THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1893.

IT was quite a shower.

Onto seems to have pronounced for protection. The next Republican Presidential nomination lies between Reed and McKinley.

NEW YORK got what she wanted-the repeal of the Sherman act; and the Re publicans have got New York.

THE police ought at least to keep the crowd moving on Patton avenue so that ladies can pass that way without annoy ance.

It does look as if the people think that if this country is to be run according to Republican ideas and politics, Republi cans are the peop'e to run it.

Gov. ALTGELD of Illinois got a m rited rebuke in the returns from the Cook county election Tuesday. Judge Gary was re-elected, the issue being anarchy or anti-anarchy. Judge Gary stood for law and order, and the friends of those necessities of civilization everywhere should rejoice in his vindication.

NOTHING DARK ABOUT IT.

The contrast between the methods of the present ways and means committee of Congress and that which drafted the so-called McKinley law cannot but ar-rest the attention of thoughtful persons. The present committee absolutely refuses to allow the Republican members to know what they are doing, and their sessions are held behind closed doors. the most absolute secrecy being enforced. The great industrial measure which is to revolutionize our whole revenue system, and in which every man, woman and child is interested, is being matured in the dark by a set of men not one of whom has any other than a theoretical knowledge of the business in hand.--Cincinnati Tribune.

As for "this great industrial measure" tection, but that is not the end in view. and please so ma

THE ELECTION.

The result of the elections in the North ern States are not pleasing to Democrats. but no elections in off years can be received with unmixed satisfaction from the standpoint of national politics. Local issues are certain to have their influence. just how forcibly it is impossible to determine. In New York the issue was largely Maynard, a nomination not above suspicion by considerable, and the result is satisfactory to men of principle who love to see clean candidates on both sides. Iowa is unexplainable. The Re-would be well for patrons of Uncl sides, lowa is unexplainable. The ke-publicans there had a tainted candidate for the governorship, and Boies should have beaten him. His great popularity seems to have waned, however. Massa-witnesses in the court would go it chusetts belongs in the Republican column, and in the absence of the younger Russell from the campaign it is no sur- but it moreover wantselbow room who prise to read of Tuesday's results there. It goes after the mail. In Ohio the issue was largely a national one-tariff for revenue or protectionand the latter won an apparently cleancut victory.

If Congress had been called in extra session last March; if Democrats had carried out the financial and tariff reform pledges dles at various points in North Carolina of the platform in an united, courageous He is a brother to the North Carolina way, rapidly and accurately, the result politician of the same name, who will probably be the next Governor of the yesterday might have been different, and it might not. We cannot tell. But business interests of the State," said Mr it might not. We cannot ten, but business interests of the State, said Mr. doubtless the business depression has been visited on the Democracy as one of its sins, though the blame does not its ains, though the blame does not to be a little easier business will pick up." rightly lie there; and the spectacle of a disunited party haggling and dawdling and washing unclean garments in Congress has not been attractive to the voter.

They Are All Happy Now. From the Wilkesboro Chronicie

A gentleman not a thousand miles away from here had a piece of land away up on the Blue Ridge which be wanted to sell. He went up there and found a young man who would like to buy it But says the young man: "I have n heart to do anything as long as my girl won't promise to marry me." Ile, how-ever, promised to buy the land, if our friend would intercede for him and get the girl to consent to the marriage. Our triend went to the girl and used all his persuasive powers, and she at last agreed to take the young man; and the trade was made.
