THE ASHEVILLE DAILY CITIZEN

Friday Evening, October 27, 1893.

ried his argument against the United well placed the figures, in the letter containing his only proposition, at $100,- tember 30, first page). Give a man in correct premises and he can prove that the moon is the Ferris wheel.

bales, this year's crop will, in his opinion, be less than last year's crop. He declares that if farmers will hold their cotton they will sell before the season is over for at least ten cents a pound." The Commissioner takes a great responsibility on himself when he promulgates duty is not done when he furnishes, without comment, the facts as gathered in regard to the cotton crop, allowing

Some weeks ago a minority of the people of Roanoke, Va., attempted to justify the lynching and burning of a negro. back to the citizens of that town, and the report of the grand jury just made

"After the Mayor was taken away they could have removed the prisoner to a sale place, and the city would have been spared the disgraceful scenes of that night and of the following day, ever exhibited in a civilized country, and the brave men who, in the face of an highest commendation."

in Wilmington.

-Mrs. M. S. Whittlesey died in Raleigh,

-I. S. Carr of Durham was elected vice-president of the American Bankers' making in this State, but very larger than we have ever known before from our county. The amount of potatoes, chestnuts, apples, onions, peas and beans are simply immense, to say nothing of fowls that go daily.

fertilizers is required for each year by this State. The fiscal year begins be-cember 1, and all brands registered on and after that date will run to November 30, 1894. There will perhaps be 300 brands.

-Private Secretary Telfair is nov sending to the various States and Territories, and to the various States and Territories, and to the various English speaking colonies of England, the last number of the North Carolina Supreme court reports.

port Leader has placed in the museum of antiquities in the State library, a remarkable powder horn made in 1761, and used during the Revolutionary war. It is carved in a wonderful way, bears the late war, and was three times wounded. He has long been a prominent figure in Western North Carolina poli tics, serving several terms in the State Senate. He is an uncle of Mr. S. A. Bailey of this city.

Telephone, 179.

oct5d1m<sup>4</sup>

toffice Box 148, Asbeville, N. C. Main Entrance, No. 42. Telephone Call, No. 71 angi 9dti