A NOBLE LIFE.

History of The Man Who Has Done Much For Asheville,

Edward James Aston was born i Rogersville, Tennessee, on the 13th of November, 1826. On November 30 1852 he was married to Miss C. L. Gilliland, a daughter of Col. Llewellyn Gilliland and a granddaughter of Col. John Patton, one of the pioneers of Western North Carolina. In January, 1856 Mr. Aston removed to Asheville 871, when he began to devote his enire attention to the insurance business. nd at the time of his death was the head of the firm of Aston, Rawls & Co. In 1862 he was elected Mayor of Asheville in which position he served five years, and in t884 he was again chosen Mayor, serving one term. He was at one time Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners of Buncombe ounty.

E J. Aston was one of the first men be truly said that he was the originator of the idea of making Asheville the sanatorium of the Nation for pulmonary diseases. Nothing in connec-tion with Judge Aston's long and hon-orable life in Asheville is more indeli-bly stamped upon the minds of those natives of this section now in middle life, than the numberless hours spent 1,000 men under arms. Pa what is now W. C. He was ordered deacon by Bishop Whittingham in Christ church, Baltimore, September 20, 1840, and was advanced to the priesthood by the same prelate in St. John's church, Hagerstown, on December, 19, 1841. He served acceptably as rector of St. John's church, Hagerstown, and subsequently, for 10 years, of Trinity church, Pittsburg. In 1860 he removed to Europe, where he re-mained about 10 years in the constant exercise of his ministry, and being instru-mental in establishing the American chapel at Rome, Italy, now well known to all visitors to the Eternal City as St.

While in Europe he was elected dean of the General Theological seminary in New York, which he declined, and re-turning to America in 1879 he became rector of Trimty church, San Francisco He was elected Assistant Bishop of North Carolina in May, 1873, to which office he was conscerated in Christ church, Raleigh, on December 11, 1873, and on the death of Bishop Atkinson, on January 4, 1881, he assumed full episcopa control of the diocese, which he retained until the election of Bishop Cheshire as his assistant in June last.

Bishop Lyman won the respect and affection of his people by his purity of character, and the generous impulses which marked his disposition. His twenty years of service as Bishoo was marked by an flagging industry, which bore fruit in a large increase in the mem bership of his church. He was an able and foreible preacher, and the announcement of his visitation to a parish, was certain to secure a crowded congrega-
