SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1894.

ALTHOUGH the spectacle of the House Democrats, with a big majority, not being able to have a quorum for the transaction of public business is harmful to the party, we can felicitate ourselves...

A Raleigh correspondent says: "Two years ago, it may be remembered, Judge Walter Clark wrote an article favoring the addition of the telegraph and telephone to the postal service."

HEWITT AND THE SOUTH. The New York Southern Society found at almost the last moment Thursday that nearly all the speakers for its annual banquet that evening had failed it.

The Sherman silver bill was, of course, a Republican measure and was produced by a Northern man. The Southern members of the House and Senate voted against its repeal simply because the platform many of them was elected upon called for further silver legislation with the repeal of the Sherman law.

"With all due deference to the opinion of Mr. Hewitt, I will venture to say that the men who stand in Congress today from the South are as true, pure, upright and sincere in their convictions as well as equipped, both morally and intellectually, as any man there from the North, East or West."

Out for Crawford. From the Brevard Hustler. Believing implicitly in Congressman Crawford's qualifications, and that he justly merits a re-nomination to succeed himself in the 5th Congress, we stand ready to support him first, last and all the time.

North Carolina Industries. Governor Carr says that 2,000 persons are now employed in the fishing business in the Newbern and Beaufort sections, from which $300,000 worth of fish and 10,000 barrels of clams were shipped last year.

Pat on Duty at Last. From the Richmond Dispatch. In Ralph and Remington's sketches of Richmond in Harper's Weekly, "The Old Stone House" here is made to do duty as "Washington's Headquarters."

Candidates. Rutherford Cor. Shelby Aarons. Richmond Pearson is spoken of as a probable candidate for Congress in the Ninth district. What has become of Frank Cox? Where is he anyhow?

AT THE GRAND.

The members of the Schubert quartette were "at home" to a fine audience of their Asheville friends at the Grand last evening, and were warmly welcomed here. It was an evening of ecstasies, and the recall at one time especially bordered dangerously upon booginess.

Monday evening Asheville people may take a trip to the World's Fair, not at Chicago, but at the Grand, where the White City will be produced in all its wondrous beauty by transcendent stereoscopic illumination.

VANCE, SIMMONS AND RAMSON.

EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—In your paper you give a long interview with Mr. Furman in which he expresses regrets at the seemingly expectation of Senator Vance in claiming his rights to senatorial patronage, but it is a lamentable fact that because Vance is capable of having views added to his judgment to suit them for a little patronage, that he has been for that reason completely snubbed by the present administration. It is an admitted fact that H. A. Guderger is the leading champion of the Democracy in the West. Four years ago he canvassed the State at great personal sacrifice. Two years ago he did likewise. I do not wish to disparage the work of any true Democrat, but I feel justified in saying that no other man in the West has ever done it better.

Now I submit that for him to go to Washington and use the influence of his office as chairman to defeat Mr. Guderger is not right. Senator Ramson opposed Mr. Guderger on "personal grounds" that is, while a member of the Legislature at two senatorial elections he was an opponent, bold and unflinching friend and supporter of the election, and did valuable service in influencing others to support him, and at the last election voted the Senator from Madison to support him, while others, now eating the bread of idleness, were writing Ebbes to defeat Ramson at all hazards. By the way, Senator Ebbes, who has done such efficient party work, has been completely ignored, but he does not live in the city: he hails from the backwoods, and under Kope no axman need apply; not a man in the office who does not live in an incorporated town. This ought to be some hint to our beloved country cousin who ought to have been recognized for party fidelity by the ex-collector who aspires to Congressional honors.

I think really an excellent hint, have made better appointments than did our distinguished collector. Three important places went to Macon. Why, and what service did they perform? I believe your paper claims to be devoted to the upbuilding of the West and for the interest of the people, and yet I look in vain to find a word in condemnation of the importation of men here to run the office. For 20 years the office was at Charlotte, Statesville and Winston, and yet not a Western boy ever darkened the office. When it comes to the West it is deemed proper and necessary to import men here to do half the work and draw half the salaries. They ought to be headed homeward, but this is treacherous ground and perhaps I best hold up a little.

Now the papers are beginning the Democrats to get together, and yet every Vance man is told to be quiet, that the mark has been placed upon him. And that great and good man, the man who rescued our State from Radical rule and ruin in 1876 and who has been the pride of our people for 10 years, is told to keep quiet and not to stir up the issue.

Vance's name will live imperishable as long as North Carolina has a history. Indeed, I think that Senator Ramson when retiring at night can feel gloriously good at the thought that he has been the man who has so devotedly stood by him in the past, when a friend in need was a friend indeed. His present exalted position was attained partially by that devoted friend of his in years gone by, and it must be a great pleasure for him now to trample on his dry bones and to say to our people: "I ought to be in your shoes."
