THEY PLANTED DYNAMITE

STOPPING FLAGLER'S RAILWAY BUILDING.

He Has Some Trouble With The Right of Way And The Owners of Property Traversed Are Up In Arms.

TITUSVILLE, Fla., Feb. 16.—There is an alarming state of affairs in the Indian river country. H. M. Flagler, owner of the Ponce de Leon at St. Augustine and the Royal Poinciana on Lakewood, is engaged in building a railroad to the latter hotel. The road cuts through many of the pretty places on Indian river and there has been much trouble about the right of way, property owners not thinking that sufficient remuneration was offered.

So bitter has become the feeling on part of the property owners that 30 of them have combined and placed dynamite along the proposed route of railway through their lands, and these bombs are placed so that they will explode at the stroke of a spade. Signs of warning have been posted, and property owners have notified railroad officials of the steps taken to prevent what they conceive to be their rights.

This action has brought work on the railroads to a standstill for the present. Authorities have taken steps in the matter and James Holmes, banker of Jensen, Fla., and J. F. Woon, tax collector of Brevard county, has been arrested for complicity in the dynamite plot. Holmes' lawyer has advised him to remove the dynamite, and it is reported that he has agreed to do so.

According to last reports the railroad officials were calling for volunteers to go ahead with the track laying.

AN ASHEVILLE SKETCH.

Miss A. Beck's Pictures In The Ponce de Leon Studios.

The St. Augustine, Fla., Tatler, in its art notes referring to the sketches at the Ponce de Leon studios, says of the work of a lady who was here a few months ago: "Miss A. Beck spent the autumn and early winter at Baltimore, near Asheville, and has many exquisite sketches on exhibition as the result of her visit there. These pictures are all of the impressionistic school and are strong in color effects. One picture of the French Broad by moon light is singularly effective, strong and impressive as the mountains themselves, or as an air of Hungarian music. A view of Asheville from Benmont, an overlooking mountain, has the peculiar purple hazy effect so often seen among the mountains. Near by is an early morning at sea that is delicate and full of tenderness. A view from Cusar's Head is alone worth a visit. The valley 1,000 feet below is beautifully painted; but it would be impossible to enumerate the many expressive and beautiful pictures. Miss A. Beck shows her brush is as rapid as versatile, and side by side with wild mountain scenery are shimmering marines and quiet interiors full of homely beauty, the countenance of the occupants betraying every emotion felt."

THE MORGAN KILLING.

Willis Morgan Was Shot by J. R. Sams, on the latter's Porch.

A private letter was received here last night which gives the material facts concerning the killing of young Willis Morgan at Mars Hill, Wednesday night. This letter says that Morgan had gone to J. R. Sams' twice during the evening to see Mr. Sams' daughter, and had been told to keep away by the father. Morgan went back the third time, ascended the steps at the porch and was then seen by Mr. Sams, who again ordered the young man to leave. The warning went unheeded, Morgan getting on the porch. Then, the letter says, Morgan drew a pistol, whereupon Mr. Sams shot and killed him.

It is supposed that Mr. Morgan was buried at Mars Hill today. John P. Morgan, the father of the dead man, is expected to return to Asheville tonight or tomorrow.

Mr. Sams and the father of the young man who was killed have all their lives been the warmest of friends, and this friendship has existed in their families for generations. The killing is deplored by the friends of the families in this and Madison counties.

MAY BE DROWNED.

Disappearance of a Clerk of the Tennessee Senate.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 16.—Frank Chambers, assistant chief clerk of the Tennessee Senate, is supposed to have committed suicide here yesterday. Chambers wrote a note to a friend stating that he intended drowning himself in the Mississippi river. He then disappeared. The river banks were searched and a negro man skiffman found who stated that he rowed a man answering to Chambers' description across the river at a point below the bridge yesterday morning. No further trace of the missing man could be found. Chambers was employed on the staff of the Nashville American a year or two ago, and at the last session of the legislature was elected assistant chief clerk of the Senate.

STEERED BY HER WHEELS.

The City of Paris Breaks Down at Sea.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The American line steamer Paris, which sailed at 2 p. m. Feb. 10 from Southampton for New York, was sighted early this morning lying at anchor off Roches Point at the entrance to Queenstown harbor. She returned on account of her rudder being disabled.

QUEENSTOWN, Feb. 16.—On Monday last a heavy sea struck the rudder of the Paris, snapping the post off. The steamer held her westward course until Tuesday afternoon when it was decided to put her about. One of her engines was stopped, and little difficulty was experienced in turning her around.

Colored College Burned.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 16.—The Knoxville college (colored), situated just off the Kingston pike, two miles west of the city, suffered a very severe loss from fire last night. The chapel building and the boys' dormitory were burned to the ground. Loss, $35,000.

HOWARD'S CAPTURE.

How The Officers Nabbed The Negro Wanted in Cleveland.

A neat capture was that made yesterday afternoon when deputy sheriffs arrested and jailed Lawson Howard, a colored man wanted in Cleveland county on a charge of murder. The scene of the capture was the old Murdoch house, a mile and a half north of the city, occupied now by a colored family. This house had been searched a few days ago, but Howard had evidently scented a mouse and skipped.

Yesterday the officers located Howard. When they approached the house they were seen by Howard, who ran from one room across a hallway and into another room. Deputy Hampton saw Howard as he rode up, and hastily dismounting ran in and found Howard braced against the door. A hard shove forced the door and the hunted man was run down.

Howard made no resistance and threw up his hands at the first command. He was brought to the city and placed in jail and the Cleveland authorities notified. Howard admitted to Jailer Jamison that he was the man wanted. He stands six feet two and weighs over 200 pounds.

The murder with which Howard is charged was committed in upper Cleveland January 19, the victim being Dula Jones, and was the result of it, it is thought, a dispute about a calf. The man killed was a relative of Patrolman Shulof of the Asheville police force.

Last night Howard got John Allison, a "trustee" in the jail, to write a letter for him to Julius Brooks with whom Howard had been living. When it was written Howard wanted Allison to send it to Brooks. Instead Allison delivered it to Jailer Jamison, who turned it over to Deputy Sheriff F. M. Jones. The letter was as follows:

"I am captured and in jail. Please see all your friends and have them arm'd to help me tonight, for I am afraid they may lynch me tonight. Please don't forget this. See to it at once for me."

BROUGHT HERE FOR BURIAL.

The Body of Will J. Atkin, Who Killed Himself in Cincinnati.

The body of Will J. Atkin, who committed suicide in Cincinnati Wednesday, was brought here today by Maj. H. C. Hunt, who was in Cincinnati on his way home about the time of the suicide. A telegram from Maj. Hunt to J. D. Brevard last evening notified him that the body would be brought here, and arrangements for the funeral were made.

The services occurred at 3.30 this afternoon at Central M. E. church, South, conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. P. Chritchfield. The pallbearers were W. R. Heston, Haywood, Fulenwider, Will Smathers, Eugene Sawyer, John Wagner and E. B. Stradler. The interment was at Riverside.

A letter to Cicero Nichols of this city from Noble Johnson, an Asheville boy now living in Cincinnati, says Mr. Atkin was behind in his account with the Louisville house which he was representing to the extent of about $150 and with his Cincinnati landlady for perhaps $20. The young man became despondent being unable to pay and prepared deliberately to kill himself. He took a bath, dressed partially, and lying upon the floor sent a bullet through his head with a pistol he had borrowed from a roommate. The letter also said Mr. Atkin was an excessive cigarette smoker.

FROM A BRIDAL TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Collins Return to Asheville.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Collins returned yesterday from a bridal tour of several weeks, including the larger cities of the Northwest and the South. They are living at 303 French Broad avenue.

Mr. Collins remembered Asheville while away and had several opportunities to "talk town" which he of course took advantage of. Soon after he arrived at the Land of Flowers, the chief of a reporter for the Tribune was sent by requesting an interview. The request was granted and the reporter began by saying he saw "Asheville" after Mr. Collins' name on the register and wanted some facts about this city. The Mr. Collins proceeded to give and the Tribune gave the city a good send-off.

"Oh, Mr. Collins says," if you want to attract attention away from home just put 'Asheville' after your name on the register."

SNOWBALLS TO ORANGES.

The Latest And Handomest Thing Out.

"Snowballs to Oranges; From the icy North to the Land of Flowers," is the title of a novel just out, by Helen K. Ingram, copies of which have been given The Citizen by City Passenger and Ticket Agent C. W. Murphy. The book is alluringly named and as luridly printed, and the tourist who will not be struck by the handsomeness of the publication, and the story it tells must be read. It contains a picture of Kendallworth Inn and has a chapter of Asheville. The beautiful publication is published in the interest of the New Florida short line comprising the Piedmont Air Line, the Richmond and Danville and Florida Central and Pensacola railroads, and is soon to be issued in revised form with several Asheville views in it.

PERHAPS DUTY ON SUGAR

LOUISIANA SENATORS LAY DOWN THE LAW.

They Will Defeat the Wilson Bill if That State is Not Especially Favored by Congress—Treasury Information.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The rumors concerning the alleged action of the Senate sub-committee on finance on the sugar schedule of the tariff bill caused some commotion about the capitol. The rumor was that sugar was to be left on the free list. Upon the authority of a member of the sub-committee, the positive statement is made that the committee has come to no conclusion regarding the sugar schedule and that there is no foundation for the statement that sugar has been or would be put on the free list. This Senator also said that until definite information was received from the Treasury Department as to the full effect of the Wilson bill, as it stands, nothing will be done.

The members of the sub-committee have been notified by both Senators White and Caffery of Louisiana, that unless sugar was taxed they would aid in defeating the whole bill. Their votes being so necessary in the small majority in the Senate, party expediency will, it is said, compel the committee to agree to a duty on sugar.

ROBERT N. GOURDIN.

One of the Oldest Citizens of Charleston, S. C.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 16.—Robert N. Gourdin died this morning. He was one of the oldest citizens in Charleston. He was educated at the South Carolina college and admitted to the bar, but never practiced. He was a member of the firm of Gourdin, Mathison & Co., for many years one of the leading business establishments in Charleston. Gourdin never filled but one office, that of alderman, in this city though frequently engaged in politics. He was a member of the ecclesiastical convention of South Carolina in 1860 and signed the ordinance of secession. He went to Washington in 1860 at the urgent solicitation of Maj. Robert Anderson, commander of Fort Sumter, whose intimate personal friend he was, to see what could be done to arrange the unhappy difference between the North and South, but failed in his mission. He was lieutenant colonel of the regiment stationed in Charleston for home defense and was always active in support of the Southern confederacy. He was a man of high character, generous, courteous and of fine literary tastes. He was president for many years of the corporation of the French Huguenot church of Charleston and was an earnest worker in all charitable enterprises.

YELLOW JACK.

It Seems To Have A Strong Hold On Rio.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—A despatch received here today from Rio states that the yellow fever continues to spread in that city. On an average 40 cases of the disease are reported daily. There is only one case of yellow fever on the United States cruiser Newark patient. He was taken to a shore hospital. The vessels of the American quarantine, except the Newark, which as before reported, has gone to Montevideo, remain off Rio Janeiro.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The navy department confirms the report of yellow fever on board our fleet at Rio, which yesterday was officially denied. Secretary Herbert makes public the following cable message: "Rio Janeiro, Feb. 14th, 1894. Secretary of Navy, Washington, D. C. One man on Newark ill with yellow fever. I have transferred him to hospital. I shall send Newark to Rio de La Plata. Benham."

A "TRUNK" PLOT.

It Exists, Probably, Nowhere Else.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The Tribune has a dispatch from Honolulu dated February 8 stating that Honolulu was thrown into intense excitement by reports of a threatening royalist attack on the executive building. The story was that the royalists had devised a plan to throw dynamite bombs into the council chamber while President Dole and assistants were holding a session. Then a strong armed force were to fall upon the building to take possession at the point of the bayonet. The moment the royalists were in possession word was to be telephoned to Wodehouse who would reorganize the new government and land British marines ostensibly to protect British interests up to three o'clock, on the 8th no attempt had been made to carry out the plot.

GEN JUBAL EARLY.

He Meets With A Serious Accident.

LANCHESTER, Va., Feb. 1.—Gen. Jubal A. Early, ranking officer of the late Confederacy, met with an accident last evening, which in all probability, the attending physicians say, will prove fatal. He was ascending the stairs of the postoffice when he fell heavily, the ice on the steps rendering them slippery. He struck on his head, and the concussion was so severe as to render him unconscious. Owing to his advanced age, the General having passed his 80th year, it is hardly possible that he will ever get up from bed again.

Fatal Railway Accident.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 16.—A fatal accident has occurred on the railway between Samara and Slatvovsk in eastern Russia. Two trains collided near Jelso, and 13 persons were killed. Several were badly injured.

Sunk In The Mersey.
