FRIDAY, AUGUST 11, 1893.

In the eyes of the President, we suppose the great privilege of tariff making is as a matter of course, a privilege as compared with this silver purchase law.—Wilmington Messenger.

This is hardly fair. The President in his anti-silver message distinctly said, in very impressive words, that "tariff reform has lost nothing of its immediate and permanent importance."

Trinity college makes a new departure in this State, in its school of journalism, of which Professor Weber, formerly of the Charleston News and Courier, and Professor Jerome Dowd of Charleston are to be in charge.

AFINE DRESSING DOWN.

In the Senate on Tuesday Mr. Hale submitted the following: "Resolved, That on and after Thursday, August 10, 1893, until otherwise ordered, the hour of the meeting of the Senate shall be at 11 o'clock in the forenoon."

Mr. Hale stated that the object of the resolution was to strengthen the hand of the President "by decreasing the number of days which must elapse before Congress adopts the legislation which he recommends."

Mr. Hale's "previousness" in thrusting himself forward from the ranks of the minority to urge haste on the Democrats in the repeal of a measure which Mr. Hale and other Republicans voted for and are responsible for, was promptly rebuffed by Democratic senators.

As the Senator from Maine knows, and as the country knows, we cannot dispose of this question on the moment, and tomorrow. The Senator knows full well that members on both sides of the Chamber are divided in opinion as to the proper remedy to be applied.

There was some further talk about this line, Mr. Hale insisting "on immediate action" and then the Senator from Maine became tangled in the grip of the "Tall Sycamore of the Wabash."

The idea of dealing with this condition in the hop, skip and jump style suggested by the Senator from Maine is amazing in the Senate of the United States, and the haste with which the Senator springs forward to undo what he himself has helped to do, is altogether surprising.

Every vote that passed it through this body was cast by that side of the Chamber and not one by this. Not a single vote on our side was given for that miserable act. I voted against it on its passage, and for the same reason, because of its degradation of one of the precious metals of this country.

The Senator is persistent; he is sorry for what he has done; he is in sackcloth and ashes, and he is crying, "Woe is me; hurry up, so that I may get out of here as fast as I can with remorse."

When the Senator appeals to me as chairman of the finance committee to that I am appointed to undo his own wrong doing, to undo the flagrant piece of legislation of which he complains, and I remind Senators on the other side of the Chamber that they are in attitude to speak up and say, "Hurry, let us undo this deed."

Who's name does this act bear? The name of the most distinguished Republican in the United States. His name has been borne aloft with this act. I did not believe in it at the time. I predicted evil when it was passed.

Lost His Watermelon.

We left our barn last Saturday at Mr. Stewart's farm, three miles this side of Highlands, to visit the Cullasjua Falls, and on our return found that the hick had been plundered and all our watermelons and a fine watermelon stolen.

OVER IN TILLMANIA.

GAFFNEY CITY, S. C., Aug. 9.—Your correspondent's being a native of South Carolina may not prevent him from giving an ex parte opinion of what is called the "Tillman Reform."

It is a misnomer to call it the "Tillman Reform," since it began with the people years before Benj. R. Tillman ever entered public life as a leader.

The parties and the influences which produced the two factions—the Tillman and the Anti-Tillman—grew out of the circumstances of low country and up country. The low country being the earliest settled and containing the wealthy planters and the commercial cities, furnished the ablest law-makers.

Up to the war, and from 1876 to 1888, the low country plantation and city classes held control of the state government, and men educated in the State college generally held the offices and dominated the professions.

What is known as the Tillman reform has put the opposing class in control of public affairs. The fact that this class has been swelled into a large majority composed of the people who have grown up since the war and have adopted ideas of their own, assures the permanency of their control, irrespective of the influence of Tillman or any other man.

The issue which now absorbs the greatest amount of public attention is the dispensary law, by which all licensed bar rooms, run by individuals, were closed on the first of last July.

Notwithstanding the many objections and violent attacks against the dispensary law, it is a pleasing fact that not a bar room can be found in South Carolina. The removal of these, with their billiard and pool rooms, has put liquor beyond the reach of those who needed protection from the growing evils.

The Message Interpreted.

From the Richmond Dispatch. What does the President mean when he says that "the people of the United States are entitled to money recognized as such on every change and in every market of the world?"

He makes no suggestion as to what is best to be done after the killing of the Sherman law. But he seems at the very close to give a hint for gold alone as the American standard of values.

For Gold Alone

From the Wilmington Messenger. He makes no suggestion as to what is best to be done after the killing of the Sherman law. But he seems at the very close to give a hint for gold alone as the American standard of values.

A LONG PROCESSION

of diseases start from impure and impure blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures every one of them. It prevents them, too. Take it, you ought, when you feel the first symptoms (langour, loss of appetite, fullness, depression) and you'll save yourself from some serious disease.

About Catarrh. No matter what you've tried and found wanting, you can be cured with Dr. Sagar's Catarrh Remedy. The proprietors of this medicine agree to cure you, or they'll pay you $500 in cash.

The Platform Must Be Carried Out.

From the States, the Landmark. The President's message is somewhat of a disappointment to the Landmark. We are not surprised that he advocates the repeal of the Sherman law.

From the Aug. 10th Chronicle. The cotton crop of the South will bring into the United States, during the season beginning September $200,000,000 in gold.

There will be plenty of money, too, to move the cotton crop. As soon as cotton begins to move, it will affect the balance of trade, as between this country and Europe, will rapidly turn in our favor.

With The President.

From the Charleston News and Courier. The only danger from present appearances, lies in the dilatory methods of the Senate, and with good and determined management on the part of the administration Democrats, backed by the sound money Republicans, a way ought easily to be found to overcome, if necessary, after this method, and carry into effect the loudly expressed wish of the country that the Sherman act be repealed at the earliest practicable moment.

Glenn Springs Water

IS A SURE RELIEF TO SUFFERERS. What Hon. T. D. Johnston says about it: "About four years ago I commenced the use of the Glenn Springs water, to rid my system of the malaria from which I had been suffering for some time."

From John P. Arthur, Esq., Attorney at Law: "I don't know the constituents of the Glenn Springs water, if I did I would make some for myself. Neither do I know how it acts, if I did I would act so myself. It is a well made water and it acts well."

What C. T. Rawls writes Pelham's Pharmacy, Asheville, N. C.: "Gentlemen—I have used Glenn Springs water and consider it as compared with other mineral waters, the best I know of."
