on the wreck of the Wilmington Bank of New Hanover, State Bank Examiner David says:

The causes of the failure, in the opinion of the examiner, were mismanagement of the bank, unbusinesslike methods in keeping the books and records; the habit of lending money without any sense of security followed so recklessly and persistently as to approach the very verge of criminality, and very gross negligence in the matter of looking after and trying to secure and collect debts that were past maturity and manifestly in danger of being lost.

NOB JUDICIARY.

The value of the decisions of a mob as a court of last resort has been again shown in the hanging of the negro Miller at Bardwell, Ky. The intention of the honorable court was to honor him, but at the last moment when he was not sure that Miller was the 'right man,' and so the negro was given the benefit of the reasonable doubt and was hanged and then his body buried.

It now transpires that it is probable the negro had a complete alibi, and that had there been anything like a judicial examination of the case against him he would have been set at liberty. But of course there has never been anything resembling even a judicial intention in a mob; it is out for revenge; it is hunting a man friendless enough to be hanged with safety whether a mistake is made or not, and when that man is found he must die.

Not the least deplorable feature of this case is that the criminal murderer of the Kay sisters has by this time probably placed himself beyond reach of both the law and mobs, and will go unpunished for one of the most terrible crimes ever committed in the State. The mob is largely to blame for this; it substituted for the ordinary machinery of the law the wild unreason of revenge, and, as might have been expected, the result is rather an encouragement to crime than a deterrent.

A CLEAN CITY.

The Citizens believe that Asheville was never so well cleaned up as it is today. Any citizen who keeps his eyes open, must have noticed the change that has come over the back precincts, and rejoiced thereat. There may yet be, however, some plague spots, so to speak, and if such are known to any one, let him at once communicate that fact to the health officers.

The evil remains that the health officers say they have no means of coping with. There are several "branches" running through the city which sewer pipes are connected or which at least receive sewage along much of their length. Several springs may be found on or near the banks of these branches, invariably so situated that there must be more or less surface drainage into them, if indeed they are not contaminated by the branch water itself. These springs are used by many families who find the water cooler than the city water and, as they believe, equally pure. It is certainly running great risk to use this spring water, and some way must be found to stop the practice. Equally dangerous is it to allow cows to drink from these branches or springs, and then use the milk. The health of the entire city is endangered by these streams as well as by the use of water from wells situated in localities more or less thickly settled. The wells should be filled up, and some way found to put a stop to the use of branch and spring water that is almost certainly contaminated.

A Custom of the Waldenses.

From the New York Enterprise. One of the customs of the Waldenses, who are settling in Burke, is to require every child to commit to memory one book of the Bible. Some learn one book and some another, but they see to it that all the books are stored away in the minds of the people. This custom originated during their persecution by the Catholics. They were compelled to take refuge in the most inaccessible Alpine fastnesses. The reason for this was that if their enemies should succeed in depriving them of the printed Bible they could reproduce it from memory. Although there is no longer a danger of losing the Bible, they keep up the custom, and it is not that it is a religious observance; it is a habit which the children know.

A Wonderful Wheel.

From the Durham Saturday Night. What is the principle, the chief principle, on which the Ferris wheel is constructed? It is that of a bicycle wheel, as I have said, except that this wheel does not rest upon the surface but depends from the steel axle. The lower half of the wheel simply hangs from the mighty axle, and this lower half supports the upper half by means of the steel framework of its two rims. That is the whole thing in a nutshell. The wheel, though apparently rigid in its construction, has just enough elasticity to make this method of support possible, and yet not enough elasticity to produce any appreciable trembling or slipping effect.

Collector Kope Elias

From the Bryson City Times. So many papers are laboring to tell the people what the people have known for so long. We said we wanted Mr. Elias to be Attorney, but we hope he will be content with the Collectorship. We don't want any "pie" ourself, but he don't need us to tell him what to do. He is going to eat good Simon-pan. Democrats is where he can, and when the time comes, he will prove the truth of a Republican prophecy: "With Kope in the East, the Democrats can whip the Devil." When Mr. Elias finds the right man he will appoint, if his petition don't have but one name on it. Wait till he sends for you.

OUTSIDE OF BUNCOMBE.

First cotton blooms are now in order. Salisbury Truth: The crops that have been harvested in this and adjoining counties this year are better than for a long time, and if the seasons continue for six weeks longer there will be the largest yield of everything since the war.

Hurlington Herald: D. H. White, who returned from Ore Hill, Chatham county, Friday, reports a mad dog scare in that locality. Two fierce dogs went mad and bit a number of head of cattle. The dogs and seven cows have been killed.

Henderson Gold Leaf: From all that can be learned the finest crops seen in this section for long time are now upon the fields. The seasons have been very favorable up to the present, and the despondent heart should feel thankful for the God-given abundance.

Raleigh News and Observer: We found at the executive department that quite a large number of applications for the taxes refunded by Congress had been received lately. These claims run between half a dollar and $100. At least $100,000 still remains uncalled for.

Smithfield Herald: Mrs. Appie Grant, wife of B. J. Grant, of Bentonsville township, was placed in jail here for not keeping until she can get into the asylum at Raleigh. She is insane and badly demented. She is 52 years of age and is the mother of seven children.

Franklin Times: An oak stands on the Barton place a few miles from Lenoir, and its dimensions are as follows: It is 29 1/2 feet around, about 3 feet from the ground; at the ground it is 38 1/2 feet around. At noon its shade is 122 feet across, and its shade measures 326 feet around.

Franklin Times: Mr. Ben L. Wester of this county owns a scythe blade, and cut wheat with it last week, that is 14 1/2 years old. It was sold by Hunter Hunt, the first merchant who did business in Lenoir, to Miss Mollie Wester, who "seeded" cotton with her fingers and sold the same to pay for the blade.

TRANSYLVANIA'S FUTURE.

CALHOUN, N. C., July 5.—The future outlook of this beautiful French Broad valley is indeed a grand one. The water power of our country cannot be excelled and its timbers are surpassed by none, an evidence of this, being those huge sawmills carried from here by our sheriff on wagons to a line of railway, and finally exported to Europe, also those fine poplars, etc., floated down the French Broad river and its tributaries to Asheville where it is made into lumber and shipped throughout the length and breadth of the country.

Ere long it must be that a railroad will be built through this fertile valley. Factories of various kinds will then be built within our own borders, furnishing employment to many. It is useless to send abroad annually large sums of money for furniture, wagons, bugles, farming implements, cotton and woolen goods, when we have the material and the power for making all such at home. Although cotton does not thrive in this valley, we are of course much nearer the cotton belt than the large cotton mills of Massachusetts, and this section is well adapted to wool growing.

Think of the effect produced by the building of the Spartan and Asheville railroads! See the merchants, farmers, and landholders, who a few years ago were struggling for a livelihood, and who are now prosperous. Think of the increase in value of lands at Campobello, Tryon, and Saluda, and the large quantities of lumber shipped from these sections into this and other sections.

The corundum mines in the Hogback are an established fact, and are now a source of revenue to our country. The quantities derived therefrom are daily becoming more apparent, and money circulates more freely in that vicinity, since the beginning of the extensive building and mining operations of the Sapphire Valley company. May their efforts be crowned with success.

ON THE RIGHT SIDE.

There is where W. F. Crawford made his point. From the Tuckasee Democrat. A petition has been forwarded to Congress from W. F. Crawford, signed by citizens of Western North Carolina, urging upon him to vote for and urge the repeal of the Sherman silver bill. More than 10 feet of signatures are attached to the bill, and the names include almost the entire business community.—Asheville Citizen.

THE WAY THEY'RE PUT UP.

In sealed glass vials, Dr. Ferris' (1) is a safe and reliable. You can't be sure of the big, old-fashioned pills in wooden or pasteboard boxes. But these little pellets are better at every point. For their tonic and strengthening effect on the lining membranes of the intestines, they increase the natural action of the bowels, and permanently cure Jaundice, Biliousness, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, and consequent stupor or drowsiness. There's no disturbance, no reaction afterward, and their help lasts. One tiny granule is a gentle laxative; three are cathartic. They're the smallest in size, the easiest to take, and the easiest in the way they act. They're the cheapest, and they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. Nothing else can be "just as good." Tricky dealers always have any quantity on hand, but had for you to buy.

A WIND SERMON.

The "Free Lance" Hedges to a Poor Argument. From the Marion Free Lance. Week before last the Marion Free Lance stated that a tree under which a party of anti-Prohibitionists had taken refuge at an election precinct in McDowell county, was struck by lightning and one man was killed outright, several others being badly hurt. The Free Lance then went on to moralize somewhat, pointing out this circumstance as a warning. Last week the Marion Free Lance took the wind out of the Free Lance's sermon, by proving that the man killed was the only Prohibitionist in the crowd. Well!—Shelby Review.

The Review is a little "hoff" in regard to the Record proving anything. The only proof was its editor's word. Esp. D. L. Clements told us this week that he and others talked to the gentleman who was killed only a very short while before the fatal stroke of lightning and tried to get him to vote the dry (no license) ticket; told him that he was getting old and that that might be the last vote he would ever cast. They talked to the old gentleman, but he told them that he was going to vote the license (wet) ticket and that he would not belong to any party that did not have enough members to hold an election, and rather made fun of the dry (no license) men, because they couldn't get enough men to hold the election. So you see no wind has been taken out of the Free Lance's sermon.

GLENN SPRINGS WATER

IS A SURE RELIEF TO SUFFERERS.

What Hon T. D. Johnston says about it: "About four years ago I commenced the use of the Glenn Springs water, to rid my system of the malaria from which I had been suffering for some time. The water has entirely relieved me and I cheerfully state that I believe it to be as good a water as can be found for all ordinary diseases of the liver and kidneys. For a general tonic and renovator of the system I believe it has no equal. Very truly yours, T. D. JOHNSTON."

From John P. Arthur, Esq., Attorney at Law: "I don't know the constituents of the Glenn Springs water; if I did I would make some for myself. Not a day do I know how it acts; if I did I would act so myself. It is a well made water and it acts well. I can only say that its effects on me and my forefathers has been more beneficial than any other water we ever used and I am glad it has been put in the reach of as poor a man as I am. JOHN P. ARTHUR, To Pelham's Pharmacy, May 23, 1893."

What C. T. Rawls writes Pelham's Pharmacy, Asheville, N. C.: "Gentlemen:—I have used Glenn Springs water and consider it, as compared with other mineral waters, the best I know of. Everyone in South Carolina knows about 'Old Glen Springs' in fact it has been most favorably known there for a century. Yours truly, C. T. RAWLS, Asheville, N. C., May 27, 1893."
